Forecast Light Vote In Tuesday Primary

GIRLS LITTLE AND BIG picked out their Easter finery in dress shops in the northwest area this week. Visiting a Campbell st. shop were Mrs. Robert Nicol, 407 N. Wilke rd., Arlington Heights, and daughter, Linda, 9 (center), and Janet, 11.

FOUR BEAMING YOUNGSTERS dyed their Easter eggs early this week so that their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Graczyk of Arlington Heights, would have plenty of time to find choice hiding places. The girls, from left, Christine, 8, Andrea, 6, Pamela, 3, and Karol, 12, and their parents live at 1417 W. Fremont.

Suburban Polls Open At 6 A.M.

There seems to be little interest among northwest suburban voters in Tuesday's primary election.

Races in the townships, county, and state have failed to capture the attention of the local voter. Some contests, however, have inspired the more politically-active of this area.

ONE RACE—that for the GOP nomination as third district state senatorial candidate — has been the hottest. Candidates John A. Graham of Barrington and Francis E. Kelly of Palatine have waged active campaigns.

Bitter oratory has flowed at rallies for both aspirants, and their battle should attract top attention on election day in Palatine, Schaumburg, Hanover and Barrington townships.

Another race that has provoked special interest in Democratic circles is the clash between James Stavros, 28, of Wheeling, Jack Clark, 60, of Arlington Heights, and youthful Donald Pelletier of Arlington Heights.

They seek election as the Wheeling township Democratic committeeman. Stavros, regarded as an easy winner with the apparent backing of Chicago's Mayor Daley, is the challenger. Clark is incumbent.

SCHAUMBURG township has produced two contests of interest.

One is for the township's Republican committeeman. Incumbent Louis Redeker is expected to lose to challenger Jack Reedy who is running with strong support from the Hoffman Estates subdivision.

The other contest is for Schaumburg's Democratic committeeman. Tom Beaulieu and incumbent Raymond Nebel are on the ballot. Harry McGee was tossed off because of a technicality but is waging a write-in campaign. Beaulieu seems to have the inside track.

COUNTY RACES, which usually produce fireworks in one form or another, have been subdued this time. Even the battle for GOP sheriff's nomination is mild. Contestants are Harry J. Glos and Peter J. McGuire. The winner will face Frank G. Sain, unopposed on the Democratic ticket.

Six aspirants are seeking the five Democratic nominations for county commissioner from towns outside Chicago. The contenders are Antonia Rago Herbert, Raymond G. Cox, John J. White, William M. Freeman, Mary Jane Youngholm and Harold W. Mance. There also is a contest on the Democratic side in the commissioners race inside the city where 10 are seeking the eight nominations.

THERE ARE FOUR candidates for the three county school board trustees. William H. Walker, Tyrus W. Thompson and Harry S. Powell were named by the school board association. David A. Blake Jr. is running as an Independent candidate.

In state races, Louis E. Beckman is opposing Warren E. Wright for Republican nomination for treasurer.

In the 13th Congressional district, Laurence Kusek and James J. Lentine are seeking the Democratic nomination.

For the benefit of voters, precinct maps and polling places are listed on an inside page of this edition. Operation of the voting machines also is explained. The polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Snail's Pace of Progress

Will Arlington's Downtown Ever Become Modernized?

by TOM BRENNAN

The pace of progress in Arlington Heights' program of downtown modernization is as sluggish as the flow of traffic along Campbell st. around noon Saturday.

Preliminary planning for a large-scale program aimed at bolstering the village's position as a shopping hub began several years ago. Civic officials recognized a need for widening streets, installing better lighting, providing more parking and, in general, sprucing up the overall appearance of the business district.

The program took 2 approaches. On their own, village officials worked out a street-widening and lighting program, to be completed with both public and private funds.

Secondly, the board of trustees engaged a firm of planning consultants to draft a new master plan for the village. The present plans are dated 1938. One of the principal tasks of planner Evert Kincaid is to suggest other feasible ways to deal with the downtown's problems.

WHAT HAS happened since the first public hearing on the widening proposal was held a year ago last February and the contract with the planners signed early last summer?

Is downtown improvement bogged down in a maze of red tape or is it dead altogether? Will anything be done this year to make it easier to get to the new post office? Or from the north side business district to the south side or from Arlington Market to the bank?

Neither of the two programs is dead, replied Robert B. Bishop board of local improvements chairman, and Evan E. Olmstead plan commission chairman. But delays and a snail's pace of progress are inevitable when approval must be obtained at each step along the way from so many different groups.

For instance, the public hearings on the widening and lighting projects ate up many months, winding up late in December. Since then another 3 months and more have slipped by while the village and private property owners dicker over which share each will pay toward the overall cost.

A NUMBER OF owners on the north side of the tracks are seeking to have their assessments lowered and Hugo J. Thal, attorney for the board of local improvements, is working out this problem before taking the project to a court which must give the final stamp of approval. A smaller number of south side property owners objected to the size of their assessments. They were satisfied and the south side project approved by a county judge some weeks ago.

The village has advertised for bids on the south side widening job. Opening of bids is scheduled at 8 p.m., April 17. Once the contract is awarded, work can get under way soon, presumably in May or June. As only 3 streets (Evergreen, Vail and Highland aves.) are to be widened, at a cost of about $110,000, work may be completed in the fall.

But the time required from preliminary approval in February, 1957 to ground breaking in May, 1958, ran to 15 months. That is at least 3 times as long as the work itself will take.

NORTH SIDE widening and installation of 102 new street lights are costlier projects. They may get into the construction stage this summer, depending on how many weeks are consumed in negotiation with property owners.

While the village board's years-old plan for widening is fairly well along, the complex overall planning program is only just begun.

Within a week the fact-gathering portion of Kincaid's work will be completed and a hefty background report, containing economic data and general information, turned over to the plan commission. This phase has taken about 9 months. Meanwhile, a start has been made in 2 other areas — planning remedial steps for the downtown area and in revising the subdivision ordinance.

BUSINESSMEN were asked to contribute ideas and opinions on the needs of the central business district. Their response was "disappointing," noted Olmstead, with only a handful showing interest.

Olmstead, half seriously, said Monday that "maybe a controversial plan for the downtown might stir up a little concern."

Next step in the program is the formulation of a definite plan for the central area by M. Eugene Baughman, a planner for the Kincaid firm. Olmstead's group and village trustees will then study the plan and decide what can and should be done.

As one planner quipped, "It's difficult to set a timetable on this sort of work."

The Editor's Column

by STUART R. PADDOCK

League of Women Voters is doing its best to create interest in next Tuesday's primary. With only a contest or two to aid them, the vote is almost certain to be light.

The spirited state senatorship contest in senatorial district 3, comprising Barrington, Palatine, Hanover and Schaumburg is of interest to the Republicans.

In Wheeling township the contest is in the Democratic column where two candidates for township committeeman are expected to provide the fireworks.

It will be a different story next November when the two parties will wield their strength against each other.

Congresswoman Marguerite Stitt Church will commute from Washington Saturday to aid in the dedication of the new post office buildings at Arlington Heights and Palatine.

Both communities have reason to be proud of the quarters that the post office department has provided, or should we say "been forced to provide?"

Uncle Sam is meeting the postal need of the two growing communities. Our taxing bodies are in the same position except they do not have a national treasury to foot the bill.

One thousand letters went out this week to those persons who should be interested in the continuation of the Northwest Family Service.

The letters invited the recipients to pledge one dollar a month, or a single payment of $6.00, which will enable the service to continue operations until the end of the year.

A Science Fair is booked to be held in the Prospect high school April 19.

Exhibits will come from the high schools of Chicago and the northwest suburbs. In this Sputnik age and with young America venturing into the amateur science field, the exhibits are certain to be fascinating.

The most dangerous spot in Arlington Heights is the intersection of Northwest highway and Euclid st.

Instead of waiting until funds are available for a traffic light installation, a 4-way stop should be established as a safety measure.

Motorists may not favor the additional stop, but the present speed limit is only 25 miles on the highway through Arlington Heights.

Fifty years ago all business stopped on Good Friday. Times have changed, but that day still has a real religious meaning.

An appeal has been issued in Arlington Heights for the closing of all business places between 1 and 3 o'clock.

The Missouri Synod Lutheran churches will hold a special service at the Arlington Theatre, starting at 1 o'clock.

Northwest suburbs desperately need the facilities of a YMCA.

Proposed for an $878,000 Y building between Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines is an indoor swimming pool, up-to-date gymnasium and gym facilities, youth club rooms, health and recreational facilities, and community meeting rooms.

April 17 a kickoff dinner will be held at Prospect high school where plans will be made for the campaign to raise $478,000.

The Northwest Suburban YMCA deserves the support of every citizen in its efforts to bring much-needed youth and community recreational and social facilities to this area.

Attention has been called to a Fence Post contribution in March 20th issue, signed "Shopper, Arlington Heights."

We agree with nine-tenths of the suggestions he made.

We disagree decidedly with the statement that the "old merchants are dragging their feet."

Such a statement is not true.

Scarsdale Estates Home Burglarized

Burglars looted the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Sass, 525 E. Orchard, Scarsdale Estates Thursday evening.

Thieves were in the process of ransacking 3 rooms when Mrs. Sass returned from her secretarial job at the Kloempken medical center. Upon entering her home she spotted the burglars in the back of the house and immediately called police.

WHEN COUNTY police arrived the looters had fled through a rear window. A neighbor boy told authorities that he saw two men leave the home and dash across the back lawn.

Among the missing articles were a valuable stamp collection and Mrs. Sass' jewelry. Original estimate of the value of the stamps was set at $10,000 to $11,000, but was later lowered as the extent of the loss became clearer.

Mrs. Sass valued her jewelry at approximately $2000.

POLICE FOUND few finger prints, despite thorough investigation. As of Tuesday the county major investigating unit had found no clues to the identity of the burglars.

"They knew what they wanted," Mrs. Sass said. "They took solid golf cuff links while passing up the gold-plated ones. It looks like a professional job to me."

Thieves timed their costly visit to the household while Sass, vice-president of the Southmoor bank, and his wife were both at work.

Mrs. Sass explained that few people knew about the stamp collection, her husband's hobby.

Police stated that the robbers had intended to take much more, but were scared off by Mrs. Sass' return. The three rooms were littered by the burglars' search.

Youth Wrecks Stolen Auto

A 15-year-old Chicago youth, driving an automobile he had stolen in Mt. Prospect, rolled the car over when cornered by Arlington Heights and Mt. Prospect police at State and Central rds. early Friday morning.

Robert Mobus, 409 Forest, reported his car missing from in front of the Mt. Prospect bowling lanes at 1:27 a.m. March 28. Squads in neighboring towns were notified but the car was not spotted until 5 a.m.

MEANWHILE, Mt. Prospect police located a 1955 Chevrolet belonging to Stanley Kapka, Niles, which the boy had taken about 7 p.m. Thursday. It had been left in front of Prehm's delicatessen on Main st., with an empty gas tank.

Another stolen car case is pending against the boy in Wheeling.

Traffic Safety Council Planned

At the suggestion of Police Chief L. W. Calderwood of Arlington Heights, a group of citizens has announced plans for the formation of a Wheeling Township Traffic Safety council.

Edward R. Klamm of Arlington Heights will preside at an organizing meeting to be held at the Arlington Heights village hall at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

Formation of the council and plans for the future will be discussed. Representatives from the Northwestern University Traffic Safety institute, National Safety council, insurance companies and other traffic experts will be present to assist in forming the new organization.

CHIEF CALDERWOOD said the area needs a modern, active council to help cope with the ever mounting traffic safety problem that has resulted from the huge population growth of recent years.

All service clubs, community associations and other civic groups have been invited to send representatives to the meeting, which is open to all interested citizens.

Checks, Tray Are Stolen from VFW

Checks totaling about $350 and a silver tray were stolen from a ladies night dance at the VFW hall in Arlington Heights.

All the items were to be awarded to guests at the dance, sponsored by the Northwest Towns Sportsmen's club. Payment was stopped on most of the checks but president James R. Legge, 751 S. Burton, had not learned Tuesday if an attempt had been made to cash any of the checks.

Burglars forced open a window at St. Peter Lutheran school early Monday, broke open a strong box and stole $165 in cash.

Cement Plant Trial May 5

(CNS)—A lawsuit filed against Arlington Heights in 1956 by Consumers company is ready to go to trial in Circuit court.

The trial has been scheduled tentatively to open May 5 by Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

The company is fighting to keep a batching and ready-mix plant in operation along the railroad tracks in Arlington Heights. The suit was filed by Union Chemical and Material corp., owner of Consumers, after the village ordered the $200,000 plant removed as a zoning violation in a commercial district.

THE VILLAGE says a ready-mix plant belongs in an industrial district. The company contends its operation is a legal non-conforming use by virtue of its purchase in 1953 of the batching operation portion of the Arlington Elevator & Coal co. business.

Judge Harrington has ordered the Consumer co. to produce the sale document for inspection by Stephen Jurco, village attorney, before the trial starts.

The company wants the court to order the village to issue the firm a license if the municipal code requiring a license for batching is legal.

Consumers leases the 730 foot long strip from Arlington Elevator and Coal co., which leases it from the Chicago and North Western railway. The village alleges Consumers is manufacturing and selling concrete mix on the site, in violation of the ordinance.

'Strap Hangers' Like Arlington

Commuters — Have you wondered why it's hard to find a place to park all day in Arlington Heights?

Wonder no more. The busy researchers at the Chicago and North Western railway have come up with the answer.

MORE STRAP-hangers climb aboard at Arlington Heights than at any other station on the North Western's Wisconsin division. Numbers of commuters at major stops: Arlington Heights, 2,603; Mount Prospect, 2,233; Barrington, 2,113; Park Ridge, 1,942; Des Plaines, 1,817; Palatine, 1,361 and Cumberland, 464.

The railway is citing all these facts as part of its attempt to get a 24 per cent fare increase proposal through the Illinois Commerce commission. Only northwest suburban towns protesting it are Mount Prospect, Des Plaines, Skokie and Lincolnwood.

Representative Marguerite Stitt Church and postal officials will participate in the dedication of the new Arlington Heights post office Saturday.

Postmaster Virginia F. Dodge said the ceremony will start at 2 p.m. The building is located at 201 W. Wing st.

Car Wash Saturday

In case you haven't gotten around to scrubbing winter's accumulated grime from your auto, the Arlington Heights Jaycees will willingly do it for you.

The junior chamber of commerce will stage a car-wash Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the parking lot of the Illinois Bell building at Sigwalt and Highland sts.

EVEN WHITE sidewalls will be sudsed for the $1 charge, promises Dick Riley, chairman of a committee of expert spongers.

Funds raised from the project will go to buy prizes for winners in the Jaycees' Road-e-o, an annual driving competition for teen-agers. The event will be held Sunday, April 27. (A

Joyous Family Celebrations Follow Confirmation Rites

For many Arlington Heights young people Palm Sunday was their day of confirmation and meant for them a combination of solemn religious services followed by joyous family celebrations in their honor.

Among the gatherings occasioned by this event was one at the Ralph Sass home, 727 N. Dunton, to honor confirmand Donald. Following the confirmation rites in St. Peter Lutheran church, dinner was served in the church activity room for the immediate family. Donald's grandfathers, Herman Piepenbrink, 722 N. Evergreen, and A. K. Sass of Chicago, and his sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. George Kacer of Crystal Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grandt of Mt. Prospect and Mrs. Edwin Niemeyer, 635 N. Dunton.

Other relatives joined the family at the Sass home for the afternoon and evening when a buffet supper for 50 was served to conclude Donald's big day.

ROLAND AND VIRGINIA Soorus, also among those confirmed in St. Peter church, shared the family's congratulations at a dinner for 23 in the church and later in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Soorus, 211 W. Miner. Among the guests were Roland's sponsors, Mr. Conrad Gruber and Mrs. Emily Eller, and Virginia's, Mr. and Mrs. Ruby Gruber, all of Chicago.

Another St. Peter Lutheran confirmand, Gerald Inselberger, was honored at a dinner in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Inselberger Jr., 640 N. Salem. Guests were Gerald's sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Urban of Chicago, his grandmothers, Mrs. Vera Inselberger of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Catherine Trachsel of Lockport. They were joined later by other relatives who wished to add their blessings to the day which concluded in the evening after the serving of a buffet supper for 28.

SATURDAY GUESTS at the Albert William home, 750 N. Pine, were the Oscar Langners and Carl Jungs here from Sheboygan, Wis. to attend the confirmation of Cheryl Lee Sunday morning. The family honored Cheryl at a festive confirmation dinner Saturday night in the William home and attended church services together Sunday. Cheryl's aunt, Mrs. Langner, served as her sponsor. The Williamses and their guests were then among the families enjoying dinner in the church activity hall following the confirmation rites.

Miss Susan Yates was among the confirmands of. Faith Lutheran church Sunday and received the congratulations and blessings of family members at a dinner for 21 in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Yates, 903 N. Vail st. following the services.

Susan's sponsors were her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Zachariasen of Elm Grove, Wis., who were here the Sunday previous to attend the church services at which the young people were presented to the congregation and examined.

COLLEGE STUDENTS continue to arrive from the colleges of their choice for the Easter vacation which varies from 2 weeks to only a few days. Local students at the University of Illinois have only a long weekend and the contingent from Champaign is expected today and tomorrow.

Maureen Shumaker, whose sister Bernadine, began her vacation at home last week, arrived yesterday from Clarke colege in Dubuque. Coming from Iowa with her to spend the week was Miss Bernadine Fleury to make a happy trio of coeds at 113 N. Pine. Miss Fleury, a sophomore at Clarke college and whose home is in Massachusetts, is an Arlington Heights high school graduate and is looking forward to reunions with old friends during her week here.

MISS SHEILE KUTCHERA arrived Saturday from Boulder, Col., where she attends the University of Colorado, and will be home until Easter with her parents, the Harold Kutcheras, 802 S. Vail.

Miss Judy Clabaugh is home at 510 S. Beverly for a week's vacation from Indiana university in Bloomington.

MRS. ALBERT C. PETERS, 403 N. Belmont, returned Thursday from Lakeland, Fla. where she enjoyed a week visiting her son, Robert, a student at Florida Southern university, who will not be home for spring vacation. During her stay in Florida, Mrs. Peters was guest of Mrs. Amy Brown, formerly of Arlington Heights, and enjoyed an afternoon visiting with another former local resident, Mrs. Gilbert Bascomb.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Weigman returned last week to their Arlington Heights home at 101 S. Fernandez, after making arrangements for a new home in Tucson, where they have spent the past month. No definite date has yet been made for the Weigmans westward move.

MR. AND MRS. PAUL Williams, 837 S. Chestnut, are looking forward to the visit next week of Mrs. Fayette Briggs, a former Arlington Heights resident for many years, now of Sonoma, Cal. Mrs. Briggs, who has been visiting in Washington, D.C. with her son, Ralph, and family, will be a guest here at the Williams home from April 9 to April 12, and hopes to meet as many old friends as possible during her stay. Before returning to Sonoma, Mrs. Briggs plans a visit at the Downers Grove home of her son, Robert, and family.

Michele Oetzell was three years old Saturday and with the family, the Walter Oetzells, 901 S. Dunton, celebrated the day at the home of her grandmother, the senior Mrs. Oetzell in Villa Park.

FRANK HALAMA celebrated his March 25 birthday with a family party for 21 at the Halama home, 825 S. Highland.

David Wayne Umbaugh, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Umbaugh, 901 N. Hickory, was baptized by Rev. John P. Petersen in the 11 o'clock service on Palm Sunday in Our Saviour United Lutheran church.

Miss Marilyn Warga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Warga, 636 Chicago ave., was among 11 MacMurray college students who presented a style show March 29 during a tea for 150 prospective MacMurray students. The tea was held in the Evanston home of Mrs. T. A. Chapin Jr., one of the college's Evanston alumnae.

Mrs. John Newhard, 418 S. Banbury, and Mrs. Russel Colvin, 606 S. Bristol, gave a farewell surprise luncheon for Mrs. A. L. Abrahamson, 604 E. Rockwell, at Mrs. Colvin's home. Mrs. Abrahamson was presented with a gift from those atending.

JULIA ROBINSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Robinson, 711 E. Fairview, entertained 6 girls at a slumber party Monday to help celebrate her 13th birthday. The girls arrived for dinner in the evening and stayed for breakfast the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. John Biehn, Columbus, Ohio, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Ball, 454 Banbury.

Mrs. Robert Barbour, 715 Bristol, is enjoying the company of her mother, Mrs. N. Weinsz of Springfield, Ohio, and of her daughter, Sandra, a sophomore at Ohio Wesleyan university, who is at home on spring vacation.

MR. AND MRS. E. M. ELLIS, 612 S. Burton, and their son, Robert, returned last Thursday from Denver, where they made the acquaintance of their new granddaughter, Cara Ellen Smedley, born March 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Smedley of Denver. Robert Ellis then left to resume classes at Yale university Monday.

Guy C. McMillan III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy C. McMillan II, 346 S. Burton, had an at home birthday party in honor of his seventh birthday Saturday. Guests included 15 boys and girls who were invited to share in the games, movies, and traditional birthday cake.

MR. AND MRS. F. W. SIEGEL, 316 E. Park, welcomed home last week their two children, Janet and Robert, both attending Denison university, Granville, Ohio. Janet, a senior, entertained as house guest, a college classmate, Gail Sinclair of Cleveland. Both girls attended the wedding last weekend of a third classmate, Audrey Muskat, Glenview.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brown Hardison, 347 S. Burton, returned recently from a three-week vacation to Cuba and the Florida coast. Leaving the Chicago area in their private plane, the Hardisons stopped in Tallahassee, Fla., to visit Mr. Hardison's brother and then proceeded to Miami where they boarded a commercial flight for Santiago, Cuba.

CAYO SMITH, an island in Santiago Bay, was the tropical setting for a two-week junket into Latin living which the Hardisons shared with four friends from Des Plaines and Mt. Prospect. Boating, fishing and swimming filled the day. After returning to the states, the Hardisons spent three days in Key West before flying home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hickox, 314 S. Windsor, welcomed a new member into the family last Wednesday when David John Hickox, weighing 3 pounds and 14 ounces, was born at Evanston hospital.

Gathering at the home of Mrs. R. A. Van Brunt, 215 S. Stratford, 17 Stonegate ladies showered a surprised mother-to-be with baby gifts last Thursday. Guest of honor at the luncheon was Mrs. H. John Langhout, 103 S. Derbyshire. Co-hostess was Mrs. John F. Schroeder, 200 S. Derbyshire.

AN APRIL FOOL'S day party surprised Andrew J. McMillan on the occasion of his birthday Tuesday night. A group of friends and neighbors dropped in at the McMillan's home, 415 E. Grove, with "silly" presents to accompany their best wishes.

Mrs. Jack P. Polenz, 209 S. Windsor, served a luncheon for friends from Riverside Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Polenz and their three children, Candy, nine, Peter, five, and Susan, one, moved into their Windsor drive home early in the year.

Moving into 305 S. Windsor Monday were Mr. and Mrs. H. Styrons. Formerly of Wilmington, Del., the Styrons have one son, "Sty," 10. (A

Labor Shortage Hinders Elm Tree Disease Program

A shortage of labor in the Arlington Heights public works department is hindering the Village's Dutch elm disease prevention program, the department head said this week.

William W. Luehring, public works department head, said he doesn't have enough men available at present to begin a spring spraying program.

Plenty of chemicals are on hand but his few men are too busy on more urgent tasks such as emergency street repairs, he said.

HE HOPES to obtain more men at the start of the next fiscal year, May 1.

A tree trimming and sanitation program was stopped in January after expenses topped a $10,000 appropriation by over $9,000, according to the village manager's office.

Trimming will be resumed when the new fiscal year begins, he feels.

The work was done on a contract basis by Nels Johnson of Evanston.

Trimming and sprayinb both are necessary to prevent the spread of the elm-killinb blight by the European bark beetle, according to nurserymen.

IT WAS first discovered here in summer, 1956. There were about 5 cases that summer and last summer.

Several neighborhoods and many individuals are hiring nurserymen to spray trees in private yards. (AF

Q. Is it proper for a salesman to say "good-by" to the reception girl when leaving a business office?

A. This is not only courteous, but also tactful. A little thing like this is often remembered the next time the salesman pays a call.

Q. If a young man is taking a girl to dinner, should he ask her where she would like to eat?

A. This is not necessary. It is the man's privilege to decide beforehand where they are going.

30 Join Our Saviour Church

Thirty persons were received into membership of Our Saviour United Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, in the 11 a.m. service Palm Sunday morning. Present membership of the congregation now numbers 493, including 275 confirmed members and 218 children.

Members of the church council will meet Tuesday, April 8, at 8 p.m. in the home of Keith Posselt, 302 Maple st., Arlington Heights. Rev. John P. Petersen is pastor of the church, which meets in Dryden school, Arlington Heights. (A

Government, Schooling Costs Continue Upward

The cost of governing and educating Arlington Heights is rising.

Arlington Heights taxpayers will pay out nearly $725,000 more in real estate and personal property taxes this year than they did in 1957.

THE TOTAL TAX BILL for villagers soared from roughly $2.5 million to $3.2 million in a single year.

The tax take is figured by multiplying the assessed valuation of real estate and personal property by the tax rates. In both of these categories, the revisions were upward this year.

Here are the comparable figures:

	1956	1957
Valuation	$55,182,426	$62,861,433
Basix tax rate	$4.57	$5.136

Not all residents will be taxed at the basic rate of $5.13 per $100 of valuation. Some, living in a school district other than district 25 or in Elk Grove instead of Wheeling township, will pay at a higher or lower rate. The $3.2 million figure is arrived at by using an averate rate of $5.10 per $100 valuation.

ALTHOUGH NOT ALL of the money will be collected, here is where the bulk of it (in round numbers) will go:

Arlington Heights school district 25	$1,200,000
Arlington high school district 214	950,000
Village of Arlington Heights	396,000
Chicago Sanitary district	201,000
Cook county	166,000
Arlington Heights park district	155,800

Lesser sums will be divided among the Cook county forest preserve district, Wheeling township, Northwest mosquito abatement district, suburban tuberculosis sanitarium and Wilson and Prospect Heights school districts.

VILLAGE MANAGER F. R. Buechner furnished a breakdown of the 1957 tax valuation structure. Railroad property is valued at $399,204, personal property at $7,256,648 and real estate at $55,205,581.

Thus the Chicago and North Western railway will drop about $20,480 into the coffers of local and county governments. (AF

New Science Class For Junior Highs

If a new Arlington Heights junior high school plan meets approval, Johnny's going to spend more time in the science laboratory.

And, it didn't take Sputniks and Explorers to put him there.

LONG BEFORE space developments forced a change in educators' thinking, Arlington Heights was accelerating its basic science program.

In 1959, grades six, seven and eight were issued books designed for seventh, eighth and ninth graders. The plan worked. Students were better prepared for high school study, where general science was eliminated and the freshmen started directly into biology classes.

This nine years of instruction has prepared groups of students ready to tackle a broadened science program, Supt. C. E. Clabaugh pointed out.

UNDER THE new plan, which is expected to get board of education approval, science will be taught as a "solid" subject in junior high. It will rank with mathematics, language arts and social studies.

Science previously was taught in a 13-week session, sharing its yearly time allotment with home economics or industrial arts, and art. Now there will be 156 periods devoted to science instead of 65.

Now, with extra time for science instruction, students will do more laboratory work.

Education analysts are agreed that lab work arouses interest in students not moved by textbooks.

More science teachers also will be needed. The staff of 3 would be increased to 6. There are 3 laboratories available for experimentation and demonstration work by the students.

TO MAKE ROOM on the school curriculum for the added emphasis on science, one study period a week will be eliminated, the activity program will lose a period and health will be taught as a part of science.

An advanced course, offered as an elective, will be discontinued.

Supt. Clabaugh commented that success in the junior high science program now could be followed with changes in the high school program.

"Science teaching has been in an area in which there was a problem of time," he said. "But, because of worldwide emphasis on the need for better American scientists, time must be devoted to the subject." (AF

FEEHANVILLE SCHOOL east of Mount Prospect now has a playground due to efforts of James Stavros, candidate for Wheeling township Democratic committeeman. His organization put in the playground at no charge.

A new 80 by 50 foot playground was dedicated at the Feehanville School on Foundry road Sunday.

The playground was secured by James Stavros, candidate for Wheeling Township Democratic Committeeman in the coming April 8 election. Among those present at the dedication in addition to Stavros were school board members and grateful parents.

Construction was supervised by M. W. Kesler, local trucker and excavator, whom Stavros had interested in the project. Together Kesler and Stavros provided the necessary materials, heavy equipment and labor.

"IT'S A GODSEND," exclaimed John Nowicki, school board president. "We've needed this playground for three years, but we couldn't afford it. I just can't believe that we actually have it."

About 80 truckloads of earth were moved by Kesler's bulldozer and dump trucks in constructing not only a gravel playground, but also a gravel drive to the playground and service entrance of the school. The playground will also serve as a parking lot during school and community functions at the Feehanville school.

Additional work included grading an entire side of the school site to prevent basement flooding. "You should have seen it here last July," recalled Mrs. Arthur Hanson, school board secretary. "That was the worst flood we've had. We lost a lot of food, our freezer was ruined, and mud was everywhere! To think that all that's over now!"

"WHEN WE HEARD that we were to be given a playground," declared Mrs. Jan Uberig, school board member, "we didn't dream that Mr. Stavros could get us one so large, let alone a driveway and all that extra grading."

"That's what we're here for, to help--especially children," explained candidate Stavros, who, observers pointed out, has undertaken similar projects throughout Wheeling township.

Kesler asserted that his desires were "like Jimmy (Stavros), to help schools and churches." He added that he wished to support the Stavros campaign. "What we need for our township is vigorous leadership. This is a small sample."

Others at the dedication on Sunday included Carl Bischof, school board member, Casimer Kozowicz, precinct captain for Stavros, and the following appreciative Feehanvillers: Mrs. Rita Badalamenti, Mrs. Florence Villadon, Edwin Rosemann, Otto Uberig and daughter Pam, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reinfranck and son Stephen. New Precinct Boundaries For High School Election

New precinct boundaries have been established for the voters of Arlington township high school district 214 for the election of school board members on Saturday, April 12, from noon to 7 p.m.

There will be 14 polling places in use, with the precinct boundaries and polling places established to coincide with the precincts of the elementary school district.

The new boundaries were established in order that voters may vote for high school board members and grade school board members in the same location.

THIS WILL BE true for all grade school districts with the exception of Forest View school district 56, which for the most part will vote for high school board members at the Elk Grove Rupley school, and that part of Feehanville school district 26 in the high school district, which will vote for high school board members at the Central school in Mt. Prospect.

The Arlington Heights grade school district has been divided into 6 precincts for this election, and the boundaries of the high school precincts will be the same as for the grade schools.

Wilson School district has 2 voting precincts, which will also be used for the high school board member election.

There are 2 voting precincts in the Elk Grove district, one voting precinct at the Rupley school and one at the Higgins school, and one voting precinct in Wheeling, one in Prospect Heights, one in Mt. Prospect, and one in Rolling Meadows. (B8

Easter Sermons To Be Last For Rev. Will at Free Church

Pastor Charles G. Will of the Arlington Heights Evangelical Free church, will deliver his last two sermons as pastor of the church on Easter Sunday before leaving for the Trinity Evangelical Free Church of Ludington, Mich.

Pastor since January 4, 1954, Rev. Will has seen the Arlington Heights church grow from very modest beginnings, less than 50 members, to its present size with its own property and buildings.

His message Easter Sunday morning is entitled, "What Does the Resurrection Mean to You?" and at the evening service he wil address himself to the question "What Does the Future Hold?" He will also bring a vocal solo and wil ljoin with John Sherman in a duet. (AMP

Carroll Seeks Second Term As 6th District Legislator

State Rep. John W. (Bill) Carroll, a candidate for reelection in the 6th state representative district, urges a heavy Republican vote in Tuesday's primary. Carroll has been advising groups of Repulican voters and party workers:

"The primary is a vital part of the American governmental system. It is the means whereby any citizen can make himself available for a career of public service. So long as this situation exists, no small handful of men can dictate who shall occupy public office and thus evil men will be balked in their scheming to control government.

"However, if the public shirks its precious privilege of voting, there are those who would take the primary right away from them. Free choice as to whom shall be public servants is the very bedrock of our liberties. When it comes to protecting our liberties, there are no 'little' losses.

"We must get out a big vote to confound those who say 'the people do not care'."

CARROLL IS SEEKING reelection on his record. In his freshman term as a legislator, he served on the committees of Revenue; Industry and Labor; Motor Vehicle and Traffic Regulations. He currently also is secretary of the Advisory Committee on the Public Assistance Code — the group working to ameliorate the rising cost of public assistance.

However, Carroll, publisher of the Pickwick Newspapers, was no tyro during his first term. He had been administrative assistant to Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman during the two preceding terms of the Legislature, acting as legislative liaison and thus was experienced in the procedures of legislative action.

Nor was this his first experience in public service. Earlier he had served four years as an alderman of Park Ridge, taking an active role in the policy-making which makes Park Ridge a desirable home community.

THERE IS AN old saying to the effect that, if you want something done, ask a busy man to do it. Among the other activities which "Bill" Carroll has found time to help are:

Park Ridge Kiwanis (past president); Park Ridge Chamber of Commerce (past president); Des Plaines Elks Club; Loyal Order of Moose; Illinois Press Assn. (past president); Suburban Publishers Assn. (past president); Chicago Press Club (charter member); Republican Organization; Cook County suburban chairman, March of Dimes, 1956-7-8 (also Park Ridge chairman during the nine preceding years); publicity chairman, Resurrection Hospital completion fund; member, Park Ridge VFW club.

An enthusiastic fisherman Bill's delight with the blue waters is shared by his wife, Carole, and their children, Patricia and Mike.

They are members of St. Paul of the Cross Catholic church in Park Ridge.

BILL ACQUIRED his education at the Atheneo de Manila (Jesuit) College and the University of California.

He continues to take an active interest in educational matters as a legislator, and was instrumental in getting passage of the $10,000,000 revolving fund to assist hard-pressed school districts. He declares the sum is far too low—that providing a sound education is primary for all American children.

During his first term, "Bill" initiated a series of meetings with citizen groups, local officials, businessmen and others in the district to discuss needs and means for meeting them. These have continued since the session adjourned, to provide factual basis for action in the next session. (B8

ANTENNAS WILL STAY

A lot of people have asked us at LANDWEHR TV if outdoor antennas will always be necessary for TV.

Although TV technology is advancing at a gallop, it is not likely that we'll be without antennas. Even now, within 'TV station cities' outside antennas produce much better pictures than any indoor type. However, antennas have improved greatly and if your antenna equipment is more than two years old, a replacement would improve your reception. We have even improved reception by cleaning and replacing parts of older antennas.

The antenna is literally the eyes and ears of your TV set. It reaches out from your roof tops and brings you the all-important signal necessary for good programing. If you're not 100% satisfied with the clarity of your screen phone CL 5-0700 and let us check your antenna equipment.

Fall Variety Show Planned

Music-on-Stage members voted to hold a fall variety show as a second production of the year at their monthly meeting held March 26 at the home of the Alfred Lolls.

This probably will be presented for 1 performance only, differing in that way from the operetta presentations which have a 3-performance run.

AT THE SAME meeting, preferences of the members for the next operetta to be sung and acted by the group were narrowed to 3. Final choice will be made when certain considerations of casting, staging and royalty payments are analyzed more completely. The operetta will be played early next year.

Group is seeking a regular accompanist who would enjoy becoming a part of such an organization and has the time to devote to it. Anyone interested may call the secretary, Mrs. Alfred Loll, CL 3-1195. (B8

Daley Coos to Suburbia: Don't Worry About City

(CNS) — Suburbia has a promise from Mayor Daley that Chicago will never do anything to hurt the country towns.

Chicago's mayor publicly gave his personal word on this in melting away opposition as the city council by unanimous vote annexed about 900 acres of forest preserve land to strengthen the city's legal hold on O'Hare Field. The annexed tract, 2 miles from the big airport, is bounded roughly by Higgins rd., the Des Plaines river, East River rd., and Belmont ave.

SCHILLER PARK wants part of this land to establish a "clear-cut" boundary between Chicago and also to aid in policing River road, in the village along some stretches and outside in others. That's how its village attorney, Milton K. Joseph, put it Wednesday in a 20-minute plea on the council floor for Chicago to delay action on the annexation move.

But Joseph dropped his opposition when Daley, summarizing the city's position, said: "We must trust each other."

Daley assured Joseph that Schiller Park could come in between now and April 9, when the annexation is final, and work out with Chicago officials what land the village needs.

DALEY MADE the offer when Joseph relented in his pursuit for delay by saying: "If I can have the assurance of this body that a change can be made and the council will reconsider, then I'll take your word and that of the council."

"You have it," Daley said. "We're not interested in doing anything that will harm Schiller Park or any other village. We're not going to do anything that will hurt you."

John J. Hoellen, a north side alderman and administration foe, sounded off: "We're having civil wars all over the world. I hope we don't have one here."

ALLEN A. FREEMAN, another north side Republican alderman, said: "Just because we're Chicago and big and strong doesn't mean we should push the little guy around."

But Joseph said: "I'll take Mayor Daley's word. I don't think any village could stop Chicago and we don't intend to stop it. I think it's a matter of trying to work together. I think all this should result in better cooperation."

Joseph had opened his plea by saying Chicago was annexing more than it needed to protect the city's annexation of O'Hare and other parcels of land.

He said Schiller Park has voted to ask the forest preserve board to allow the village to annex the recreational lands in the area bounded generally by the Des Plaines river, Foster, Montrose, and Des Plaines River rd. Chicago's annexation was authorized by the forest preserve board.

CORPORATION Counsel John Melaniphy urged immediate passage of the ordinance, saying it will buttress the city's claim on O'Hare.

"Delay would be a mistake if we do have an attack on our annexation of O'Hare," Melaniphy said. "Soon as we announce we are going to annex something, the villages start grabbing, too."

Spring Training Announced

Northwest Cook county Girl Scout office has announced the training schedule available this spring. Registration for all courses should be made through neighborhood chairmen.

The initial group leadership course for districts 4 and 5 will be held April 14, 16, 18, 21 and 23 in Palatine Legion hall. Basic outdoor course will be April 22, 24 and 29 at Camp Pine. Troop camp licensing will be given in 2 courses, April 22, 24 and 29 and May 8, 13 and 15 at Camp Pine. The second course was set up to meet requests of leaders taking the basic outdoor course in April and who also want to take the licensing course. All courses meet from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

The course in primitive camping will be given May 22, 23 and 24, details to be announced later.

Arlington Heights

Troop 243 consisting of 25 sixth grade girl scouts has been busy making decorated Easter egg-tray favors to be used on Easter morning breakfast trays at the Lutheran Home for the Aged in Arlington Heights. Three scouts will deliver the favors to the home Saturday morning, April 5.

FOURTEEN fourth grade girls of troop 375, who regularly hold their scout meetings at the Prospect Heights Community church, decided as a service project commemorating Girl Scout week, to clean and polish the church. They donned aprons and swept the floors, dusted the pews and altar, washed windows and washed and polished the kindergarten tables. They finished the project with pride in their hearts for a job well done.

South Arlington

Five new second grade brownie scout troops will be formed next year as a result of a meeting held last Wednesday and Thursday by prospective members and their mothers and Mrs. Ray MacDonald, south Arlington chairman, and Mrs. William Patterson, co-chairman.

Three troops will meet at the Dryden school and one each at Park and Westgate. Leaders who have volunteered their services to date are: Mrs. Donald Martinson, Westgate; Mrs. Martin Voise, Park; Mrs. C. House, Mrs. A. Kwiecinski, Mrs. Richard Roach, Mrs. G. Pauly and Mrs. L. Baness, all for Dryden troops.

Northwest Arlington

Girls of troop 315, sixth grade scouts, spent Monday evening, March 24, visiting the Lutheran Home for the Aged. Under the leadership of Mrs. Lois Klehm and her co-leader, Mrs. Fran Gieske, the girls prepared candy and tray favors for the home.

To top the evening's program each girl designed or assembled a costume and presented a 'mock fashion show.' The costumes represented foreign countries as well as old fashioned clothes. Each girl explained the origin of her costume. Eighteen girls participated and enjoyed their service project.

Rolling Meadows

Monday, March 24, second grade brownie scouts of troop 18 held their investiture. Those invested were Barbara Bochte, Barbara Breheim, Liana Cope, Pamela Fredericksen, Nancy Glaser, Maureen Keough, Susan Klemp, Judith Lawson, Diane McQueeny, Pamela Parotta, Debbie Peterson, Faye Piskule, Susan Rudolph, Karen Skaggs, Sharon Waddell and Jackie Weir. The troop, which is under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Broege and Mrs. Arthur Mueller, honored the committee members as their guests.

Prospect Meadows

Thirty members of scout troop 136 and brownie troop 423 chartered a bus last Saturday and visited China town in Chicago. The group went to city hall and visited St. Theresa, a Chinese mission. The trip was climaxed with lunch at Guey Sams. (B8

Red Cross Announces New Water Safety Instruction

Henry Cooper, manager of the Playdium Pool, 1766 Glenview rd., Glenview, announces the opening of a new American Red Cross water safety instructor's course on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, starting April 12.

This course will run for 10 weeks, closing on June 14. Anyone who enrolls in the course must be 18 years of age and have completed the ARC Senior life saving course.

ON THE SAME day, Cooper said, the following other courses will start: senior life saving for anyone 16 years and over, Junior life saving for anyone between the ages of 12 and 15, and beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming classes for children between the ages of 6 and 15. These classes also meet between 9 a.m. and 12 noon and will also run for 10 weeks, closing June 14.

Joseph Mori, volunteer American Red Cross water safety instructor from Morton Grove, will teach the life saving classes, and Mrs. Ann Jo Kleeburg, volunteer water safety instructor also from Morton Grove, will be in charge of the swimming classes assisted by volunteer instructors and aides.

Registration for the swimming and junior life saving classes will open on Tuesday, April 1, and continue until the classes are full. Registration for the water safety instructor's and senior life saving classes will be at the pool on the opening day, April 12.

COOPER ALSO announces that the next series of American Red Cross lessons for Girl Scouts and Brownies on Monday nights, from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m., will start on May 5. This series will run for only 5 weeks, closing June 2, and will not reopen again until fall. Registration for this series will open Tuesday, April 22, and continue until the classes are full.

The courses offered on Monday night will be beginning, intermediate and advanced swimming as well as swimming and life saving merit badge. Miss Johanna Hageman, American Red Cross water safety instructor from Chicago, and Frank Siler, American Red Cross water safety instructor from Glenview, are in charge of the program. They are assisted by volunteer instructors and aides.

There is no charge for the instruction but there is a pool fee which goes to the Playdium for the use of the pool. Each swimmer brings his own suit, cap and towel.

Inquiries about the programs can be made by calling the Playdium, GLenview 4-6767.

YMCA Appeal Leaders Plan Town Meetings

Leadership has been secured in 7 local areas to raise the balance of funds needed to construct an $878,000 YMCA unit to serve the northwest suburbs, according to John R. Hickman, general chairman of the Northwest Suburban YMCA building campaign.

The drive for funds will have its kickoff April 17 in Prospect high school with more than 1200 workers participating.

Town meetings are being held between April 6 and April 13 in all 7 areas to give workers the basic information on the program and facilities which a YMCA building will offer to the northwest suburban area.

THE MOST POPULAR feature in the new building will be a beautiful 75'x25' swimming pool which will have an additional "L" shape area 40 feet in length specifically for beginners. A sliding glass wall will give an outside effect to the pool during the warmer weather. The pool as well as the entire YMCA program will serve the entire family.

In each of the seven areas — Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Inverness, Mt. Prospect, Palatine, Prospect Heights and Rolling Meadows, campaign chairmen have been named as well as division chairmen, leaders and workers. Residents have been very cooperative in volunteering for this worthy project since the benefits will remain entirely in this area and the YMCA program is available to alll ages.

Walter W. Reider, David G. Whittier, Kenneth Hood, William Hackendorf, Bernard Yunker, Mrs. Pat Corts, John Coolidge, Robert Metz, Adolph Weinrich, Wilbur Nelson and Bernard Clark, division chairmen.

Mt. Prospect — Stan Amren, town chairman; James R. Brooks, publicity chairman; Frank McCabe, Bill Hunter, Al Lankus, Richard Robertson, J. R. Steegstra, Charles Kimball, John Gobeille, and Lowell Ackman, division chairmen.

Prospect Heights—Tom Gainey, town chairman; Myron Heimerle, publicity chairman; Richard Heineman, William Lloyd, and Ralph H. Decker Jr., division chairmen.

Town chairmen for Rolling Meadows and Palatine are Robert T. Higgins and Charles O'Hara, respectively. Division chairmen for those two towns have not been announced yet.

Christianity's Greatest Hours

Arlington Churches Plan Services for Holy Week

Christianity's most solemn and most joyful hours will be observed in Holy week and Easter services scheduled in Arlington Heights churches.

Throngs of worshippers will attend services in Protestant and Catholic churches today, Maundy or Holy Thursday, through Easter Sunday.

CATHOLIC AND MOST Protestant congregations will hold their first services of the 4-day period this evening, marking the Last Supper of Christ and the 12 Apostles.

Communion services will be held tonight at Faith Lutheran, St. Peter Lutheran, First Presbyterian, St. John United Church of Christ, First Methodist, Evangelical Free and Our Saviour Lutheran churches. St. James and Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic churches began today with a morning low mass and will have early evening low masses, followed by solemn high masses tonight. Exact hours of all services are carried on a page of schedules elsewhere in this issue.

For the first time in a number of years, business houses will close their doors from 1 to 3 p.m. Good Friday, as will nonessential village offices.

AMONG 2 OF THE largest Good Friday services are those to be held at the Arlington theater, sponsored by 6 northwest area Lutheran churches—Missouri synod churches, and at St. John United church, jointly sponsored by the Evangelical United Brethren, Christian (Disciples of Christ), First Presbyterian, Rolling Meadows and St. John United churches.

The Lutheran "Tre Ore" service will last from 1 to 3 p.m. and worshippers are invited to attend any or all of seven 15-minute devotions centered around the "Seven Last Words" of Christ on the cross.

Emphasis will be on the "meaning of the message of the Crucifixion in the Christian Belief" noted the Rev. Luther V. Stephan, one of the participating pastors.

PREACHING will be Rev. Stephan, St. Peter Lutheran; Rev. Channing Miller, Trinity Lutheran, Rolling Meadows; Rev. Waldemar Streufert, St. John Lutheran, Elk Grove; Rev. G. Kenneth Kausch, St. Peter Lutheran; Rev. Paul F. Goetting, Our Saviour Lutheran, Prospect Heights; Rev. Edgar H. Behrens, Faith Lutheran, and Rev. Erhard A. Zeile, St. Paul Lutheran.

Speaking at the service in St. John United church sponsored by 5 co-operating Protestant denominations will be Dr. Orvis F. Jordan, retired pastor of the Park Ridge community church. He and his wife recently returned from the Holy Land. His sermon at the 1 p.m. service will include a vivid description of the importance and setting of the events transpired on the first Good Friday.

CATHOLIC SERVICES will begin at 2:30 at St. James and there will be a mass of the presanctified at 8 p.m. while at Our Lady of the Wayside there will be a 3 p.m. service and again at 8 p.m. Faith and St. Peter Lutheran, First Baptist, St. John United, First Presbyterian and First Methodist will also worship Friday evening.

Speaking on "The Seven Last Words from the Cross" at the 8 p.m. service Good Friday at the First Methodist church will be Dr. Edward P. Blair.

He is an author of Biblical studies, professor of New Testament at Garrett Biblical institute in Evanston and has participated in archeological expeditions to the Holy Land.

Holy Saturday services are at St. James Catholic at 8 p.m. and at 9 p.m. at Our Lady of the Wayside.

Easter Sunday, the high point of the Christian year, will find most churchgoers rising earlier than usual to attend crowded churches. Sunrise services will be set somewhat later than the actual 5:26 a.m. rising of the sun. Most are set for 6 to 6:30 a.m., followed by regular worship at later hours.

Among the churches inviting their members to a special Easter breakfast after an early service are St. Peter and Faith Lutheran, First Baptist and St. John United.

CHORUSES WILL sing "Alleluias" many times over to carry the message of the Resurrection, with most choir directors planning special Easter music. Typical of the musical offerings will be the program at Faith Lutheran, where George A. Schrader, minister of music, will direct junior and senior groups singing Handel's "The Hallelujah Chorus," Randall Thompson's "Alleluia," hymns such as "An Easter Carol" and "Ye Watchers and Holy Ones" and an Introit chant.

Special services for children will be held at St. Simon Episcopal church Sunday at 7 p.m. and on Good Friday at 10 a.m. at Our Saviour Lutheran church and in many Sunday school classes. Women's guild members at Our Saviour church will hold a Good Friday service at 2 p.m. at the Arlington rest home.

SEVEN NORTHWEST AREA clergymen of the Lutheran church-Missouri synod met last week to consider plans for a Good Friday service tomorrow in the Arlington theater, 1 to 3 p.m. Front row, from left: Rev. Channing Miller, Rev. Waldemar Struefert, Rev. G. Kenneth Kausch, Rev. Edgar H. Behrens; rear, Rev. Luther V. Stephan, Rev. Paul F. Goetting and Rev. Erhard A. Zeile.

I warned you about two weeks ago: here it is Thursday with Easter only three days away. I'll bet you haven't sent those cards yet. If not, hurry to Harris Pharmacy where you will find the most comprehensive selection of Hallmark greeting cards that is available anywhere.

How about it, Dad, have you chosen that lovely box of Russell Stover candy for your favorite "girl friend". Candy is an item that one does not buy often, so you should get the best when you make your purchase. You'll find that you can't beat Russell Stover for quality and flavor. There are lots of selections of Russell Stover for the kiddies, so you can make your selection for the whole family.

Marian and I would like to wish you all a very pleasant day on Easter Sunday. I'll never forget the closing remarks of a minister one Easter Sunday. He said, "I'd like to wish all of you a very Merry Christmas, because many of you I won't see again until next Easter". Food for thought, eh?

MORE THAN 350 LIONS attended the third annual meeting of District 1-F, which includes all of Lake county and the northwestern third of Cook county. Gathering at the Chevy Chase Country club Saturday, the group heard International Director Lion Joe E. Childers of Abilene, Texas, speak at the evening's banquet. Entertaining at the sessions, which began at 3 p. m., were "The Harmonettes," pictured above, a chorus of 12 Arlington high school girls, directed by Marjorie Beu; "The Satellites," a musical comedy team of 3 men from Glenview Naval Air station and "The Thirsty Thirteen," a male chorus made up of Palatine Lions. Along with the 2 business sessions was a ladies' fashion show for the Lions' wives.

Chicagoan, 45, Is Area's Sixth Traffic Fatality

The traffic death toll continued to mount in northwest Cook county as a 45-year-old Chicago man became fatality No. 6 Wednesday, March 26.

Thomas C. MacMullen, 45, 1645 W. 83rd st., Chicago, died in Sherman hospital, Elgin, 9 hours after his auto was involved in a collision at Irving Park and Barrington rds.

THE DEATH was the first of the year for Hanover township. There were none in the township last year.

Also injured in the 3-car collision was Malcolm Logan, 29, 133 Bradwell rd., Barrington. He was to have seen his own doctor.

State Police Officer Joseph Wojcik, who investigated the accident, said a car driven by Leonard R. Danner, 56, 141 S. Oak st., Bartlett, proceeded to cross Irving Park rd. and was hit in the intersection by MacMullen's car.

DANNER'S CAR then went into a spin and struck Logan's car. Damage to MacMullen's auto was placed at $500 and to the other two at $300 each.

Danner was charged with failure to yield the right of way to through traffic at intersection which requires Barrington rd. traffic to stop.

A Prospect Heights man, Edward F. Smetana, 40, 201 Wolf rd., was rushed to Resurrection hospital Sunday when the car he was driving and another driven by Jerome Rice, 21, Stevens Point, Wis., collided at Palatine and Schoenbeck rds.

ALSO INJURED was Ann Rice, 40, 3141 W. Belle Plaine, Chicago. She was to have seen her own doctor.

Cook county deputies reported Rice's car ran into the rear of the one driven by Smetana on Palatine rd.

A Roselle man, Bernard S. Shapiro, 31, 110 N. Clarendon, also was taken to Resurrection hospital Sunday when his car was forced into a ditch on Higgins rd. a quarter mile west of Touhy ave.

According to State Trooper Harold Jacobs, Shapiro's car was forced into the ditch when a car driven by Vito DeDesimone, 41, 612 N. Hamlin, Chicago, pulled out to pass another car.

SUNDAY SAW two other persons, Robert J. Ferry, 27, and Wayne R. Bnirk, both of the Lawson YMCA at 30 W. Chicago ave., Chicago, rushed to Resurrection hospital after a collision at Mt. Prospect and Higgins rds.

State Trooper E. A. Lauraitis reported that Terry's car hit one driven by Earl L. Sheldon, 36, 568 S. Oak st., Palatine, after it had stopped for a stop sign.

Terry was charged with following too close in traffic. Damage to the Sheldon auto was placed at $400 and to the Terry car at $600.

Edna M. Cesky, 46, Route 1, Algonquin, was slightly injured and was to have seen her doctor when the car she was driving collided head-on with one driven by Wilmer C. Jacobs, 35, 312 Tulsa, Carpentersville.

STATE TROOPER John Kirk reported that Jacobs swerved his car to avoid one stopped on the road and went in the wrong lane striking the Cesky auto. Jacobs was charged with driving on the wrong side of the road. Damage to the Cesky car was estimated at $300 and to the Jacobs auto at $450.

George Borneman, 71, Leaf River, Ill., was to have seen his own physician following a collision Friday at Higgins and Roselle rds.

State Trooper Harold Jacobs said an auto driven by Orville Borneman, 38, Forreston, ran a stop sign on Higgins rd., striking a refrigerator truck driven by Frank J. Kratovil, Round Lake, which was southbound on Roselle rd. (B8

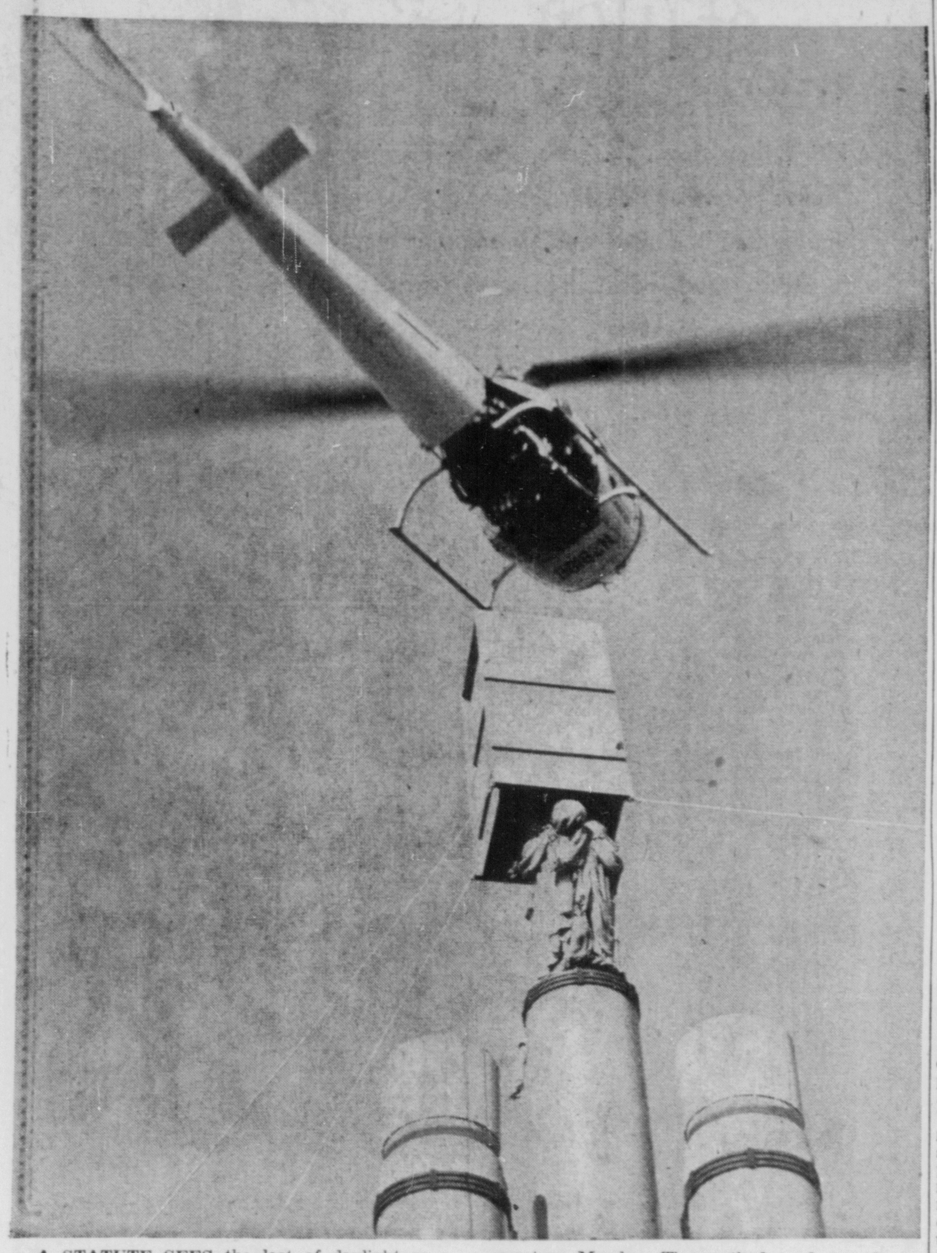
Helicopter Lifts 8-Foot Statue From Its Pedestal



A STATUTE SEES the last of daylight as a helicopter sets a 10-foot box over the 8-foot statue atop 36-foot pillars in Rand hill cemetery Monday. The method used was described as very unique by cemetery officials.

An 8-foot statue, which won its bout against the elements, Monday lost a unanimous decision to a helicopter.

A BUZZING helicopter on the third try nimbly dropped a 3 by 3 foot box 10 feet long over the statue "Mother of Earth" covering it from view atop a 36-foot pedestal in Rand Hill cemetery at Rand and Wilke rds.

Eventually the statue will be removed, Herschel Auerbach, executive director of Shalom Memorial park, said and will be replaced by a replica of eternal light in memory of everyone interred in the park.

Recently 100 acres of Rand Hill was acquired for Shalom Memorial park from Rand Hill, a non-sectarian cemetery. There are now 45 acres remaining in Rand Hill cemetery.

THE ACTION was a prelude to dedicating the newly opened Shalom Memorial park. Auerbach said that in the orthodox Jewish religion no graven images are to be kept. This dates back to the time of Moses.

Last fall Fred Haemker, Palatine housemover, was commissioned to cover the statue. He scaled one of the four 36-foot pillars and wrapped burlap around the statue.

However, northerly gales throughout the winter did not leave the statue in its original condition and it appeared without wraps with the coming of spring.

Haemker, who stands a husky 6 foot 3 inches, got the job again and decided to make sure this time. This time he employed helicopter pilots Bob Roth of Itasca and Lou Nickos of Des Plaines.

WITH ROTH directing the operation from the ground and Nickos at the controls, the two-rotar copter picked up the wooden cover and hoisted it to top the statue.

Auerbach was especially pleased with the unique and simple handling of the task. To have moved a crane in to do the job would have torn up the lawn and shrubs. Now the crane will have to be brought in only once, to remove the statue and place an eternal light atop the pedestal.

In keeping with no graven images, 4 engraved pedestals standing 9 feet high also will be turned to face inwards. This also will require a crane since each pedestal weighs 12 to 15 tons.

Auerbach and other cemetery officals were greatly pleased with the results that can be achieved by one of the world's modern miracles, the helicopter.

Along the Camp Fire Trail

by Dorothy Schomburg — CLearbrook 3-7017

Okonta Camp Fire Girls, in preparation for a 3-meal all-day cookout at Deer Grove next Monday, April 7, met Saturday, March 29 to discuss health and safety rules for the outing. Menus for A-Z meals, to provide the seven basic foods needed every day, were also planned. The girls met again Monday to make paraffin stoves to use in preparing breakfast on the camping trip, a requirement of their wood gatherer's rank.

Camp Welasi day camp counselors will meet Wednesday, April 9, at 1:15 p.m. in the home of district camping chairman, Mrs. Mirrel R. Kephart, 801 S. Evergreen. Plans will be made for the coming day camp program to be held in June. Mrs. Kephart will head the 3-day summer camp, assisted by co-directors Mrs. K. T. Brusa and Mrs. Louis M. Schomburg.

DAILY PROGRAM activities will include first aid, nature and conservation, camp craft, outdoor cookery, hand craft, games and sports, dramatics, Indian lore, and songs and dances. A very special feature this year will be the instruction of Indian ceremonial dances taught by Ernest Naquayouma.

A dramatic offering, based on Indian legend, will be presented at the end of the 3-day camp during the closing council fire. Council fire plans will be carried out by the Cheekata Camp Fire Girls of Forest View. Several Camp Fire and Blue Bird groups will participate in the playlet, directed by Mrs. Joseph Crittenden.

A GIRL-PLANNING committee meeting will be held at Mrs. Kephart's, immediately following the staff meeting. Camp Fire and Blue Bird representatives from 20 Arlington Heights groups will be on hand at 3:45 p.m. to discuss plans for the day camp agenda, as well as the council fire theme, "Friendship in the Woods." The girls, at a previous planning session, submitted their ideas for program activities. Their unanimous desire to learn Indian ceremonial dances resulted in the procurement of Mr. Naquayouma to teach the various tribal dance steps.

Counselors, teaching the various crafts at Camp Welasi, must attend 2 indoor training session to be held April 16 and 23 at Pioneer Park field house from 9 a.m. to noon, one outdoor training session at day camp site May 28 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and one forest preserve field trip scheduled for April 29 to qualify for a training certificate.

UNIT LEADERS, guardians who work with the group and unit helpers, mothers who aid counselors and unit leaders, will be required to attend one indoor and one outdoor training session to participate in the working pro - Blue Birds and Camp Fire Girls in the Arlington Heights district. The 3-day summer camping experience offers an exceptional program for a very nominal sum. Fee for the 3 days is $1.40 including transportation, a cost of less than 50 cents per day. Camp is in session from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 23, 25 and 27 at Busse Woods.

REGISTRATION FOR new Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and Horizon Club Girls in the Arlington Heights district will take place Saturday, April 12, from 9 a.m. to noon in the Pioneer Park field house. All girls, 7 through 18 years are eligible for membership.

Mount Prospect

Four girls of Odakizu Camp Fire Girls have completed their respective torch bearer rank. Joyce Deming in business; Patty Poulon in Indian lore; Dottie Schroeder in aviation; and Fleury Viger in art. All the girls received their five-year membership pins in Camp Fire. Mrs. Walter J. Schroeder is guardian of the group.

Patty Poulson had a party with the Indian theme for 20 guests. Her Indian collection was shown and games and songs of the theme for her rank were taught guests.

DOTTIE SCHROEDER gave an aviation party for rank. The table was centered with a decorated cake toped by an American air-plines lane. The group's sponsor, Miss Nancy Dallin, was among the guests.

The girls are busy selling candy in Camp Fire's annual candy sale.

Plans are also in the making to attend a showing of "Around the World in 80 Days."

Camp Fire and Blue Bird news from Arlington Heights, Mt. Prospect, and Palatine is submitted for publication by Mrs. Louis Schomburg, CL 3-7017. Deadline for the news is 1 p.m. Mondays and should be given to Mrs. Schomburg before that time.

WESTGATE SHOPPING CENTER'S "Bunny Hut" was visited Saturday by Dick Coughlan, star of the TV show "Bugs Bunny and his Friends." He is holding Radcliffe Raccoon and the Easter bunny stands to the right.

Welfare State Is Going to Birds

by BILL DILLINGHAM

In Denmark's welfare state, even the birds receive care. Special measures are taken to see that Denmark's feathered friends survive the severe winters.

Police accept contributions of bread crumbs from the general public. Trucks regularly visit police stations collecting this food. It is then transported to areas where fowl famine is threatened.

EVEN THE migratory birds, the transit tourists, can count on a square bread crumb from Denmark's generous housewives.

During a severe Danish winter, it is quite common to hear an appeal broadcast by the State Radio. When the world news begins, the first item is frequently an SOS for more bread crusts. People are asked to save even the smallest pieces and to take them to the nearest police depot.

"After all," announced one radio spokesman as the daily news began, "we owe hospitality to these feathered guests who help keep the winters cheerful."

PEOPLE ARE ASKED to slice and quarter their contributions before delivering them, thus making it easier on the birds.

The bird-human relationship in Denmark has developed to incredible fondness. New cases are constantly being reported of birds that took refuge in someone's apartment during especially cold days.

One man awoke to find 2 birds in his bedroom, having entered by the window during the night. The fact that they returned nightly for about 2 weeks did not arouse attention. But when they appeared during the following winter, the case became minor news. Many Danes have reported similar experiences. Some claim that their visitors return each year for several winters running.

THE UNFORTUNATE thing, claimed one housewife, is that they start bringing their friends along. When that happens, the window has to stay closed.

But with the Danish police stations collecting food, and the government broadcasting appeals by radio, life in a welfare state is still pretty good for a bird. (B12

County Board Candidate Urges Suburban Planning

John J. White, Democratic candidate for county board of commissioners from the country towns, urged the active participation of property owners in rezoning plans at a meeting of Wheeling township residents Monday night in the home of Werner J. Ellman, 107 Jeffrey, Wheeling.

"The Chaddick commission has been employed by the county board to present a comprehensive zoning plan for all unincorporated areas within Cook county. Many villages, aware of the scheduled re-zoning of adjacent, unincorporated areas, are also formulating zoning programs. Since planning goes to the heart of the quality and complexion of a neighborhood, it can ruin property values and leave school districts in a precarious financial position unless properly executed," White said.

REFERRING TO THE active program of Northfield Township, wherein 75 per cent of all residents have answered questionnaires on zoning prepared and distributed by the Northfield township planning organization, White said "As property owners, we took the position that our interests and desires were paramount and should be the controlling factor when our township is re-zoned. The results of this canvass are now being tabulated, transferred to a township map, and will be presented directly to the Chaddick commission as an authoritative expression of the people whose property will be affected by the re-zoning program."

Emphasizing the role the Cook county board plays in rezoning unincorporated areas, White, who is the only candidate for commissioner living in an unincorporated area, added that "interest and activity by residents in Wheeling township can be an effective force in eliminating the deplorable housing conditions, lack of sanitation, and extra tax burden caused directly by the unfortunate conditions now surrounding migratory workers in this area. Proper prosecution of health regulations and school attendance rules, as well as an aggressive and cooperative program by all concerned can go a long way toward resolving this problem. An adequate plan for the future growth of Cook county on a comprehensive basis is the primary means of solving this and other similar zoning problems." (B8

Toll Collector Positions Open on Northwest Tollway

Applications for positions as toll collectors on the Illinois toll highway are currently being received in connection with the projected opening of the Northwest Tollway from O'Hare Airport to South Beloit in August.

This was announced Friday by Charles L. Dearing, executive director of the Illinois State Toll Highway Commission, who said that 80 toll collectors will be required in the counties of Winnebago, Boone, McHenry, Kane and northern Cook county.

Dearing said that toll collectors employed by the commission must be male, at least 24 years old, must have a pleasing personality, good character and must have a high school education or its equivalent. No previous experience is necessary. Annual salary will be $3900.

THE DUTIES of the toll collectors will be to collect tolls, prepare reports, keep toll booths in neat and orderly condition, remove snow from toll plazas and perform related duties as required. While toll booths will be open 24 hours per day, all toll collectors will be assigned to a rotating shift schedule.

Dearing said that applicants for toll collectors positions should apply by mail only, requesting application form and additional detailed information from the director of personnel, Illinois State Toll Highway Commission, 20 N. Wacker dr., Chicago. (B12

Glenn Dedring, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erik Dedring, was 9 Saturday. The family celebrated with a dinner party for him Sunday. Many relatives from Chicago were there for the occasion.

Tim Colvin, son of the James Colvins, is home from Amherst college, Mass., for a week and the house is really buzzing. Sunday night several of his friends stopped by for what turned into a jam session of dixieland jazz, with Tim at the guitar, one on the drums, another on the vibes and another on the bass. Tim had another surprise for his folks when he came home this time. He has become a member of the Amherst college double quartet, a group that has distinguished itself by many of the records it has made.

SUNDAY the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Kozakari was christened in St. Sava monastery, Libertyville. The Serbian Orthodox monastery was also the scene of the Kozakaris' wedding in October, 1956. Godparents to Peter John were Mr. and Mrs. Florian Woger of Racine, who also stood up for Mr. and Mrs. Kozakari at their wedding, thus making the 2 families almost like blood relatives. After the ceremony the grandparents and godparents joined the Kozakaris for dinner at the Rustic Manor in Guernee.

Charlotte Ronayne was surprised with another baby shower last Thursday night. Jean Kunberger, Ginny Read, Nan Stocking and Mary Meade gathered at Chris Gleason's home, with Dorothy Cryer as co-hostess. Chris had decorated a baby buggy with pink and blue crepe paper into which everyone put their gifts. A few baby shower games were played, after which Charlotte opened her gifts and refreshments were served.

MARCH 15 was the date of the surprise party for Ralph Carlino given by Joyce Engelking at the home of Jerry Bonn. Fifty teenagers came to the party for Ralph, who has won all his matches to become the state wrestling champion. Joyce had help from wrestling coach Richard Mudge to make arrangements for the party and he and Mrs. Mudge were among the chaperones for the evening. Ralph is a senior at Arlington high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Huntley put 2 of their children, Pam and David, on the train earlier this week to visit their grandparents, the Harry Huntleys in Eldora, Iowa. Friday the senior Huntleys will drive the children back here so that the family can be together for Easter.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Kedrow took their young son into Des Plaines, where his grandparents, the William Kedrows, had a family dinner. The Wilbert Kedrows returned recently from a trip to Decorah, Iowa, where they visited his sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Curt Headington.

BARBARA LYNN Myslo, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Myslo, was christened in St. James church. Mrs. Myslo's sister, Marianne Rurka came from Iron Mountain, Mich., where she is a senior in high school, to be godmother to Barbara. The godfather was Joseph Anselmo, Mrs. Myslo's nephew and godson. Joseph attends Maternity B.V.M. grammar school in Chicago. Maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rurka, were here from Iron Mountain, Mich., and the paternal grandparent, George Myslo from Chicago. Two of Barbara's sisters, Susan and Maribeth, went to the church for the ceremony. Because Patricia was 2 that day, she stayed home to get ready for the celebration of her birthday and her sister's christening. The Myslos entertained 32 people for dinner after the christening.

Tuesday Ruth Platt went to the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club fashion show at the high school. Those who made up the party for the evening were Ruth's mother, Mrs. H. O. Kieselbach, her sister-in-law, Mrs. Donald Platt of Mt. Prospect, another sister-in-law, Mrs. Leo Rembowski from Barrington and her friend, Mrs. Ralph Stoltz. After the show the group came back to Ruth's house for coffee and cake.

John Vetter, son of the Charles H. Vetters, went to Glidden, Ia., on the train Sunday night to visit his grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Montgomery, for a week. Next weekend he will drive her back here. John is a senior in high school this year.

Friends and neighbors of the James Hahns express their sympathy in the death of their new baby. (A Young scientists can find entertaining and informative books in the children's department of the Arlington Heights public library.

For young readers who are interested in astronomy, "The Big Book of Stars," by Leon Hausman gives a simply worded and beautifully illustrated introduction to the famous astronomers of the past and to the heavenly bodies, their positions, movements, and effects upon our lives.

Another book, "Stars," by Herbert Zim and Robert S. Baker, contains 150 paintings in color as well as detailed charts of the constellations. The concise easy-to-understand text covers all the essentials of astronomy.

THE WALT DISNEY story of "Our Friend the Atom" explains in a delightful text how man discovered the atom, how he discovered its many marvelous secrets, and what he must do to make the atom our friend and servant. The colorful illustrations by the Walt Disney Productions staff artists make the book most attractive.

"Exploring Earth and Space" by Margaret O. Hyde is a timely selection of some of the operations of the International Geophysical year. Thousands of scientists from over 60 nations are involved in the IGY.

Here is the thrill of going down deep into the sea to investigate underwater earthquakes; of sending up giant skyhook balloons, carrying cameras in their gondolas, to take pictures of ocean storms; of launching long-range experimental rockets which will thunder out of sight and eventually crash into the sea.

SOME OF THE scientists are exploring the Antarctic and learning about the earth's core, crust, and glaciers. Others are shooting artifical stars into the sky and still others are testing turtles, rats, and monkeys for their reaction to space flight. Black and white line drawings and diagrams complement the text.

"Space Satellite," the story of the man-made moon by Lee Beeland and Robert Wells, is a factual, full-scale account of Project Vanguard. The planning, building and launching of our first earth satellite makes more fascinating reading than science-fiction.

"Planet X," by Mildred S. Kiefer, is a story about a young boy whose nickname Cope is short for Copernicus. In his attempt to discover a tenth planet he learns how astronomers work and the importance of accurate scientific knowledge in the conquest of space. Grades 4 to 6 will find lively reading in this book.

IN THE "FIRST Book of Archaeology," Nora Benjamin Kubie dramatically tells the story of archaeology from the early digs of the amateurs to the scientific excavations of today. Exciting stories of men who have followed clues deep underground and have discovered ancient cities and lost civilizations are combined with an absorbing account of how archaeologists work, what they have found, and what they have learned from their finds.

If the youthful reader enjoys a story that is full of delightful humor and fun, he can make no better choice than "Celestial Space, Inc." However this is not just a zany story, but a story of a boy's ingenious plan to bring life to a dying community by means of a daring idea which springs from a combination of inventiveness, fun, and sheer determination to promote something good. Vote on School Board April 12

Voters in Arlington Heights will select three school board members in an election April 12.

Two incumbents and one new candidate will be on the ballot seeking the three upcoming vacancies on the board, which conducts affairs for school district No. 25.

The incumbents are Lambert W. Bredehoft, 45, of 201 Wilshire, and William F. Hannum, 41, of 1020 N. Fernandez. Both are completing their first term this year.

The new candidate is J. Brooks Smith, 34, of 112 N. Yale.

THE SLATE of candidates was agreed upon by the board's nominating committee. Victor M. Husty, 908 S. Beverly, committee chairman, said 11 persons were screened for the three vacancies and that eight ballots were taken before final selections were made.

The retiring member of the board is Richard L. Johnston, who has served the limit of two terms. This past term he has been president of the board.

POLLING PLACES will be: Precinct 1—Ridge school; precinct 2—North school; precinct 3—Miner junior high school; precinct 4—Dryden school; precinct 5—Park school, and precinct 6—Westgate school.

The polls will be open from 12 noon to 7 p.m.

Absentee ballots can be obtained from the office of Supt. C. E. Clabaugh at the Arlington Heights high school. (AF

Physicians and pharmacists often wonder whether many current health articles are not causing some mental distress. Their information about new miracle drugs, usually accompanied by vivid descriptions of disease symptoms, often may influence one to think they have the disease they are reading about.

If you have any constantly re-occuring unusual symptoms that you think might be serious, don't worry about it. Just visit your physician and let him find out if you really have any problem.

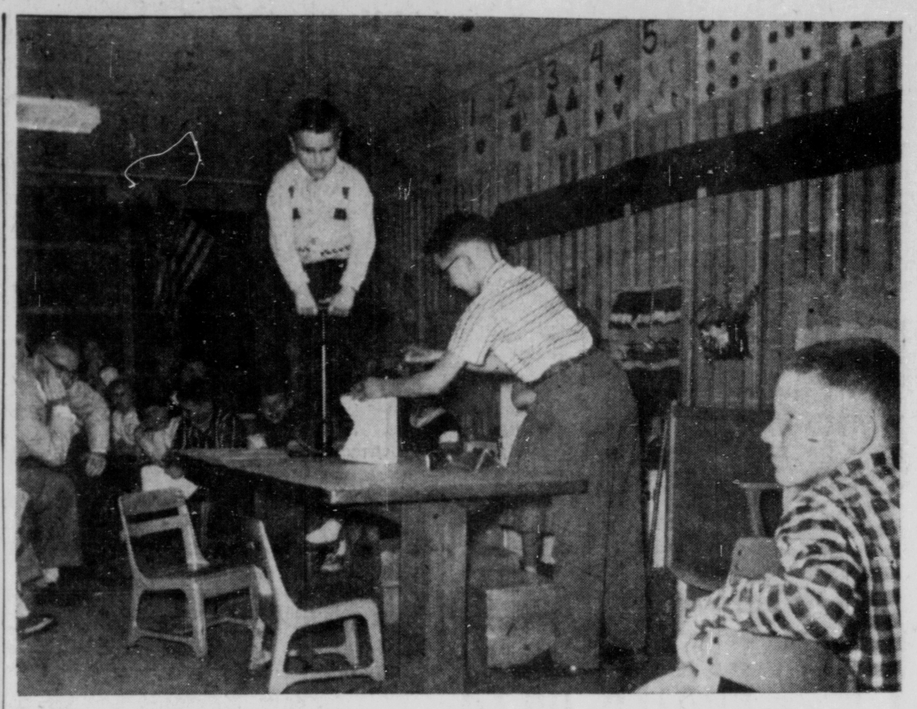
ONE OF THE WAYS children in Arlington Heights elementary school learn about science was demonstrated at a recent parents' night at Ridge school. Donna Bayert, left, and Diane Doten, explained how electricity can be generated by using a coil of insulated wire, a magnet and a compass wrapped in another coil of wire. A magnet passing up and down through the coil generates current, causing the needle of the compass attached to the wire to move.



FRANK PSOTA, a second grader at Ridge school in Arlington Heights, showed parents and classmates how a container can be crushed by air pressure if the air inside it is pumped out. Assisting him during the demonstration at a recent parents' night was John Meyers.

Round 'n About Westgate

Palm Sunday was a big day in the homes of several Westgate families whose children were confirmed in various local churches. Dennis Wood, 13, son of Evelyn and Harry Wood, 307 Wilke, was part of the confirmation class in Faith Lutheran church. Weekend guests for this special occasion were grandmother, Mrs. Eugene Chapman, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Loomans of Portage, Wis.

Faith Lutheran was the scene Sunday afternoon of a private christening ceremony for four-month-old Douglas Paul Akerlund, son of Joyce and Skip Akerlund, 1509 Fremont. Rev. Edgar Behrens officiated. Godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Marier of Cedar Rapids, Ia., who spent the weekend with the Akerlunds. Also present at a buffet supper were the baby's grandmothers, Mrs. J. D. Merry and Mrs. C. O. Akerlund, both of Chicago.

Ten-year-old Joel McThomas, son of Arlee and Bill McThomas, 303 Wilke, was confirmed in Our Lady of the Wayside. Family members from Chicago present were Mr. and Mrs. William McThomas and Mrs. Estelle Sobeck and daughter, Joan.

IT WAS A HAPPY though boisterous party that celebrated the sixth birthday of Bard Hebard, son of Fran and Harry Hebard, 409 Reuter. Friends on hand for lunch and an afternoon of fun numbered 15. Also included was her brother, Ricky Hebard.

The City of Denver brought a most welcome guest to the home of Marty and Bob Nicol, 407 Wilke, in the person of Bob's mother, Mrs. Margaret Nicol of Omaha. Her visit was in time for grandson Bruce's 14th birthday. She will see him confirmed in the Presbyterian church early Easter morning.

THERE ARE now three junior misses in the family of Jean and Ed Deal, 315 Yale, with the arrival March 20 of Mary Patricia, weighing 6 pounds 9 ounces in Resurrection hospital. Sisters at home are Pamela and Sue. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Cottrell of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. John P. Deal of Lake Delavan, Wis.

Recently returned from a visit to Waukesha, Wis., is Mary Keslinke of 1715 Miner. Mary just became a grandmother again with the birth March 24 of 7 pound 2 ounce Nancy Lynn to her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Duckert. The Duckerts also have a daughter, Cindy Lee, two. Richard Keslinke is now visiting his aunt and is quite proud of becoming an uncle at age 13.

Among local teens attending the Cotillion dance Saturday night, dubbed the "Western Whirl," were Diane Kabat, Sharon Huff, Darryl Bakas.

CONVERSATION is brisk and varied this week in the household of Lois and Gerald Brask, 104 S. Yale. They have visiting them intriguing houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. John Fletcher-Cooke and children, Richard, six, and Gillian, four. Mr. Fletcher-Cooke is an English diplomat stationed in Africa and has spent considerable time in Cyprus. His wife, Alice, sister to Lois, hasn't been home in nine years and is most fascinated with the many quick frozen and easily prepared food mixes. The children are delighted with TV, and varied electrical appliances and America in general. The Brask boys, Gerald, David and Kenneth are having much fun introducing these children to their way of life. Much could be said for the Fletcher-Cooke way of life and on this especially harried morning three items in particular appeal to this busy reporter—their houseboy, cook and child's nurse.

Friends and neighbors will be happy to know that Fred Hauth has recuperated from a serious case of the mumps.

Hostess Sunday afternoon to numerous relatives and neighbors was Elsie Johnson, 515 Yale. Entertainment included a plastic party demonstrated by Mrs. Pauline Burdett.

Of much interest to Westgate parents who have a daughter in the second grade or who will be seven this fall is a registration for Bluebirds April 12 at Pioneer Park field house from 9 to 12. Bluebirds is the junior group of Campfire Girls. (A

The latest member to join the household of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Bengal, 1117 Haddow ct., is Stephen Francis, born March 26 in St. Francis hospital, Evanston, weighing 8 pounds 4 ounces. At home to greet him were his brothers, Joseph, 6, Bobby, 5, and John, 2.

Miss Sally Jansen, 1201 N. Hickory, a junior, and Ronald Barnes, 1155 N. Hickory, a sophomore at Arlington high school were initiated into the National Honor society at Prospect high school March 25. Ronald Barnes was recently invited to join the Joe Berg Science foundation and participate in the weekly meetings at Arlington high, after successfully completing the tests offered to students interested in science and who can maintain a high grade level.

THE LADIES of the square dance group met in the home of Mrs. John Funk, 1133 N. Beverly last Friday evening, the occasion being a farewell party for Mrs. Len Smedberg, who will be moving to Tennessee in the near future. On hand to wish the Smedbergs well were Marion Birt, Elaine Bradshaw, Ann Koren, Audrey Dargatz, Lorraine Lantz, Gert Miller and co-hostess Doris Davis. Unable to attend were Millie Roane and Ruth Epsky.

Lisa Carol, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schlack, 622 Clarendon ave., was baptized in the Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights Sunday during a morning ceremony. Godparents for the baby are Miss Marie Mielke, Mr. Schlack's cousin, and Walter Kaestner, a brother-in-law, both of Chicago. Dinner was served to the group, which included other relatives invited for the occasion.

Mark Shannon, 1161 N. Hickory ave., observed his 14th birthday March 30 with a family dinner party. His sisters, Kathleen, Nancy and Patricia and brother, Glenn, helped celebrate.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Mead, 1163 N. Hickory, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pataky of Monterey, Calif., friends who had stopped to visit for a day while on a trip to the east.

A business meeting of the Arlington Greens Community association was held in the home of John Coward, 1142 N. Dryden, March 31, attended by officers, directors and committee chairmen of the organization. A committee, including Mrs. John Coolidge, John Coward, Jack Kerz and William Lebsock, was selected to nominate candidates for the offices in the organization to be elected at the next general meeting, which is planned for the latter part of April. Residents of the Greens will be notified as to where and when this meeting will take place. A report from Jack Kerz, chairman of the membership committee, indicated 101 members at present. (A

Walgreen to Open Monday In New Arlington Market

Village Manager F. R. Buechner wielding a pair of king-sized scissors will cut the traditional red ribbon in front of Walgreens new self-service drug store in Arlington Market Monday at 9 a. m.

Accompanying him will be another Arlington Heights resident, John W. Gleeson, manager of the new drug store. "We promise a fascinating drug store shopping experience," says manager Gleeson, "offering 'serve-yourself' convenience in over 40 mass-merchandised departments."

MANAGER Gleeson, a 25-year Walgreen veteran, brings an extensive background of store-management experience to his new post. He started with Walgreens in Springfield after attending college there. Gleeson most recently headed Walgreens self-service drug store at 4609 Broadway in Chicago.

Married, with 2 young sons, Gleeson says: "It's been wonderful to live among the friendly folks of this great suburban area, and now I'm looking forward with real delight to serving them as Manager.

JOSEPH Hammerschmidt brings well-rounded store experience to his assistant manager's post. He started with his firm over 3 years ago in their Park Ridge self-service drug store where he was most recently assistant manager.

Charles R. Walgreen Jr., president of Walgreen drug stores, reflects the spirit of his late father, who founded the firm, in guiding the chain along traditional lines of courtesy, service and value to everyone.

"Our new Arlington Market drug store marks another step in our expansion program for Chicagoland's great suburban area," said Walgreen. (A

LWV to Hear Chicago Editor

An outstanding editorial writer and newspaperman will be speaker at Arlington Heights League of Women Voters annual dinner meeting April 10.

A. T. Burch, associate editor of the Chicago Daily News, will speak at the meeting to be held in Faith Lutheran church, 431 S. State rd., Arlington Heights, at 6:30 p.m.

His topic will be "Judicial Reform."

Burch grew up in Kansas, the son of Rousseau A. Burch, chief justice of the supreme court of Kansas.

AFTER RESIGNING his army commission as a lieutenant of artillery in World War I, A. T. Burch worked as a financial news reporter of the New York Tribune. He worked as a political reporter for the Topeka Daily Capital and editorial writer for the Topeka State Journal He taught journalism part time at his alma mater, Washburn college, then became full time associate professor and head of the journalism department.

In 1927 he went to Cleveland as city hall reporter, became chief editorial writer, later associate editor. He came to Chicago in 1945 as associate editor of the Chicago Daily News in charge of the editorial page.

THE CHRISTOPHERSEN home, 1010 W. Euclid, was a hub bub of activity this past week. Walter Jr. arrived home from the College of the Pacific, Stockton, Cal., for Easter vacation March 29. Sunday Jane, seven, was dismissed from Oak Park hospital. She suffered a severe head concussion on the school playground and was confined to the hospital for 12 days. When her mother went to the hospital to bring Jane home, she was surprised to find that her daughter had invited two women doctors from the Philippines to her home for the day. Dennis Hackbarth, Arlington Heights, and Richard Moehling, Lake Zurich, entertained the doctors by taking them on a countryside tour in their sports cars with the tops down. It was quite an experience for the doctors. They have been in this country for only three months and had never been out of the village of Oak Park.

April 1 Walter Christophersen and David Fellingham, Inverness, drove to New York to see the sights for several days. Wednesday Raymond Miller arrived from Drake university to spend Easter vacation with the Christophersens. Time did not permit Raymond, formerly a resident of Arlington Heights, to visit his parents, who now reside in Tennessee. (A

Larry Lampasona, 1322 N. Yale, celebrated his sixth birthday twice: Sunday with 22 relatives and friends from out of town and Wednesday with a party for his playmates. Wednesday's guests were Leslee Bang, Carol Chupich, Kenny Koser, Tommy Reed, Jeffery and Patty Fairfield and Tony and Dawn Incavo.

Mary Kale, 1322 N. Illinois, was hostess at a birthday party in honor of LaRue Reed. The guests who attended Friday night were Evelyn Schmitt, Camille Incavo, Josephine Lampasona, Addie Fairfield, Doris Koser and Shirlee Pircher.

Danny Healy, 1329 N. Chicago, celebrated his second birthday with a family party. The birthday boy is Daniel Healy IV and his party was attended by Daniel [illegible] II and III.

Felicity Frisbee's plans for a party for her birthday were abruptly changed when the younger members of her family came down with mumps. Instead, her father treated her and her guests, Marianne Brown, Jean Crouch, Linda Lee Fluhrer and Ann Frisbee, to luncheon in town. Felicity is seven and lives at 1512 W. Oakton.

ROBERT AND Shirley Vogtritter have just moved into their new home at 1208 N. Race. They have two children, Kim, 4½, and Gary, 2½. Robert is with Capitol air lines and they formerly lived in Lombard.

Connie and Rex McBride, 1206 N. Race, will entertain his mother, Mrs. Eva McBride from Akron, Ohio, over the Easter weekend. Seeing "My Fair Lady" will be one of the high points of her visit. (A

Q. My sister and I were criticized for wearing lipstick at the [illegible]er. Was this really in bad taste?

A. Only if you wore too much. Otherwise, the addition of a little color to the lips is not wrong at all.

Congresswoman to Poll 13th District Opinion

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church is presently conducting in the 13th district a public opinion poll on 30 major current issues.

Attempting to reach, through a process of scientific selection, every seventh householder in her district, Mrs. Church says: "These are tremendous days, with decisions to be made of deep and major significance. The responsibility for these decisions is definitely my own — but I would like to share, by scientific sampling method, the thinking of my district on some current questions."

A TABULATION of the results will be sent to all those who fill out the questionnaire and return it, signed and stamped, to Hon. Marguerite Stitt Church, House of Representatives, Washington 25, D.C.

Any other constituent who so requests will be sent an identical questionnaire in a different color, which will be tabulated separately in order not to affect the results of the scientific sampling set up by the original mailing.

Indicating that space limitations prevented consideration of all important issues, she has attempted to offer as full a range of questions as possible on the major issues of our significant times. She hopes for a prompt and stupendous response. (B8

This Week with PTA

Family Night at Miner

It was a family activity at Miner school Tuesday, March 25, when each child brought his parents to school for PTA exhibit night. The child, acting as host, took his parents to his classroom to see an exhibit which centered around a regular unit of study in science or social studies.

At the sixth and seventh grade levels, the emphasis was on science, art, shop and home economics where there were demonstrations and experiments by students actively participating in work typical of a class session.

IN THE cafeteria the choral group, directed by Mrs. Hazel Petersen, and the beginning band, led by Melvin Kasen, alternated throughout the evening with teaching demonstrations.

This was one of the most popular and well attended meetings of the year, affording parents an opportunity to view not only their child's work but that of other members of the class as well. By making a tour of the various classrooms one could have a better concept of the type of work being accomplished at the various grade levels and the facilities available to students at Miner school.

Math and Science Highlighted

South Junior high parents had an excellent opportunity to observe first hand the way their children are taught mathematics.

At the PTA meeting last week, 60 students participated in typical 15-minute classroom periods. Under the direction of math teachers Mrs. Lois Fritsche, William Harner, Donald Odbert and Phillip Rendone, students and parents solved problems in percentage, division of fractions and formulas.

CONCERNING the teaching of science, Todd Fouty, principal, explained that this program is undergoing a change and that plans are for more than double the amount of time to be spent on science next year.

Interesting scientific exhibits were displayed in the cafeteria after the meeting.

More Stability and Less Change

"My hope for this school system in 1965 is a combination of stability and, at the same time, orderly change and improvement. I don't want us to get so stable that nothing happens, but I would welcome a little more stability and a little less change."

Superintendent Ralph Clabaugh, speaking to the Westgate PTA last week on the subject "Will the Schools Be Ready for 1965?" voiced this hope along with an interesting account of the plans now in progress for schools.

A "saturation" study is now being made to verify that the present plans for 6 kindergarten-through-fifth grade schools and 2 junior high schools will be adequate. It is necessary to know how many more children will be enrolled each year and from which area of the district they will come.

MR. CLABAUGH explained that a school district is allowed to bond up to 5 per cent of the personal and real property in the district, and from time to time this district has been close to bonding all it could. There has been an increasing number of children, a shortage of teachers and the problem of children reaching the schools before the district was financially able to pay for their education. If these factors are still in existence in 1965, we will have the same problems that are present now.

THE IMMEDIATE significant curriculum changes are an increase in science taught in the junior high schools and more emphasis placed on the gifted child program. This school system has been invited to work with the University of Chicago in an improvement program and Superintendent Clabaugh feels that valuable aid will come from this venture.

Mrs. Agnes Skadberg, reading consultant, briefly discussed method of dealing with reading methods of dealing with reading problems. A preventive method rather than a corrective one was recommended.

Hard at Work

The flavor of old-time minstrel days permeates the air of Arlington Heights right now.

The entire cast of the PTA minstrel show is rehearsing every Sunday. The production will be complete with black-face comedians, Mr. Interlocutor, dancing groups, a quartet known as the Crosley Brothers and the Mother-Teacher chorus billed as the Dixie-Belles.

AMONG THE attractions are Mrs. B. L. Gaber, chairman of the show, and Mrs. Richard Down who will do a song and dance routine. Incidentally, Mrs. Down's husband, Dick, will have everyone hilarious with his antics as the "Skipping Man."

Make plans now to be on hand for the minstrel show at Miner school Thursday and Friday nights, April 24 and 25. (A

Wegren Funeral Set for Saturday

Funeral services will be held in Arlington Heights Saturday for Elmer F. Wegren, 53, of 712 N. Chestnut, whose death March 29 was ruled a suicide by coroner's jury.

The jury's verdict following testimony at an inquest held in Arlington Heights Monday was "suicide, while despondent over ill health."

A DOCTOR'S report listed the cause of death as carbon monoxide poisoning.

Police Sgt. Oscar E. Johnson testified that Wegren's wife Adeline found her husband slumped in the front seat of the car parked in the garage when she returned from a shopping trip shortly after 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

Sgt. Johnson said one end of a vacuum cleaner hose was attached to a rear tailpipe of the auto, with the other end on the garage floor. A right rear window of the auto was open. Efforts of 2 neighbors, Walter K. Landmeier, 702 N. Chestnut, and Arthur G. Martens, 711 N. Chestnut, and the fire department inhalator squad failed to revive the victim. He was pronounced dead at 12:05 p.m.

WEGREN, A veteran employee of Illinois Bell Telephone company, had lived in the village 28 years and was to retire soon.

Survivors, in addition to his wife, include sons Elmer W., Des Plaines, and Wayne Franklin, a soldier stationed in Korea; a brother, Edward, and 2 sisters, Mrs. Ethel Wilson and Mrs. Elsie Erler.

The Rev. Luther V. Stephan will officiate at the funeral at 3 p.m. Saturday at Black's Memorial home. Burial will be at Memory Gardens cemetery. (A Corinne Clemmons celebrated her fourth birthday March 25 with immediate family attending. She is the daughter of Sy and Rose Clemmons, 906 Dryden.

Enjoying dinner out Thursday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Henry and son, 834 Hickory. The occasion was a celebration in honor of Selma's birthday.

Saturday the John Andersons, 922 Dryden, entertained members of their family in honor of John's birthday.

An 11th wedding anniversary was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. George Lalish, 830 Dryden, March 22. They attended a party in their honor at Glenview, with seven other couples. The following day George and Ruth entertained both sides of their family at dinner.

PARENTS OF their third child, a boy, James Allen, are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Leisten, 1003 Haddow. The baby was born March 26 in Swedish Covenant hospital, Chicago, weighing 6 pounds. James has a brother, Tommy, and a sister, Mary Ann.

It's a boy for Mr. and Mrs. William B. Main, 918 Beverly. Delivered at home by his father and a neighbor, Peggy Kaminski, Martin was born March 29 and weighed 8 pounds 6 ounces. Mother and son were taken to St. Joseph hospital, Elgin, where both are in fine condition. The Mains have 2 other children, a boy and a girl.

DAVID KIRCHNER, son of the Kenneth Kirchners, 904 Frederick, was ill over the weekend with the 3-day measles.

Claudia Drake, 5, daughter of the Harry B. Drakes, 908 E. Frederick, is feeling fine after being ill with mumps. Her brother, Steven, who celebrated his third birthday March 22, is ill with mumps.

Joyce and Joanne Kuenstler, ages 4½ and 1½, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kuenstler, 951 Haddow, are recovering from the measles. Joanne also had tonsilitis at the same time.

Roddy, Bob and Roger (Bugs) Marsh, children of the Walter Marshes, 918 Dryden, were ill last week with mumps. Adding insult to injury, Richard, another son, developed measles this week.

TONY AND KIT Mogytych, 818 Dryden, had a visit Sunday from Kit's cousin, Urbie Lonzo and family. Mr. Lonzo has a mink farm in Kenosha.

Janet Lee Broderick, daughter of the Gerald Brodericks, 917 Frederick, spent the weekend with her cousin, Billie Jean Larocco, in Lake in the Hills, Algonquin.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nelson, 817 Hickory, attended the christening of their 8-week-old grandson, Michael Chase, Sunday in the Presbyterian Church of Arlington Heights. Michael's mother is the former Bonnie Nelson.

Valerie Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Page, 1006 Hickory, was confirmed Palm Sunday in St. John Church of Christ, Arlington Heights.

FORMER NEIGHBORS, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kuntsman and family are welcomed back. They recently moved to Arlington Heights from California and are now at home at their former residence, 906 Hickory.

Rita Turner, 901 Frederick, was hostess Thursday at the monthly meeting of the Frederick-Dryden st. card club. Refreshments were served afterwards.

The monthly Douglas st. block meeting was held Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hartwig, 1013 Douglas. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

The evening of Palm Sunday found Mrs. Pat Kuenstler, 951 Haddow, singing with the senior choir of Nebo Lutheran church, Chicago. Presented was DuBois' "Seven Last Words".

The fashion show given by the Junior Women's League March 25 was attended en masse by Marilyn Anderson, Ruth Lalish, Mary Kirchner, Ethyl Menefee, Roberta Munson and Janet Broderick. Afterwards the ladies met at Marilyn's house for cake and coffee and discussion of the "sack look." (A

Don McNeil Musicians Like Arlington Heights

With the recent arrival in Arlington Heights of the George Jean family, formerly of Niles, the number of Don McNeil Breakfast Club musicians residing in this area was swelled to six. Five make their homes in Arlington Heights, as does the chief engineer for the Breakfast Club show, and one resides in Prospect Heights. An eighth member of the Don McNeil musical cast, Byron Baxter, was a boyhood resident of Arlington Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. Jean moved here March 5 with their two children, Paul, 4, and Jackie May, 2, to join fellow breakfast clubbers Robert Morton, Bill Krenz, Charlie Tamburino, Ralph Davis, Jack Cordaro and Tommy Thomas and their families. As one said in a recent interview, "It's getting easier all the time to get together for a little extra rehearsal—and more fun."

VETERAN of the Breakfast Club musicians is pianist Bill Krenz, 413 Dryden, who started with Don McNeil on the original radio broadcast 25 years ago. Mr. Krenz will have a prominent part in the club's silver anniversary celebration, June 23, as one of the few quarter-century performers with the group. One of the most impressive parts of the club's overall plan to commemorate its 25 years will be the presentation of "The Silent Prayer," a painting of that part of the daily program, being done by Ben Stahl, noted illustrator. Village Board OKs Over-Parking Ban

The village "fathers" of Arlington Heights met Tuesday night in the usual 4½-hour bi-monthly session.

The net result was that they spent some money and came up with a couple of new ways to collect more.

THE BOARD adopted an ordinance authorizing police to impound abandoned vehicles and those that occupy metered-parking spaces for an "unreasonable time."

The village "kitty" will be increased by a minimum of $5 and a maximum of $20 for each violation of the new ordinance. The fines—$5 to $12 for a passenger vehicle and $8 to $20 for trucks and commercial vehicles—represent towing charges to an "authorized garage," designated by the police.

In addition violators will pay storage charges at the "prevailing rate in the metropolitan Chicago area," according to the ordinance.

IF, BY CHANCE, your vehicle is not worth the towing and storage charges you may elect to let the police dispose of it which the ordinance authorizes them to do after 30 days at a public auction. If they can't sell it, it becomes village property after 90 days.

The other revenue measure sets fees for the inspection of home and commercial air conditioning and refrigeration units.

They are: $10 for the first ton or less and $2 for each ton or part in excess of the first.

The fees are based on inspection charges in neighboring communities.

And the board okayed expenditure of some money, too.

The biggest item was approval of the village's regular operating costs, including salary, totalling more than $27 thousand.

OTHER BIG expenditures are coming up. Board is considering bids, opened Tuesday night, for waterworks improvements, remodeling the village hall and rental or purchase of new police cars.

It will cost the village $850 for its annual spring clean-up. That's $50 more than last year but there are more homes in town, it was noted.

Rubbish must be in containers and placed at the curb for pick-up by Laseke co. trucks. Pick-ups will begin May 5 on the southside and a week later on the northside.

BOARD OKAYED paying $460 to a Glencoe firm for the demolition of the 2-story house on the village parking lot at 27 S. State rd.

Village officials had hoped that a contractor would demolish the structure for salvage value without cost to the board. But none were interested. As a matter of fact the village accepted a token payment of $10 from a local couple, involved in the house transaction, for certain fixtures in the house and shrubs.

Another big expense item was more than $7 thousand to a contractor as partial payment for work on deep rock well number 7 on Frederick st.

There was much discussion at the Tuesday night "gabfest" of the proposed $1.25 million town house development on the northside of Foundry rd., east of Dryden pl.

THE PROJECT was turned down by the zoning board and referred to the village board for affirmation.

The developers are appealing the zoning board's rejection. This was the second time it was discussed at a village board meeting and it's due to come up at the next one when the board hopes to have the full transcript of the zoning hearing on which it can base its decision.

Board also accepted the village manager's recommendation to employ 2 more workers in the public works department to meet the increased work load. Their salaries were not specified.

Garden Club Workshop To Make Posters

Members of Arlington Heights Garden club workshop will meet Monday, April 7, at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. E. R. Tierney, 315 W. Modern Ettiquette

Q. Is it necessary for a woman to rise from her chair when acknowledging an introduction?

A. While not considered necessary, it still indicates a more genuine pleasure over the meeting when she does rise.

Q. My husband and I have been invited to a double wedding ceremony. The one couple are very good friends, but the other we know only slightly. Are we obligated to send wedding gifts to both couples?

A. A gift to your very good friends is the only requirement. Of course, a little gift to the other bride would not be improper, but it isn't expected.

Q. How shuold one handle the spoon when partaking of soup?

A. The spoon should, of course, be held in the right hand. It is dipped into the soup with an outward sweep, then taken from the side of the spoon, never from the tip.

Picture Patter

DUCKLINGS? GOSLINGS? This charming miss seems to be wondering as she admires her Easter present.

"Picture Your Easter in Color"

by FRED GAREISS

After the bleaker days of winter, there's really nothing like new Easter finery and fresh Spring flowers to give our lagging spirits a lift. This is the time of year when color reappears on the scene — slipcovers on the furniture, the first Spring foliage and blossoms, pastel sweaters and gay silk prints, bowls of Easter eggs and jelly beans on the coffee table.

Almost everywhere you look these days, the world seems to be putting its best foot forward — which makes it a fine time for you to put color film into your camera. For all of you who're planning a picture record of Easter at your house, color film is a must.

You know how color snapshots or color slides have a wonderful way of bringing back colorful scenes with remarkable realism—how they help you relive every vital detail of a time and place. Well, isn't that the kind of record you'd like to have when you review the pictures you shoot this Eastertime?

Basically, there are 2 kinds of color film — one especially designed for taking color snapshots, and the other for making color slides. No longer a "special-occasion" item created for elaborate cameras, color film now comes in all standard roll film sizes to fit every type of camera that's now on the market.

The new color snapshot film (Kodacolor CU) is a real boon to family picture-takers. It may be used in daylight or with flash without the addition of filters or blue flash bulbs to compensate for the different light. This is the most "care-free" color film ever—just load it into your camera and snap away indoors or out, with flash or without.

You should particularly enjoy using this type of color film for all your Easter shooting. There's not only the colorful Easter Parade itself—there's the Easter Bunny and the treats he brings, egg hunts and parties for the children, visitors on Spring vacation, new pets and blooming plants, the whole family together for Easter dinner.

Be sure to catch not only the highlights but the sidelights, too. Busy little fingers coloring Easter eggs and making fancy party favors—a tug o'war over an Easter basket—a canine culprit caught in the act of removing a chocolate bunny's head—a sleepy tot nodding over a bedtime Peter Rabbit story.

Recommend Revocation of Liquor Licenses

(CNS) — Cook County Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman has recommended that the liquor licenses of two Northwest suburban taverns be revoked.

They are:

—Cookie's Tavern, 3800 Mannheim rd., Leyden township; found guilty of selling liquor to minors on March 19 by Arlington Heights Judge Dahl and fined $50 and $9 cost.

—Gingham Inn, Route 20, Lake st., one mile west of Barrington road, Hanover township; discharged by Rolling Meadows Judge Charles McCormick on March 15 and discharged by Arlington Heights Judge Dahl on March 19 on a charge of selling liquor to minors.

THE RECOMMENDATION was made to Daniel Ryan, president of the county board of commissioners, and to the county liquor control commissioner.

Cookie's Tavern's liquor license is issued to Lloyd L. Pipkorn, 3800 LaGrange rd., Leyden township, and Gingham Inn's liquor license is issued to Grace M. Paule, route 20, Lake st., Hanover township, according to Lohman.

Although the charge of selling liquor to minors was dismissed against the Gingham Inn, Lohman has recommended revocation of its license on the basis of testimony alleging the charge against the tavern. (B8

Q. Is there any rule as to who should make the introductions at an informal home gathering, the host or the hostess?

A. No. Either may do this.

Q. May one write an acknowledgment to a formal invitation in the first person?

A. Never. Inasmuch as the formal invitation is always in the third person, the answer should be the same.

Q. Isn't it all right to use the fingers when eating French-fried potatoes?

A. No; the fork should be used.

SHOW YOUR APPRECIATION

Do not let some cynic delude you. The crowds seeking the churches next Sunday morning will be seeking light on our most important religious question, if a man dies, shall he live again? From the dawn of history man has been asking this question. The religions of earth differ in detail, but they speak with a united voice of hope. You may hear about this next Sunday morning in the Easter service of

APPROVED FUNERAL SERVICE

An Appropriate Funeral Service

. . . is something every family desires, regardless of its circumstances. Years of experience in serving great and small, rich and poor, have taught us just how each service should be conducted and what it should include, thus eliminating criticism which often follows an improperly planned funeral.

HE IS RISEN

"I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also ye are saved . . . how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures.

While they beheld he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight . . . this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven."

THE WORLD'S BEST NEWS

Dead Man Comes To Life!

"No man ever lived after he died," Tom asserted to his friend. "When you're dead, you're dead!"

"How do you know?" asked Frank.

"Of course, anyone could go around claiming that he would come to life again. In fact, there was once a famous doctor in France who did that. Like Jesus, he did miracles of healing, he gathered disciples around him, and said that he would rise again after his death."

"And did he?" Frank asked.

"No, of course not," answered Tom. "He just stayed dead. And his disciples knew it. They never saw him again."

"That's the big difference," Frank pointed out. "Jesus' disciples DID see Him alive again. They knew that their Master was not dead, but alive!"

That is big news. It is the best news the world has ever heard! It is not rumor, but actual fact. Easter is the festival of the Lord who died for our sins and ROSE again.

Come and celebrate this glad day with us. See how it can mean everlasting life for you.

HAPPY EASTER!

THESE 4 MEN will be honored by he Aid Association for Lutherans as they accepted into the president's club for outstanding records in life insurance at the association's convention April 9-14 at the Shoreham hotel in Washington, D. C. General agent Thomas E. Whalen of Park Ridge, seated, discusses the sales record of E. James Dreyer, Wheeling; Henry J. Hasz, Mt. Prospect; and B. Harold Borg, Des Plaines. All 4 have been named to the honor group that includes all those selling more than a half million dollars of insurance in 1 year. Aid Association for Lutherans is America's largest fraternal life insurance organization, and has paid out over $109,965,000 in benefits to members since its founding in 1902. (Miller

WORD STUDY

"Use a word 3 times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Turbulent; being in violent agitation or commotion. "The turbulent river swept madly through the canyon."

Diurnal; daily; recurring every day. (Pronounce die-uhr-nal, accent second syllable). "His diurnal habits are well-known throughout the community."

Primordial; early; first to exist. (Pronounce prie-mohr, dial, accent second syllable). "Much has been learned regarding the primordial man."

Prone; having a natural inclination; disposed. "He is prone to mischief."

Plausibility; the quality or state of seeming likely. "His explanation contained an element of plausibility."

Rhubarb Plus Pork Join to Please Palate

Home-style cooking that has a gourmet look and the taste of superb cuisine . . . that's Pork Chop-Rhubarb Casserole.

This masterful creation brings either rib or loin pork chops into the circle of honor.

REBA STAGGS, home economist and an authority on meat cookery, points out that pork is now plentiful which means it's a good buy. Penny-wise homemakers will be interested in that. Pork has also been acclaimed by researchers and medical people as a good meat choice for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Even weight-watchers are encouraged to include this meat in their menu pattern.

The flavors of the pork and rhubarb blend to give this creation A-1 classification.

Pork Chop-Rhubarb Casserole

6 pork loin or rib chops, cut ¾ to 1 inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 1-pound packages frozen rhubarb, defrosted
2 cups soft bread crumbs
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon cinnamon
4 teaspoons lemon juice

Brown chops in frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Drain rhubarb. Mix toasted bread crumbs and butter or margarine. Combine sugar, flour, cinnamon, lemon juice and rhubarb. Place half of crumbs in bottom of a large casserole, arrange chops on rhubarb. Place remaining rhubarb on chops. Cover tightly and bake in a moderate oven (350 degree F) for 40 minutes. Remove cover and top with remaining crumbs. Bake 10 minutes longer. Yield: 6 servings. (SH

Suburban Housewife Offers An Appealing Cake for Men

MRS. ALFRED RANCKE serves some of her favorite recipe to Mrs. Walter Busch and Mrs. Guy Courtney. Lois Seiler, food editor, lets other suburban housewives "in on" this Mount Prospect cook's secret.

by LOIS SEILER

Men like the appealing and unusual cake we are featuring today.

The recipe for this unique Chocolate Chip Date Cake has been shared with us by Mrs. A. E. Rancke of Mount Prospect.

She recommends serving it as an evening dessert, for the cake makes a hit with both men and women. It is excellent to serve at a bridge club or committee meeting, too.

FINELY CHOPPED dates, as well as cocoa, flavor the batter of this moist, tasty cake.

It is simple to prepare and no frosting is necessary, for the cake is baked with a topping of chocolate chips and chopped nuts. When cool, it may be sprinkled with confectioner's sugar.

A tip that will be helpful in the preparation of this cake: use scissors moistened with cold water to cut the dates in small pieces. This is much simpler than chopping them with a knife.

Mrs. Rancke has received many requests for this cake recipe, and it is one we think you'll enjoy trying, too.

THE RANCKES live at 307 We-Go Trail in Mt. Prospect. They have three children: Betty, 6½, Pamela, 5, and Cynthia, 18 months.

Mrs. Rancke is publicity chairman for both the PTA and the Mt. Prospect Center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago.

Chocolate Chip Date Cake

1 small package dates, cut fine
1 teapsoon baking soda
1 cup hot water
1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
2 unbeaten eggs
1¾ cups all-purpose flour, sifted
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 small package chocolate chips
½ cup chopped walnuts

Mix the dates, baking soda and hot water together.

Cream the butter and sugar well. Beat in the eggs and add date mixture.

Sift the flour and cocoa together and add to batter.

Pour dough into greased, 9 by 13 cake tin. Sprinkle the chocolate chips and chopped nuts over the top of the batter.

Bake 40 to 45 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Serves 12. (SH

County Agrees on Program To Collect Delinquent Tax

(CNS) — A program to step up the collection of delinquent real estate taxes in Cook county was agreed upon last Thursday at a tax-official conference in the state's attorney's office.

Those attending included State's Attorney Benjamin S. Adamowski, County Board President Daniel Ryan, and the county board's 5-man delinquent tax foreclosure committee, headed by Commissioner Frank Bobrytzke.

The new feature to the existing program is that involuntary foreclosure sales will be sought by the board's tax committee and the state's attorney's office.

HERETOFORE MOST foreclosure action has been on a voluntary basis where the owner of a tax delinquent property or his representative agrees that if the property is put up for sale, he will bid not less than an agreed amount in settlement of all unpaid taxes for 1946 and prior years, and pay all taxes and full penalties for taxes owed since 1946.

Commissioner Bobrytzke reported that since December 1, beginning of the county's present fiscal year, his committee has processed 4,932 parcels of real estate on which the owners paid $954,188, which is 47.8 per cent of the principal tax due for 1946 and prior years. In addition, the owners paid $1,784,470, the full amount of the taxes and all penalties owed on the properties since 1946.

"THE COMMITTEE is doing fine work but we should step up the program by ordering to sale delinquent properties, whether the owner wishes to bid or not," said Ryan.

Edmund J. Brennan, director of the county's department of central services, reported that 150,734 parcels of real estate in Cook county are tax delinquent.

Of the delinquent parcels, 83,150 are in the 30 suburban townships and 67,584 in Chicago. The total amount of their delinquencies has not been computed, but would run into tens of millions of dollars, officials said. Some unpaid taxes date back to the late 1890's.

WHEN A PARCEL is ordered to involuntary sale by a court, upon the application of the state's attorney, public notice of the impending sale is advertised, and the property auctioned to the highest bidder. Under the law, however, the original owner has 2 years from sale date in which to redeem his property by paying the successful bidder the full amount of the bid, plus interest at the rate of 12 per cent for every 6 months intervening before redemption.

The tax committee, it was agreed, will continue with the voluntary method, but the officials present expressed belief that the involuntary sale will scare many people into settling their tax delinquencies.

Under the involuntary program 18 test parcels will be sold at public auction in the County building May 8, it was announced. (B8

One Way to Cut Your Meat Budget

If you, like the rest of us, are struggling to hold on to your resolutions to tighten up on the household budget, you might consider some of the following tips on how to cut down on your meat bills.

Your home freezer, and one of the new meat tenderizers together can be a big help in turning low-cost cuts into tender roasts. Actually, only 22 per cent of the meat from a side of beef can be cooked by dry heat; the other 78 per cent are generally braised.

YOU CAN BROIL or roast cuts like round, rump, blade, flank, or arm steaks; roast rolled shoulder boned chuck, and panbroil stew meat and short ribs by tenderizing and freezing. To tenderize meat for freezing, sprinkle a meat tenderizer on all surfaces of the meat for freezing, sprinkle a meat tenderizer on all surfaces of the meat — sides, top and bottom — as you would use salt (about one-half teaspoon per pound) and eliminate the use of salt entirely. Pierce deeply all surfaces at one-inch intervals with a fork. Let steak cuts stand at room temperature 30 to 40 minutes; thicker cuts and roasts an hour.

If you haven't a freezer, consides the new upright "bookshelf" type of home freezer that puts all foods at your finger tips. The upright freezer takes up no more room than a refrigerator. In fact, many homemakers are finding the solution to home food preservation in matching a freezer to their refrigerators.

Package together enough meat for one meal, cut to fit the family's needs. Be sure to use moisture-vaporproof paper recommended for freezing. Place the meat in the center of the sheet of freezer wrapping paper, bring the sides together, and make a druggist's fold. Draw the paper tightly to the meat. Fold in both ends of the paper to make a good tight wrap. It's important to get the wrappings smooth and close so as to eliminate all air. It insures better keeping qualities and takes up less space in the freezer. Tie or seal with locker tape and freeze immediately.

At Jewel you get your choice of quality ham. There's a Jewel ham just the right size for your family and just the right price for your pocketbook. Here's how to choose a Jewel ham custom-cut for your Easter dinner:

FOR ECONOMY . . . the flavorful shank or butt piece from a short-shanked smoked ham is your best buy.

FOR QUICKER COOKING . . . select either the full butt half or the thrifty full shank half from a short-shanked "ready-to-eat" smoked ham. Jewel always leaves the succulent center cuts in this small ham—cuts ham slices only from the larger smoked hams.

FOR EASIER CARVING . . . boneless canned ham carves into uniform slices—you just bake and serve.

Local Businessman Sees Nike-Ajax in 'Action'

A Prospect Heights businessman has a little more respect for the Central rd. Nike installations than does the average suburbanite.

Joseph Schneller, 701 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights, president of the Prospect Heights Businessmen's association, was one of 10 business and finance leaders invited to view the annual service practice firings of the 86th Anti-aircraft Artillery Missile (Nike) battallion at Red Canyon, New Mexico, March 18-20.

The 86th has its headquarters in Arlington Heights at the Central rd. site.

SCHNELLER'S TRIP was in connection with the army's "Operation Understanding," designed to acquaint civic leaders with capabilities and complexities of the air defense weapons system and to provide opportunity to actually see troops in action.

Maj. Gen. Sam C. Russell, commanding general of the US Army Air Defense center at Fort Bliss, Texas, was host at a reception in honor of the 10 visiting civic leaders.

Accompanying the group was Brig. Gen. Peter Schmick, commanding general of the 45th Anti-aircraft Artillery Brigade, which serves the Chicago metropolit an area and has its headquarters in Arlington Heights.

SCHNELLER SAYS he viewed the tests with a sense of awe, as he realized the power and potential of the missile, which hasn't scratched the surface of the future.

"As a veteran of World War II, I can see how modern development and science have erased everything of past experience in warfare," the furniture dealer exclaimed. "World War II strategy is completely outmoded. For example, one missile can do more damage than hundreds of cannons all firing at once."

Schneller repoorts that he was impressed with the high caliber of man in the missile field. "They are intelligent and well educated," he informed.

Discussing his experience, Schneller stated, "The trip made me proud to be an American, and proud of America's defense setup." (B8

Finds Pageantry in Mexican Bullfight

by STUART R. PADDOCK

Every person who goes to Mexico may not witness a bull fight, but this curious editor did so two weeks ago.

We found it a national festival and a display of pageantry far beyond our expectation.

It is a national pastime in the country to the south of us and every Sunday, promptly at 4 p.m., finds thousands of eager enthusiasts filling the amphitheatre. This is one activity that starts on time and not "manana."

WE WERE accompanied by a Mexican citizen whom we had met at the 11 a.m. national symphony concert. His explanations and enthusiasm made it possible for us to tell our readers the intricacies in this sport that draw crowds comparative to the football games in the United States.

The leading actor, the bull, has had the first four years of his life living off the fat of the land; the last 15 minutes in mortal combat.

The Mexicans consider bullfighting as an art, having its roots far back in history and comparable to the ballet or to a solemn ritual dance. It is part of the breath of life for the Latins and if you want to understand the Latin temperament a person should try to understand what it is that can get an entire nation so passionately aroused.

THE MATADOR who displays the greatest dexterity in footwork receives the "ole" of the 30,000 people in attendance, the same as music lovers will applaud a concert in the U.S.

The "referee" or "judge" is in a high box and transmits his orders to the fighters by means of a bugle or drums.

The event opens with a parade of participants, including the metadors of the day, the picadors, banderilleros, the assisting peons and the horses. The parade is led by a horseman clad in a black dress of the days of King Philip II of Spain.

The bulls are the noble tragedians, whose death is the central figure of the afternoon. They have been tested for their bravery in charging, but they have never before fought a man. They are in prime physical condition, a strict regulation, average weight is 1100 pounds.

As each bull is loosened into the ring, its stable colors are pinned onto its back which does not improve its temper. As it comes galumphing into the sunlight, it is a very dangerous and intelligent fighting animal, quick to learn and to think out a plan of campaign.

MOST MATADORS have been through several years of very strenuous and painful training before reaching their present position on the afternoon's program; they may have had to endure grinding poverty, many severe wounds, and to have the tenacity to see it through, learning their art the hard way—and there are few who do not bear livid scars all over their bodies.

Most of them are extremely nervous at this stage in the day—they are desperately anxious to do well, and in order to earn 50,000 pesos, they have contracted to kill two bulls, making at least one trip over the horns of the bull to make the kill in the prescribed manner.

They have a team of helpers, known as the cuadrilla, which consists of two or more peons, or assistants with capes, banderilleros who may place the darts; two picadors, mounted men, and allendores who do not appear in the ring, but can be seen running anxiously around the narrow passage-way, between the barrers seats and the wooden fence. They carry capes, swords and water with which to make the fighting cape heavier in case of wind.

The bull fight is divided into three distinct stages known as tercios, the first of which is designed to prepare the bull for killing. Before the third stage is reached the bull has been learning to concentrate its attention and energy on one particular enemy instead of on anybody or anything moving.

Two picadors ride into the ring, keeping close to the fence; their horses are padded and blindfolded, and the men have their right legs encased in steel armor. This is perhaps the most distasteful stage of the fight for many people, because they have heard about the sufferings of horses, and because the bull seems to come in for some pretty rough treatment. In point of fact, the horses very rarely get hurt, and so long as they can feel the man in control of them, they do not get panicky.

EACH PICADOR is armed with a long hickory wood lance which has on its end a small steel spike; the actual pic at the end which enters the bull's flesh is no more than two centimeters, and the object is to reduce the use of the hump of muscle on the bull's neck, so that it will keep its head lowered.

Otherwise it could not be killed in the prescribed manner.

That afternoon three of the horses were thrown off their feet.

It sometimes takes quick action to save the life of a rider. The three matadors in the ring use their capes to draw the bull away from the horse.

Each matador in order of seniority takes his turn at showing what he can do with the cape, but the matador who is to kill the bull is responsible for directing the proceedings. Frequently the horns of the bull tear away the cape and sometimes the sword from a matador.

THE SECOND TERCIO has now been reached, and this is very pretty to watch. Three pairs of light, gaily-colored wooden darts have to be placed in the bull's shoulders, marking the spot where the sword will later be placed.

There are various techniques; some men will let the bull chase them before turning and neatly planting the first pair of darts; others prefer to get it over as quickly as possible as it is a highly dangerous maneuver, the bull being induced to charge close enough to the man for him to be able to reach over the deadly horns; the shock of the darts checks the bull just sufficiently to allow the man to swerve clear and to run for safety.

A good banderillero will raise his arms high, so drawing the bull's horns nearer to him, and he will place the darts close together so that they just hook into the hide and hang down. They should never be placed in the wound made by the pics as this causes unnecessary pain to the bull and serves no useful purpose. It should be borne in mind that everything done in the ring is intended solely to tire the bull and prepare it for the formal killing; the idea is not simply to "bait" the bull, or cause it unnecessary pain.

When the third pair of darts has been placed the trumpets sound a solemn melody for the death of the bull, and the most important part of the fight begins.

The matador must at all costs dominate the animal with the scarlet cloth. Every pass he gives is for this purpose, and he aims to get the bull "fixed" with its head down and its front feet together, thus opening its shoulders for the final sword thrust.

WHEN THE MATADOR is satisfied that he can make the attempt, he will draw back, and profiling himself sideways toward the bull, he will aim the sword directly over the horns and toward the shoulder blades. The bull should be standing with front feet together and head down.

This is the most critical moment of the whole affair, known as "The Moment of Truth;" anything can happen and the bull now has its best and last chance to get the man. If it is properly dominated it will follow the muleta as it crosses the man's body; at the same instant the man lunges over the right horn and thrusts in the sword. When it is correctly placed it will kill the bull in a very few moments.

If the bull has put up a good fight it is honored by having its body drawn around the ring. The matador who has displayed great agility is awarded the ears and the tail of the bull he has just killed.

He, in turn, walks around the ring bowing and raising the ears and tail high in the air. It is at this point that the audience acknowledges the prowess he has displayed by throwing their hats, blouses and coats into the ring.

Only One Precinct to Use Old Style Paper Ballots

The voting machines which will be used in next week's primary are simple to operate.

They will not only prevent any spoiled ballots, but will simplify the work of the judges and clerks.

Voters of one precinct, Wheeling No. 31, will use paper ballots.

For the convenience of the voters this week, the several Cook county editions of Paddock Publications contain maps showing the precinct boundaries of Palatine, Wheeling and Elk Grove townships. The boundaries in Schaumburg and Hanover townships are only described.

The polls open at 6 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

BEFORE THE VOTER enters the voting machine booth he must make known to the election officer the political party in which he is enrolled.

A judge of election must then pull out as far as it will go the primary knob for that particular political party. This sets the machine so that the voter can only vote for candidates appearing on that party's ballot.

The voter then enters the booth and moves the large red hand lever from its left position to the extreme right position which closes the curtains. He can now vote for the candidates of his choice appearing on the party's ballot. He cannot vote in any other party nor can he vote for more than the number of candidates to be nominated for any one office.

THE PRIMARY law contains many restrictions covering the date a voter has registered, and when he can vote by affidavit. It definitely disfranchises a person who has voted another political party within 23 months preceding the calendar month in which the present primary is being held.

Operation of the voting machine is comparatively easy because there are few offices for which there are more than the number of candidates to be nominated.

In the Republican column, the only opposition is for the offices of state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction, state senator (in senatorial district 30; none in district 4) and county sheriff.

In the Democratic column, the only contests are for representative for Congress, state central committeeman, state representative and for member of the county board.

A VOTER CAN GIVE a single candidate for state representative three votes, or one and one-half votes. (The names of the candidates appear twice on the machine giving the voter that privilege).

There are four candidates for the three positions on the county board of school trustees. Three are to be elected, but no more than one can serve from the same congressional township.

Summer Typing Classes Slated

Registrations have been accepted for several weeks for the summer typing class for eighth grade graduates to be offered at Arlington high school beginning June 16.

There are 3 sections being offered, one at 8 a.m., one at 9:30 a.m., and one at 11 a.m., each meeting for one and one-half hours. At present there are some openings in each section, and students registering may choose the hour they will attend as long as openings remain in each section.

THIRTY STUDENTS can be accommodated at each hour, and it is expected that all sections will fill within the next few weeks. The courses are open to all residents of the school district who will be graduating from any eighth grade class. The tuition fee of $20 is payable upon registration. The high school office is open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., or students may enroll by mail.

The principals of each grade school in the high school district have information on the course. (ACM

Luncheon To Feature Panel Talk

A panel discussion on "Youth Who Serve" will be featured at the luncheon meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the First Methodist church, Arlington Heights, next Tuesday afternoon.

Participating on the panel are members of the youth fellowship of the church: Ricky Johnston, Ronald Conrad, Joan Keppen, Pamela Huntley, and Jim Knopp. Moderator of the discussion will be Rev. Hayes F. Fletcher, associate minister. A choral reading entitled "What Is Adolescence" will conclude this portion of the program.

SOME INSTRUMENTAL winners of the district music contest held recently will perform. They will compete in state competition at Peoria April 18. Participating Tuesday afternoon will be Judy Schmoher, cellist; a clarinet quartette comprising Carol Cooke, Barbara Fromm, Lois Lippold, and Alan Feige; and a string trio with Susan Anderson, violinist, Yvonne Craig, pianist, and Judy Schmoyer, cellist, as members.

Luencheon will be served at 12:45 p.m. (AMKPh

New Wheeling Township Building Is Authorized

Twenty electors attending the Wheeling township annual meeting Tuesday afternoon authorized the purchase, or erection of a Wheeling township building. The resolution authorizing such action limited the cost to $75,000.

The township has received notice cancelling its lease of the present quarters used for township administrative purposes in the Kelling building, Arlington Heights.

THE NEW QUARTERS would be used by all of the township officers and provide a court room for hearings of cases handled by the justices of the peace.

Previous to the action, the financial report of Supervisor Klehm showed a cash balance of $84,000 in the township operating fund. Last year's receipts included $54,000 from excess township collector's fees. After paying all of the town expenses, there was a profit of $20,000. There has not been a township tax since 1949 and none is anticipated in future years.

A tax levy for relief purposes of $10,000 was authorized A total of $6,000 was expended for that purpose last year. Klehm stated the new levy is needed as a precaution against an increase in relief demands because of present recession.

THE ELECTORS accepted the reports of the supervisor and the thistle commissioner, who expended $312 last year.

William Weber acted as moderator.

The financial reports accepted will be published in detail next week. (ACM

News Of Prospect Meadows

The men's association will meet April 10 in Chuck Durec's basement.

Lynn, Dick and Cathy Coopmans spent Sunday afternoon with Dick's mother, Mrs. Marie Coopmans. The foursome were guests of Premo Mucci of Evanston for dinner.

Rita and Chuck Durec and family were also visiting his mother, Mrs. Jaworowski of Chicago, Sunday afternoon. They celebrated Mrs. Jaworowski's birthday.

Saturday Shirley and Bob Dittmer and children drove to Clinton, Wis. to visit Shirley's brother who was celebrating his birthday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Oest own a farm there.

CONDOLENCES ARE extended to Jinny and Jack Richardson on the death of Jinny's father.

Betty and Dick Halabrir were guests for dinner and an evening of pinochle Saturday at the River Forest home of Mr. and Mrs. Heinz Huebner.

Sunday Betty Halabrin bowled with Mrs. Arlene Mumm and later Betty's whole family dined with the Mumms at their home in Des Plaines.

Charlene and George Hampe and children visited at Round Lake Sunday afternoon and evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Schultz and family.

Nora Roths, Anne Incinelli and Ethel Larson were among those present at a card party held at the home of Mrs. Lucille Swanson of Des Plaines Monday.

Marcia Kazen celebrated her eighth birthday Saturday with an ice cream and cake party at her home for small friends from the Meadows. In the evening Marcia entertained her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Mazure; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mazure, Mr. and Mrs. James Lapsin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zettek, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Zahn, all from Chicago; Elmwood Park guests, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Dembeski; and Stanley Bolit from Mt. Prospect.

ETHEL LARSON was among those present at the installation of Arimathea shrine, Des Plaines, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Haas of that city were installed worthy high priestess and watchman of shepherds. Several family members took part in the ceremonies. Guy and Gail Kammerer, great grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Haas escorted them to their places and Gail presenfed her grandmother with a bouquet of flowers. Linda Larson recited 'Ode to the Flag' and Ethel's cousin, Dorothy LaCerra, sang during the ceremonies. An aunt, Mrs. Mae Danielson was guest of honor.

After Paul Leonhardt Jr. was confirmed Palm Sunday in St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran church, Arlington Heights, his parents gave a party for him with a dinner at El Rando restaurant. After dinner the guests came back to the Meadows to visit and a buffet supper was served. Among the 20 guests present were Paul's cousin, Miss Carolyn Poole of New York City, and his aunt, Miss Ida Zimmermann of Milwaukee. Miss Zimmermann arrived Saturday for the confirmation ceremonies and spent the weekend. Miss Poole will stay for a week's vacation.

ANNE INCINELLI'S brother, Andrew Kempf of Chicago, his wife, Marie, and daughter, Nancy, visited in the Meadows Sunday afternoon.

Sunday Mary Jane and John Norris and family visited in Elmhurst at the home of John's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Norris, for the afternoon.

Velma and John Sage attended the annual Square Dance Jamboree Saturday night at South school, Arlington Heights.

A former White Sox pitcher and his wife, Lois and Marv Rotblatt of Chicago visited Kay and Art Sepke Thursday evening. Art and Mary used to play ball together. Friday Jean Tiedmond attended a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Saveria Poduska in Arlington Heights, in celebration of Mrs. Alviria DeMet's birthday.

The Tiedmonds were among 5 couples who went roller skating at the Hub skating rink in Chicago Saturday night. Afterwards, they enjoyed a late supper at Gunnell's.

Mr. and Mrs. William Leseberg of Itasca spent a day visiting Pearl and Ed Moeller.

KAY AND BOB Wehrheim played cards and visited with Lynn and Lou Nye of Arlington Heights Saturday night.

Sunday visitors at Dolores and Gene Wielontek's were his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schultz of Chicago.

Mrs. Myrtle Stickrod and Kay and Jim Wilson went to Chicago for dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stickrod, to celebrate the first birthday of their daughter, Kimberley Ann. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stickrod and daughter, JoAnne, of Skokie.

Joan and Bob Wilson enjoyed an evening of bridge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Stueland of Elmhurst Saturday night.

Bob Webber celebrated his 11th birthday Tuesday. He entertained Kenny Johnson, Tommy Seymour, Tommy Hemesath and Bruce Blim for dinner at a restaurant in Des Plaines. His brother, who is home from Beloit college, and Pat Brownell of Mt. Prospect were among the guests. The party continued at the Webber home with ice cream, cake and games.

Larry Webber was in Beloit over the weekend, spending some time with friends from the Phi Psi fraternity. (AM

High School Board Election April 12

High school district 214's board of education will have at least one new face as a result of the April 12 election. Three vacancies will be filled from 4 candidates, only 2 of which are present members of the 7 man board.

Seeking reelection are John Kappa, Biesterfield rd., Elk Grove township, and Daryl Oldaker, 405 Can-Dota, Mt. Prospect. Other candidates are Orville Rumrey, 2305 Wilke rd., Rolling Meadows, and Dr. Keith Wurtz, 1308 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

VOTING WILL take place at 14 polling places in the high school district, from noon to 7 p.m. School board members serve without pay for 3 year terms.

Kappa is seeking a second 3 year term on the board. Operator of the K and K Novelty Distributorship, the Elk Grove resident is the father of 4 children. His oldest, Susan, is a freshman at Prospect high school. A veteran of World War II and an active member of the VFW, Kappa's specialty has been the education committee for the high school board. He and his wife have lived in this area for 10 years, moving to the Midwest from Pennsylvania.

Oldaker has served as chairman of the building committee since joining the board 2 years ago. He was first appointed and then elected to fill an unexpired term last April.

THE MT. PROSPECT resident has a law degree from the State University of Iowa and is an attorney for International Harvester in Chicago. He and his wife lived in this area for 15 years and have 3 children. One daughter is a college student, having graduated from Arlington high. The Oldakers also have a son who is a junior at Arlington and a daughter in the sixth grade.

As building chairman, Oldaker supervised construction of Prospect high school.

Rumrey hopes to become the board's first member from Rolling Meadows. An assistant cashier at the Citizens' Bank and Trust co. in Des Plaines, Rumrey and his wife have 3 children, one a sophomore at Arlington high. The 42 year old candidate and his family have lived in this area for 4 years, hailing originally from Aberdeen, South Dakota.

DR. WURTZ, who originally intended to become a teacher, holds a bachelor's degree from River Ralls State Teachers college, an M.D. from Northwestern's medical school, and an M.S. in pathology from Northwestern. He and his wife, also a doctor, have lived in the Arlington area for 3 years and have 2 infants, aged 15 months and 3 months.

Before entering the medical profession, Dr. Wurtz taught at a small high school in Wisconsin. The 37 year old surgeon has been active in various medical groups and the American Cancer society. (ACM

Parent-Child Cana Conference Is Set

"Children are as good — or as bad — as the parents who raise them" is the theme of the Cana conference to be held April 13 at St. James church in Arlington Heights.

MARRIED COUPLES attending this conference will examine their own attitudes and behavior, in an effort to better understand that of their children.

Leading the discussion will be one of the 35 specially trained priests who assist in the Chicago Archdiocese's program of marriage education. This Cana program has been termed one of the country's most effective in marriage education, by leading authorities, among them, Judge Samuel Liebowitz of the Brooklyn Court of Appeals, one of the country's foremost experts on juvenile delinquency.

BOTH CATHOLIC and non-Catholic couples are welcome at St. James conference, which opens at 1 p.m. The atmosphere is informal and audience questions are welcomed. A luncheon of ham, potato salad, cake and coffee will be served, so reservations are necessary. These can be made by calling Norb and Jane Gresey, CL 3-7494, no later than April 9.

General chairmen for the conference are Jim and Rita Butler, Prospect Heights, with the Greseys in charge of reservations. Hospitality arrangements will be handled by Gene and Margaret Schlickman, Arlington Heights; food, Bob and Kathy Schafer, Prospect Heights; coordinating, Ray and Betty Yochem, Arlington Heights; hall arrangements, Anthony and Ann Willow, Arlington Heights; parish literature, Bill and Dolores Schell, Prospect Heights.

Couples are all members of the Christian Family movement.

Play Benefit For New Church

As part of its policy of being a true community service organization, Village Theatre Inc. has delegated its May 1 performance of "Teahouse of the August Moon" as a fund raising project for St. Simon Episcopal church. Sponsored by the woman's auxiliary, proceeds of that evening will be turned over to the church's building fund.

The new mission church was organized on September 22, 1957, and has grown rapidly, now having a full Sunday school program, choir and woman's auxiliary. Officers of the latter group include: Mrs. Charles Rezner, president; Mrs. F. G. Suhr, vice-president; Mrs. J. H. Dowling, secretary, and Mrs. Kenneth Olsen, treasurer.

TICKETS FOR the benefit night of the play may be obtained from any member of the church or from the ticket chairman, Mrs. William R. Gard, 336 S. Windsor, Clearbrook 5-0339.

Village Theatre box office, Clearbrook 3-4314, may be called from 1:30 to 3 daily for reservations for the May 2 or May 3 performances in the Prospect High theatre. Seats are also on sale at Westgate Furniture, "My Place" restaurant and The Beauty Bar. (ACM

Invite Charities To Join Appeal

The chairman of an Arlington Heights neighborhood United Fund drive has asked heads of organized charity drives to contact him regarding their participation in next year's fund campaign.

Ray MacDonald, 827 Burton, chairman of the united drive in Scarsdale Estates, said the neighborhood association, sponsor of the drive, will consider admission of new organizations to the 1959 drive.

SEVEN organizations were included in the first such campaign held this year. More than 75 per cent of the subdivision's families donated to it. Results were: March of Dimes received 21 per cent more than during a door-to-door solicitation last year, Girl Scouts collected 45 per cent more.

The Cancer society fund received the largest sum, Heart fund second and Red Cross third. Family Service was supported by about half of the families.

Each family may specify the organization to which its donation will go. (A

Wedgewood Terrace

Recipients of the Easter hams given away by Wedgewood Improvement association Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Haapoja, Mr. and Mrs. Krizek, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt, Mr. and Mrs. James Sailer, Mr. and Mrs. Wemheuer, all of Wedgewood; Paul Alongi, Niles motel; Marge Shervey, Prospect Heights; Jack Young, Lincolnwood; E. Hahn and J. P. Pettitti of Chicago.

The Easter egg hunt for all children of the subdivision will be held at the park, 10:30 a.m., Saturday. It has been decided that children of one year through first grade actually look and hunt for the eggs, but every child at the park will receive an Easter basket. In case of rain, the hunt will be cancelled and the baskets delivered to the home.

JUNE HOUSE and Dolores Kwiecinski plan to take the Brownie course during April, which will enable girls of Wedgewood in second, third and fourth grade to register in September for brownie training and the formation of a troop in Wedgewood. Mothers of youngsters in this age group who are interested should contact June or Dolores, for, although the troop will not meet until September, it is hoped that trips can be planned for the summer months.

Joe and Evelyn Warisman, previous residents of Wedgewood, were here for the weekend, staying with the Cisewskis. The 2 couples, together with Mr. and Mrs. Keppen of Arlington Heights, celebrated a happy reunion at Chevy Chase country club Saturday evening and called on friends in Wedgewood the following day.

As a reminder to residents, Monday, April 7, the Improvement association meets at the home of John Revus. The following day, April 8 the Triangle club meets at the home of Anita Sailer. (AM

Bids for Cleaning Of Creek Are Lower

(CNS) — The asking price has dropped for cleaning out Weller Creek along its 2.7 mile course through Mt. Prospect between Arlington Heights and Des Plaines.

Bids were opened Thursday for the second time by the Metropolitan Sanitary District. The apparent low bid of $208,860 was submitted by Brautigan Co. It is $15,750 under the low bid of $224,610 that was rejected as too high by the sanitary district March 6.

THE DISTRICT has $150,000 appropriated in its 1958 budget for the project. Bids opened Thursday will be tabulated for a report.

After a contract is awarded, the contractor will have 30 days in which to get started, said Horace P. Ramey, chief engineer, and a total of 180 days or 6 months to complete the job.

The project has 3 phases:

1. Cleaning out all of the Weller Creek bed in Mt. Prospect.
2. Connecting the sanitary district's interceptor sewer system with Arlington Heights sewers the district recently acquired. This involves putting in about 100 feet of pipe.
3. Cleaning out the 2,800 feet of sewers the district took over in Arlington Heights.

UNDER TERMS of a settlement worked out last year with Arlington Heights, the district agreed to pay for this work and also gave the village $350,000 for its sewers and flowage rights. In return, Arlington Heights dropped its lawsuit to get out of the district.

Dredging Weller Creek in Mt. Prospect is necessary to clear blockage conditions so the sanitary district system will work properly.

The creek will be dredged to restore the width at its bottom to 12 feet. Depth of the creek varies from 10 to 15 feet. At the top of its banks, the creek is more than 60 feet wide at some points.

ONCE THIS PROJECT is underway, sanitary district officials have said they'd be willing to discuss a program for cleaning out the section of the creek in Des Plaines with officials of the city.

Any talks must include officials of the Weller Creek Drainage District which has control over the creek. (ACM

Dionne Quintuplets

The Dionne quintuplets were born May 28, 1934 at Callender, Ontario.

12 Years Required

The states, Ohio and Utah, require school attendance through the 12th year.

Q. Is it proper always to present a young man to a much older man?

A. Yes. This can be done by mentioning the older man's name first, as, "Mr. Gordon (the older man), this is Mr. Kroger."

Q. When addressing an envelope to 2 unmarried sisters, should it be written as "The Misses Brown," or as "Miss Jane Brown and Miss Anne Brown?"

A. "The Misses Brown" is sufficient.

State's Teachers, Rooms Exceed National Average

Illinois elementary and secondary schools top the national average on the basis of two important measurements — the ratio of pupils to teachers and pupils to classrooms.

A study made by the American Can Co., which sells millions of paper cups annually to schools, shows that the state has a teacher for every 24 students and an instruction room for every 27.5. The national averages are 26.2 pupils per teacher and 28.5 per classroom.

IN LATE 1957 the state had an estimated 1,600,000 pupils, 66,300 teachers and 58,100 classrooms.

The nation's highest ratings were in South Dakota, which has a teacher and a classroom for every 18 students.

C. F. Sullivan, Dixie cup division school sales manager, said the study was based on data from the U. S. department of health, education and welfare.

"The school age population, from 5 to 17 years, inclusive, is growing at a rate twice as fast as the total population," he said. "This presents school officials with a tremendous problem of building up teaching staffs and physical facilities.

"IT ALSO emphasizes the necessity for operating school plants at peak efficiency a requirement that is being filled better and better each year by school boards and administrators. More schools, for instance, now are using paper service for meals. Thus, they avoid heavy expenditures for dishwashing and other equipment; save important space which frequently can be used for teaching, and eliminate china and glass breakage costs." (BB

Social Security Return Must be Filed Properly

Self-employed persons filing their social security tax returns for 1957 can save themselves much time, trouble and possible expense by making sure that their Schedule C or F is properly completed. This reminder was issued this week by the northwest district office of the social security administration.

It is very important that the individual show his correct social security number wherever it is requested on the form. This is the only way a self-employed person can get social security credit for his earnings.

Another important item is that only the income received from the operation of a trade, business or profession can be included in figuring the net earnings from self-employment. In completing the Schedule C, the exact nature of the business must be shown. If this is not shown, credits may be lost.

In figuring the net earnings which are subject to social security tax it is necessary that all business operating expenses be deducted from the gross income. Two of the most common omissions are depreciation of equipment and depreciation of business property.

The self-employment tax must be paid if an individual has net earnings from self-employment of $400 or more in a year. The tax is 3⅜ per cent of net earnings up to $4200 a year and is paid along with the income tax.

Further information on self-employment and social security may be obtained by contacting the northwest district office at 4255 Milwaukee ave., Chicago. The phone number is Kildare 5-8844. (BB

7 Area Unionists Earn Labor Relations Diplomas

Seven northwest suburban residents were among 25 union members who received certificates March 24 for completing a University of Illinois extension class in steward training held at Northbrook.

The unionists are members of International Brotherhood of Electrical workers Local 1459 and work for the Public Service co. headquarters in Northbrook.

Receiving certificates were Lee J. Cookman, 2442 Walter ave., and Raymond C. Olson, 4765 Forest View drive, both of Northbrook; Lynn Weaver, 2 S. Vail ave., Arlington Heights; Fred Rosenmeier, 276 S. Cedar st., Palatine; David Speck, 2905 Stork court, Rolling Meadows; John Munro, 85 Jeffery ave., Wheeing; and Gilbert Murdock, 230 W. Lake, Barrington.

The class wa conducted by the University of Illinois institute of labor and industrial relations and division of university extension.

Prof. A. J. Wann of the institute staff led the group in discussing such tops as the job of the steward, meaning and purpose of the grievance procedure, what is a grievance, how to write and negotiate a grievance, the steward's relation with the members, contract analysis, and collective bargaining problems. Kids See Chicks Hatch on Easter

Children who want a real Easter thrill over the coming weekend can get it at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry where they will be able to watch scores of baby chickens actually emerging from their shells and making their way into the world.

The big glass-walled incubator in which the baby chicks are hatched is one of the features of the Swift "Food for Life" exhibit at the Museum.

Into it every day are placed close to a hundred eggs which have been kept snug and warm in other prenatal development incubators and only transferred to the final display incubator on the exact day when they should normally be expected to reach the hatching point.

In this big display incubator, around which steady crowds of Museum visitors gather daily, Easter week spectators will behold the entire hatching operation. They will be able to follow the sequence of "delivery room" developments from the moment the baby chicks succeed in pushing their first openings through their surrounding shells until they have tumbled out of the broken eggs and staggered onto their wobbly legs to make their Easter debuts.

In another section of the "Food for Life" exhibit other barnyard infants such as baby ducklings, tiny piglets and fluffy lambs, will be holding their particular spots in the Museum's Easter parade. (BB

Local Woman Wins Automatic Washer

She won the prize in a nationwide "Jingle Contest" co-sponsored by the A. E. Staley Manufacturing co., Decatur, Ill., and the Hotpoint co. of Chicago. As a result of the contest, more than $100,000 worth of Hotpoint automatic washers are being given away to housewives across the country. (BB

Device Aids Determining Electric Load

A computer device that will measure the moment-to-moment use of electricity by the 1,940,000 customers in the Chicago area—and simultaneously regulate the output of dozens of generators to meet the exact demand—is to be installed by Commonwealth Edison company.

Willis Gale, chairman of the utility, announced today that an order has been placed with General Electric company for the principal components of the installation. Approximately 2 years will be required to complete the project.

The installation will be among the first in the country combining the complete computer and generation control elements.

The device will economically distribute production among the 12 Edison generating stations which last year turned out nearly 20 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity.

At the same time it coordinates total output to meet total demand, it will also determine which of the generators then in operation best fit the dollars and cents economics of production.

It will not only determine this; it will, by remote control, step up or lower the output of the individual machines. (BB

Interest, Tax Payments Aid Home Owners Meet April 15 Deadline

With the April 15 income tax deadline rolling around for millions of Americans, the fact that owning a home can serve as a way of reducing dues to Uncle Sam is a welcome thought.

Many Chicagoland citizens currently preparing their 1957 income tax statements are home owners who will learn the advantages of keeping household record books for such accounting purposes, noted a Chicago area home builder.

DAVID MUSS, president of Winston Park Northwest, a $45,000,000 residential, shopping and commercial development in Palatine, said interest payments on the mortgage, real estate and property taxes are among the most important deductions that home owners can list.

The government allows deductions on several home business transactions that are often overlooked by persons filing their tax, Muss explained. He said monthly interest payments and real estate taxes are the simplest deductions.

"INTEREST PAYMENTS vary from month to month and must be calculated carefully to determine the year's total payment. Real estate taxes normally are assessed annually and are not difficult to determine," said Muss.

Deductions are allowed by law for losses sustained from fire, theft or storm not covered by insurance. The law also allows a taxpayer to claim only the difference in the value of property immediately before and immediately after the damage. This, suggested Muss, should be determined by a competent appraisal.

Muss, whose staff currently is constructing 599 homes in the northwest suburb, said many new purchasers ask about tax problems they will encounter through the sale of their present home.

"IF PROCEEDS from a sale, after deducting commissions and other expenses, exceed the cost to the seller plus permanent improvements, the difference is considered profit and is taxed as a capital gain. This is at a maximum of 25 per cent," Muss explained.

"However, if the seller buys another home within 1 year, or has built and occupies it within 18 months, no tax is assessed on the profit." But Muss stressed the point that the sale must be reported in any case and home owners should keep records of their deductions for at least 3 years in the event they are asked to verify their returns.

Muss also advocated the purchase of a home as a safeguard against possible inflation. "A home not only provides economic protection, but is a means of saving and living convenience.

"THE PURCHASE of well chosen real estate now is an investment that automatically adjusts to prevailing price levels because a purchase made with the present value of the dollar is subject to depreciation in terms of the cheaper dollar.

Just as there are several aids for reducing income tax payments, the building industry offers consumers help in choosing housing that will benefit individual cases. The home buyer must analyze his family's personal needs in terms of living accommodations and budget.

"Then, after finding suitable housing he should work with the builder to establish a mortgage that will enable monthly payments without straining his family's financial income," said Muss.

HE DECLARED that home ownership today is made easier by a soundly financed mortgage. "A mortgage provides the family with a systematic savings plan because it represents the owner's equity by increasing his ownership of the property and, in turn, the cash that will return to him if he ever sells the home.

"Thus, with careful planning, the homeowner can save money the year round. But he best realizes this when income tax time beckons."

Save While You Shop Plan Starts

An entirely new type customer service has been inaugurated at the National Tea store in the Westgate Shopping center on the west side of Arlington Heights and 9 other National Tea stores throughout the Chicago metropolitan area.

The new service, known as the National saving transmittal service, enables shoppers to save with the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Chicago at the same time they do their marketing. There will be no cost to the customer.

H. V. McNamara, president of National Tea, explained the service will make it possible for customers to transmit money for credit to savings accounts already in force, transmit requests for withdrawal of funds which will be mailed by check, and transmit applications and funds for opening new savings accounts.

"National Tea co. has felt that this savings transmittal service will make the burden of the already busy housewife an easier one," McNamara said. "It will provide her with a one-stop combination of shopping-and-savings opportunity." (BB

Refund Claims Set For Commuters

The Milwaukee Road announced that forms on which patrons may prepare claims for refund of suburban fares are available at various locations.

Forms may be secured in each suburban agency station, room 702 of the Chicago Union station from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, Milwaukee Road depot passenger agent's office on the south side of the main floor of the Union station from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily, and the city ticket office at 163 W. Jackson blvd. from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Completed forms, with ticket stubs and fare receipts, may be returned to any of the above offices where receipts for them will be issued. Refund payments will be made by check.

It is expected that the first checks will be mailed by the end of April and that refunds will be completed within six weeks thereafter.

The road has in escrow in excess of $700,000 for refund to patrons holding ticket stubs and receipts for tickets purchased between April 1956 and February 28 of this year. The refund became payable as the result of a court order canceling a fare increase that had been in effect during the period. (BB

Symphony Plans For Final Concert

The Northwest Symphony Orchestra Association board members met Saturday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Heller, Des Plaines, to formulate final arrangements for the forthcoming concert of May 18 at Maine Township High School auditorium.

The orchestra under the talented guidance of Perry Crafton will conclude this, its sixth and most successful season, with a "pop-type" concert which will feature music familiar to all.

Vocalists and instrumentalists desirous of performing as soloists next year are asked to contact Dr. Wm. F. Heller, VA 4-4285, as soon as possible. (BB

Theological Student In Boston

Jay C. Dahm, 2506 George, Rolling Meadows, was one of 13 Chicago Theological seminary seniors who were guests March 25 at the Congregational house, international headquarters of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, and home of other national Congregational Christian agencies in Boston.

Dr. Alford Carleton, top executive officer of the American board, spoke to the group on "Issues in the Contemporary World Mission Enterprise."

Purpose of the annual senior class visit is to enable the fledgling ministers to meet the officers of their national organizations and to see at first hand how these agencies carry on their programs. The students also visited national offices in New York before returning to Chicago.

Lessons In English

by W. L. GORDON

OFTEN MISUSED

The word "alibi" properly means the plea that when the alleged act took place, the accused person was elsewhere than at the alleged place. It should not be used loosely to mean an excuse.

Avoid such expressions as "Equally as good," "Equally as capable," etc. "Equally" is sufficient. Or, still better, say, "This wine is just as good as that." "The boy is quite (or, fully) as capable as his father."

Do not use such expressions as "all the farther" and "all the higher," in the sense of "as far as" and "as high as."

Do not say, "You will find that most everybody agrees on this." Say, "that almost everybody."

The adjectives "childish" and "childlike" are not synonymous. "Childish" is a derogatory term, meaning puerile, silly. "Childlike" refers to the admirable qualities of a child, such as innocence, trustfulness.

Do not say, "My relations are coming to visit with me." Say, "My relatives," and omit "with."

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED

Stevedore. Pronounce steeveh-dore, accent on first syllable, and pronounced in 3 syllables.

Textile. Pronounce second syllable as "till," preferred.

Terpsichore. Pronounce turpsick-oh-ree, with accent on second syllable.

Gewgaw. Pronounce gyu-gah, accent on first syllable.

Teheran (capital of Iran). Pronounce either teh-hrahn, or tee-ran, with accent on first syllable.

Prurient. Pronounce proori-ent, accent on first syllable.

OFTEN MISSPELLED

Lean (thin); lien (a legal claim). Allude, 2 "l's;" elude, only one "l." Dane (native of Denmark); deign (to condescend). Scythe; observe the consonants and the final "e." Realize, "ize;" realism, "ism." Coral (precious stone); corral (enclosure for animals).

At Illinois

NANCY ROCKWOOD

Nancy Rockwood, 126 S. Elmwood ave., Palatine, is a member of the University of Illinois' Women's Glee club which will make a concert tour April 9 and 10, singing 6 concerts — in Paxton, Park Forest, Chicago, West Chicago, and Bradley.

At Grinnell

Ellsworth Whitney Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth R. Whitney Sr. of 805 Greenview rd., Itasca, has received a rifle marksmanship medal as a member of the Grinnell college air force ROTC detachment.

A cadet first lieutenant in the cadet corps, Whitney qualified for the third year medal with his high weekly marksmanship average and participation on the rifle team.

He is a junior at Grinnell and a 1955 graduate of Bensenville high school, Bensenville. (CC

At Olivet

Frank Deninger, son of Mrs. Christine Deninger, route 2, Palatine, has been placed on the mid-term honor roll at Olivet Nazarene college, it was announced today by Dr. Willis E. Snowbarger, dean of the college.

The honor roll is made up of students with an average of B or above.

Frank is a senior at Olivet, where he is enrolled in religion.

Navy Flier Promoted to Lieutenant

Lt. Charles E. Folz was promoted to Navy Flier this week by Capt. H. P. Burden, commanding officer of the Norfolk Naval Air Station.

Lt. Folz was commissioned an ensign in 1943 as a reserve officer after six years duty as a "white hat." He returned to the regular navy in June 1947 as a chief aviation pilot. In July 1955, he was re-commissioned a A Lt. JG.

During his navy career, Lt. Folz served in Saipan, Palau and the Philippine Islands. He has been decorated with the air medal with one star.

Lt. Folz, his wife, the former Miss Charlotte A. Dawson of Mt. Prospect, and their two children, Cherry Lee, 14, and Charles Edward Jr. 10, reside in Norfolk, Va.

Lt. Folz, a native of Palatine, is presently on duty at the naval air station overhaul and repair department, where his duties include that of personnel and security officer. (WUS

The 24-year-old soldier is a 1951 graduate of Arlington high school and a former employe of M. W. Kesler Trucking and Excavating, Arlington Heights. (WUS

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. Are showers for prospective bridegrooms appropriate?

A. These are becoming quite popular. Sometimes they are humorous in character — ties too gaudy to wear, "dainty" handkerchiefs, budget books, ball-and-chain, boxing gloves, and the like. Of course, showers of useful items are also good - such as a book shower, smoking necessities, or a handyman's tool shower.

Q. When one is eating meat at the table, should only one bite at a time be cut?

A. Yes. It shows ill-breeding to cut up the entire portion of meat into numerous pieces.

Q. Is it all right to use the telephone to acknowledge receipt of a gift by mail?

A. In much better taste is a sincerely-written, personal note of thanks.

Q. What is the correct reply to make, after you have paid a short visit in someone's home and that person says, "It was so nice seeing you?"

A. You may say, "Thank you, I was so glad to find you home. Please visit me soon," or any such pleasant remarks.

Q. Who pays for the corsages worn by both mothers at the wedding?

A. While in some communities the bridegroom buys these, it is usually more customary for the husbands to buy these corsages worn by their wives.

Q. We were served baked potatoes at a dinner recently, and the man next to me proceeded to remove the potato from the skin and mash it on his plate before eating. Wasn't this the wrong thing to do?

A. Yes; baked potato should properly be eaten from the skin.

At Fort Gordon

Pvt. Marvin E. Milz, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Milz, 128 E. Pine st., Bensenville, recently completed the lineman's course at the army's southeastern signal school, Fort Gordon, Ga.

During the 8-week course, Milz was trained to construct and maintain all kinds of aerial and buried field communication wires.

He entered the army last October and completed basic training at Fort Carson, Colo.

Milz, who attended Fenton high school, was employed in civilian life by the Illinois Central railroad. (WUS

At Great Lakes

Robert E. Waddell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Waddell of 925 N. Hickory st., Arlington Heights, graduated from recruit training March 29 at the naval training center, Great Lakes.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of 9 weeks of "boot camp," include a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries. (WUS

At Pensacola

LT. E. FROKJER

Navy Lt. (jg) E. H. Frokjer, husband of the former Miss Marge Seifert of 408 Oriole lane, Mt. Prospect, received a 1,000-hour accident-free flight safety award February 24 at the Saufley field naval auxiliary air station, Pensacola, Fla.

Lt. Frokjer received the award for flying 1,000 hours of dual instructional time with student naval aviators undergoing primary flight training.

Retiring?

Every one accepts the fact that it's wonderful for a man to be able to retire. How about Mom? Isn't she entitled to retire too? That big house takes lots of time and work to keep up. Besides it's kind of "old hat" after all those years. How about both retiring and for the perfect start into these wonderful years ahead here's your new home!

When we say "perfect" that's just what this beautiful face brick ranch is. The fine detail, the size, the convenience of floor plan, the fireplace, the screened porch, the air conditioning, the beautiful basement with hobby facilities and its own bath are all designed to provide the "full life." And here's an almost impossible feature to duplicate: it's located just 1½ blocks from every facility—stores, depot and churches. For a real thrill make a date to see 220 S. Wille St., Mount Prospect.

A Balding Pate Tries a Crew Cut

by JOHN CORRIS

Is your hair line receding . . . getting a little thin on top? Chances are that wave which the co-eds thought was pretty cute has long since disappeared and now it's just stringy.

Why not try a crew cut? It's the same price as a trim and, who knows, you might like it. Maybe your wife will, too.

THOSE WERE my thoughts Saturday as I walked into our neighborhood barber shop—Paul's place on North Greeley in Palatine. I had the same idea many times before but always "chickened out" in the chair.

But, not this time, I told myself as I climbed into Paul's chair with the courage of a small boy and asked:

"Do you think I can take a 'modified' crew cut?"

I expected him to answer with "are you kidding?" and I would tell him to go ahead with the usual trim.

"WELL, YOU'RE kinda thin on top," was his reply after a quick survey. He allowed, however, that a friend with about as much hair has a crew cut and he likes it.

Paul pointed out the bushy-haired customer in the next chair and explained that "you should have a crop like his for a good crew cut."

He was giving both sides of the question and I mumbled agreement about the bushy-haired guy being a better crew cut possibility than me. I was just about ready to "chicken-out" for the umpteenth time when Paul asked:

"Did you say go ahead?"

I HADN'T SAID any such thing but I felt every eye in the shop on me, and it was now or never. I even thought of jumping out of the chair and apologizing to the next customer for getting ahead of him. But there wasn't anyone else waiting to get clipped. And besides, Paul's customers take numbers so you don't miss your turn. Mine was 17.

I wanted to say in a loud voice —OK Paul, go ahead with the crew cut."

BUT, THE WORDS just wouldn't come out and I kinda nodded OK. It didn't matter anyhow as the electric clippers began buzzing overhead.

"And besides if you don't like it, it will always grow back," said Paul reassuringly. I wondered if it would.

I tried to act unconcerned and read the current Life magazine, but Yul Brynner's photo was on the cover and this scared me.

"You didn't have much to start with so a little less won't make any difference," I told myself.

Paul kept the clippers buzzing and I thought of the first and last crew cut I had.

IT WAS 1943 in a make-shift "barber shop" at Fort Dix, N. J. My first day in the army. I had a nice curl in front then which I had spent the better part of my youth cultivating. But, that GI "barber" took care of it.

Pretty soon Paul hung up the clippers and began shaving my neck. I knew it was all over but I was afraid to look in the mirror.

Again Paul—a real diplomat—allowed that it didn't look too bad. It wasn't very convincing, however, especially when he added:

"Summer is coming and crew cuts always look better then, anyhow."

The melting snow on Greeley st., however, reminded me that this is only March.

AS I PAID my 2 bucks (I was hoping crew cuts would be cheaper) I got a glimpse of myself in the mirror, but quickly put on my hat before the other customers could comment.

I drove straight home, stopping once or twice to admire myself in the rear view mirror. It was shocking.

My family was assembled in front of the TV watching a Saturday afternoon cartoon. So they were in a good humor for the unveiling.

Everyone burst out laughing, including me.

"It makes you look younger," said my child bride of some 12 years after she stopped laughing momentarily.

"GEE DAD, you look just like me," was the comment from my 4-year-old "Maverick" who has had a crew cut since birth. I always insisted that he have one against my wife's better judgment.

My daughter just kept laughing. "No comment," said she. The fact that I hadn't yet paid her her weekly allowance probably explains the silence.

I think the worse is yet to come from my friends and business associates.

"What happened to you; fall asleep in the chair?"

"I hope you didn't have to pay for that trimming."

But, it took me 15 years to get a "rug cut" and I can take the comments. As a matter of fact I may even think of a funny reply.

Anyhow, as Paul said, "you're kinda thin on top and you might like it."Well, I do. And besides, summer is coming. B8

Make-Up Is Big Job for Players

MAKEUP IS AN IMPORTANT factor in stage productions. For example, Village Theatre had a challenge in making-up Mary Tindall (left) for the old woman role she portrayed (right) in their recent production of "Desk Set." Make-up presents a major task in Village Theatre's coming attraction, "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Changing attractive Mary Tindall into a little old lady for last fall's Village Theatre Inc. production of "Desk Set" is the type of task required of a make-up crew.

Ruth Raasch will head this particular committee for "Teahouse of the August Moon," which Mary is now directing for presentation on May 1, 2 and 3 in the Prospect High theatre.

ASSISTING WITH make-up will be Judy Jo Cox, Helen Watland, Virginia Bishop and Alice Scheske. Production manager of the show is Helen Bakas, and Marian Malcolmson is technical coordinator.

Since the coming drama is one of great atmosphere, costuming is also very important and difficult. Anita Wilkins is in charge of Japanese and military apparel. Her committee consists of: Elsie Johnson, Alice Linde, Delores Gerken, Beverly Foote, Joan Grisell, Alta Hutchinson and Gladys Pownall.

FURNITURE AND props are the present concern of Lynn Lobenhofer chairman, and the following: Virginia Hula, D'Anne Vogel, Mary Estrella, Chris Bauske, Dorothy Balch and Pat Skamfer. Lighting will be arranged by Don Roberts, Jim Smith, Maurice Geye and Barbara Houskeeper, with Wilbur Pownall and Anne De Celles in charge of sound.

Co-chairmen of the set and stage crew are Charles Linde and Martha Byrne. Assisting them are: Charlotte Shaugnessy, Jeanette Jenkins, Harriet Smith, Al Bradley, Bill Rix, Bob Hutchinson, Ken De Celles and Muriel and Bert Hanor.

Tickets are on sale now at the boxoffice, 733 S. Highland, Westgate Furniture, "My Place" restaurant, The Beauty Bar, and from members of St. Simon's Episcopal church for the May 1 performance, which will be a fund raising project for the woman's auxiliary. Box office phone number is Clearbrook 3-4314, from 1:30 to 3 daily. (ACM

Observers Watch Closely For Break in Recession

After a disappointing fall and winter, the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago observes, the economic landscape is being watched closely for the first statistical robin heralding the approach of spring and a pickup in business.

The bank says there is ample reason for expecting an improvement in the months ahead based on normal seasonal movements in activity. But something more than a seasonal rise would be necessary to show that the low point of the slump had been passed.

On the optimistic side, the bank points out, are trends in construction outlays, government spending and consumer retail purchases. The dollar volume of construction activity in January was maintained at the December rate and was 3 per cent above last year. Federal, state and local government outlays for goods and services increased slightly in the fourth quarter and are expected to rise further in early 1958.

Total retail sales, on the basis of preliminary reports, are believed to have equaled or slightly bettered the excellent December showing. In December and January, following the autumn slump, seasonally adjusted retail sales had climbed back almost to the record level of the third quarter.

Among the more notable declining trends in the economy, the bank says, have been shrinking employment, personal income and production. Reductions in inventories and in output of producers' durable goods and defense hardware were largely responsible for the employment and income drop.

In January, nonfarm seasonally adjusted employment was 1,100,000 below August and 760,000 under a year ago. Manufacturing jobs alone were off 860,000 from August, with four-fifths of the decline occurring in durable goods lines. A further decline in employment was noted in February.

Despite rising wage rates, the bank reports, weekly paychecks of factory workers have been reduced because of a shortening of the average work week. Also, dividends have been cut back in some cases and commissions have proved harder to earn. Thus, weakened buying power could account for a reduction in consumer purchases. More important in slowing these expenditures, however, could be the adverse psychology of individuals whose income has been maintained.

With the exception of Iowa, all district states (Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin) report an increase in unemployment claims equal to or substantially in excess of the national rise. This may help to explain why Midwest department store sales in the four weeks ending February 22 trailed 1957 by 11 per cent in contrast to a more modest decline nationally.

Award to Go To Boy or Girl

National honors and a valuable prize are in store for some boy or girl who has performed an outstanding act of kindness to animals.

The kind deed may be a rescue, a special project for the benefit of animals or a written work, according to the American Veterinary Medical association, which sponsors the award each year.

Anyone who knows of a boy or girl not over 18 years old who might qualify is invited to submit a nomination.

Deeds on behalf of dogs and cats have predominated in the winning column since start of the award in 1944, but the committee in charge of the project emphasizes that kindness to livestock and wild animals is just as acceptable in determining the winner.

Last year's winner was a 13-year-old girl who nurse an injured deer back to health. Among other winners in the past have been an Eagle scout who advocated a conservation program for the Florida Key deer, a boy who rescued a dog trapped in a 300-foot deep canyon, a boy who built a bumper device to protect a blind dog that had been his childhood pet, and a girl who captured a rabid dog.

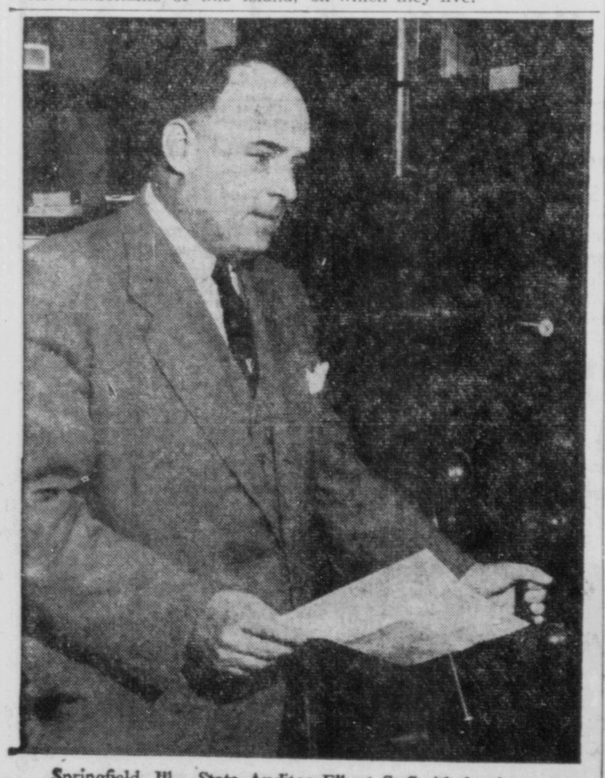
Nominations should be sent not later than May 1 to the American Veterinary Medical association, 600 S. Michigan ave., Chicago, 5, Ill.

The winner will be announced at the AVMA national convention at Philadelphia Pa., in August. The award consists of a framed certificate describing the act of kindness and a $100 U.S. Savings Bond. (BB

Island School Is Key to 'Puzzle'

The island of Kaskaskia - the only part of Illinois located on the western side of the Mississippi River - is the key to a unique school financing plan which can be traced back more than 2 centuries.

The inhabitants of this island, located across the river from the Menard state penitentiary in Randolph county, boast a school treasury of nearly a quarter million dollars — and they owe it all to the French government which gave their ancestors the ground on which they live.



Springfield, Ill.—State Auditor Elbert S. Smith is pictured at a vault in his office checking records of the school system on the Illinois island of Kaskaskia which operates in part on income derived from a 200-year-old grant of land by the early French regime in the southern part of the state. Located just off of Randolph county, Kaskaskia island holds the distinction of being the only segment of the state of Illinois which is west of the Mississippi River.

THIS TREASURY of the Kaskaskia islanders is invested in securities which are under the custodial care of State Auditor Elbert S. Smith, a member of the 3-man board which administers the island's school fund. The securities are kept in the vaults of Smith's office.

These securities, by law, represent investments in U.S. Treasury notes and real estate mortgages. Only the income from the securities — without the principal being touched — is expended for the education of the Kaskaskia islanders.

One elementary school is operated on the island and it has an enrollment of between 80 and 90. The interest on the school fund's investments, plus the same type of state aid received by other schools, pays the way of the pupils' education.

THE TIDY quarter-million dollar educational nest-egg of the island had its beginning 215 years ago when the French were in possession of the Illinois country. In the year 1743 French authorities granted the inhabitants of Kaskaskia a tract of land as a common. This meant they were, in common, entitled to the use and benefit of the land. By the Illinois constitution of 1818 the grant of the Kaskaskia Commons was recognized with a stipulation that all proceeds be expended for common school purposes. The Kaskaskia commons — a name it still retains — came under legislative administration in 1851 when the General Assembly authorized the leasing of the commons property with the proceeds to be used for the education of the children of the inhabitants.

This proviso remained in force until 1909 when the legislature again stepped into the picture. Assembly records show that in that year a group of residents of the island presented a petition alleging that a substantial portion of the funds obtained from leasing of their land had been misused, leaving the school system in financial straits.

A law was passed at that time calling for a resurvey and appraisal of the 6,500 acres making up the commons. Three land commissioners appointed by the governor were empowered to sell the land and place the proceeds in the state treasury under the name "Kaskaskia Commons Permanent School Fund." It keeps that name to this day.

THE STATE AUDITOR and treasurer were ordered by the legislature to keep the funds invested in "good" bonds or "good" mortgages on real estate with the income from the investments to be paid for support of the island schools. The provision that the school board could not draw on the principal also was written into the law.

In 1945 the General Assembly amended the act to make the state auditor, treasurer and superintendent of public instruction a 3-man board of trustees to pass on investments of the fund. The auditor was ordered to keep an accurate record of the investments and income derived.

The most recent audit of the fund by Auditor Smith's office shows the balance at just under a quarter million dollars. These assets include about $40,000 in U. S. Treasury notes and about $180,000 in mortgages on real estate. Approximately $10,500 is in cash and about $9,000 represents real estate owned by the Kaskaskia Commons School Fund. (B12

Studebaker Introduces Half-Ton Pickup Truck

The new Studebaker Scotsman half-ton pickup soon will be available in Studebaker-Packard dealerships across the nation, Sydney A. Skillman, vice president and general sales manager of Studebaker-Packard Corporation, announced here today.

Handling the pickup truck in the northwest suburban area will be Grindle Motors, Barrington and Curtis Motors, Arlington Heights.

NEW STUDEBAKER Scotsman pick-up truck.

"THE SCOTSMAN idea has caught the imagination of the economy-minded buyer — the farmer, the fleet user, the local businessman," said Skillman.

He said no other truck manufacturer is offering a half-ton pickup at such a low price with low maintenance costs and low operating expenses as plus features.

Skillman said the 1958 Scotsman pickup is powered by the Studebaker Work Star 185 six, described as unexcelled for low operating costs. "The hardware and trim are functional and the Scotsman has the widest clear-floor pickup body in the industry."

IT IS AVAILABLE in three colors — light blue, light gray and light green with two others, dark blue and red, available on special order. These colors are all new to the Scotsman line and enhance the low and functional design of the new truck.

The spare wheel is mounted directly back of the cab, thereby affording the widest clear floor loading space of any half-ton truck. A five-inch unloaded height gives a rakish, passenger car look to the new Scotsman.

THE NEW SCOTSMAN is rated at a maximum gross vehicle weight of 4,800 pounds and is mounted on a wheel base of 112 inches. The length of the pickup body is six and a half feet.

The Work Star 185 six-cylinder engine develops 92 horsepower at 3800 revolutions per minute and a maximum torque of 152 at 1800 rpm. (BB

League of Women Voters Questionnaire

Congressional Hopefuls Tell Views on Issues

Candidates for Congress from the 13th Congressional District recently were quizzed via questionaire by the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters.

The Republican incumbent, Marguerite Stitt Church, and the two Democratic aspiraants, James J. Lentine of Libertyville and Laurence A. Kusek of Park Ridge, were asked to give their views on foreign and domestic problems, and state their qualifications for the job.

MRS. CHURCH, who claims Evanston as her home, has a bachelor's degree from Wellesley and a master's from Columbia. The 65-year-old Congresswoman is seeking a fifth term.

Lentine, 48-year-old commercial illustrator, attended John Huntington Polytechnic, Cleveland School of Art, and the Art Institute of Chicago. He listed as his qualifications, "ten years' activity in the Artist Guild of Chicago, holding offices of secretary, executive vice president, and president for two terms."

Kusek, 36, earned a B.A. degree from the University of Nebraska and an LLB degree from Harvard Law School. A practicing attorney, he worked 2 years, 1955 and 1956, as administrative assistant to Congressman Charles A. Boyle.

Asked to indicate the aspects of United States foreign policy with which they were in favor or which they criticized, the candidates gave the following replies:

LENTINE: I favor foreign aid—NATO and Baghdad Pact and other alliances that bolster our strength and world influence. I am most critical of our lack of leadership in the Hungarian revolt of 1956 and our inability to regain world respect.

Kusek: I strongly feel that the Reciprocal Trade Act must be extended. With the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway the Chicagoland area will be very much affected by tariffs. They should be kept low.

I am critical of some of the approaches used to work out an understanding with Russia. It is necessary for the salvation of the world—from destruction by nuclear weapons—that Russia and the United States learn to live with each other. Let us offer our friendship to Russia—perhaps by offering them some Salk Polio vaccine—and see if there is any response.

MRS. CHURCH: I have consistently supported a policy of resistance to Communist encroachment or infiltration, including opposition to the recognition of Red China as a member of the U.N. I also support a policy of anti-colonialism and believe that all nations, large and small, must be treated with equal respect.

I believe that the free world must be upheld, but that our own leadership will be strengthened if we continue to put into being in our country those principles and actions in behalf of human freedom and dignity which should be, and are, our chief source of appeal to other people. I have voted for P. L. 480 for the distribution and sale of surplus agricultural products for local currencies.

Regarding our foreign aid program, I particularly favor technical assistance to economically under-developed areas and feel that this part of our program should be increased. I also support largely the person to person program, exchange of persons program, libraries, and other media and policies whereby we are trying actually to show the world the principles on which this country has grown strong and just.

I criticize the huge global appropriations for foreign aid because, as a member of the House Foreign Affairs committee, I know that there has been considerable waste and misdirection; and because I feel that the program has not been sufficiently effective — and that it will never be improved as long as people are concerned only with how much money is spent rather than with honest criticism of the direction, character, and administration of the program.

I strongly support the desire of the Administration to maintain peace through strength, together with support of those principles of freedom on which our survival and our happiness are based.

I have voted 3 times for the extension of the Reciprocal

Again, I still criticize, under Trade Agreements.
both Presidents, our failure to make our position clear and our policy always consistent. I am, therefore, still urging a complete review of our foreign policy and programs.

The candidates were then asked to give their views of domestic legislation.

LENTINE: I favor Federal aid to education to correct the inequity in local and state structures supporting the public school system. According to Senator Douglas, "A federal aid program would rest on a progressive income tax and not on property taxes."

Fear of domination by central government through federal aid is unfounded. Two centuries of American history and experience testify that federal financial assistance can be met without the slightest degree of infringement from Washington.

KUSEK: I favor federal aid for school construction. It is my feeling that the 13th Congressional district needs help for its school system. There is inadequate help coming from the state government and the strain on the local communities caused by the tremendous influx of population is almost too great. I am afraid that if our school districts do not receive proper help our fine schools will begin to deteriorate. This is not only a local need but also a national need.

It is apparent that the Russians have been making great progress in many fields of science. We must have well-educated people if our nation is to survive in the future. For this we need more school buildings and well-trained teachers.

MRS. CHURCH: I support among other bills, the following measures:

H.R. 211—To establish a joint committee on foreign intelligence. This bill would bring the operations of the CIA and other services engaged in foreign intelligence activities under continuous responsible scrutiny and keep the Congress adequately informed.

H.R. 3961—To put budgeting on an annual accrued expenditures basis.

H.R. 5793—To provide centralized procurement, distribution, and storage of non-military goods and services commonly used by all branches of the Armed Forces.

H.R. 5812—To provide coordinated management of the utilization and disposal of surplus federal property.

H.R. 5813—To eliminate needless government competition with private business.

H.R. 6128—To amend the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 to provide for more effective evaluation of the fiscal requirements of the executive agencies of the government, creating a joint committee on the budget.

I also support legislation dealing with the rights and needs of women and children including the Equal Rights Bill and civil rights legislation. I support legislation to make tax laws less burdensome and more equitable, improving appropriation methods, maintaining adequate defense in the interest of necessary peace, and enacting conservation measures, including water conservation.

I also am giving prompt consideration to measures deemed necessary and sound to meet the hardships caused by our lagging economy, including tax reduction.

It's a Spectacle, All Right!

The Way We See It

No Choice for Democrats in Wheeling Township Primary

A "roll-out-the-barrel" political campaign for the post of Wheeling township Democratic committeeman is in its final days.

When the polls shut down after the primary election next Tuesday and votes are counted several hours later, Wheeling township and the world will know which faction of the torn and tattered Democratic machine has triumphed.

Will it be thrice-victorious Jack Clark of Arlington Heights who in his 12 years as committeeman has managed to swing a powerful 15 to 20 per cent of the voters (17 per cent voted for Stevenson in '56) to the Democratic column?

Or will it be the forces of youth, vigor and enthusiasm, as represented by 28-year-old Jimmy Stavros, whose chief qualifications are A) he was a good athlete at Arlington high school, B) he's learning how to become a radio announcer like his friend and mentor Vince Garrity, or C) he distributes candy for a big firm?

Stavros is trying to boot Clark out of his job and in this attempted coup, young Jimmy apparently has the support of the Democratic kingpin of Cook county, Mayor Richard J. Daley himself.

Daley won't come out in the open and admit it, but seasoned political observers know the signs. For instance, quite a few of Daley's political jobholders are backing Stavros. For another thing, Stavros, member of an old, established Wheeling family, slipped in his list of election workers under Clark's nose.

Stavros' list was approved by the county officials concerned while Clark's list was "misplaced." Since the incumbent committeeman usually has the say in who works the polls, Clark was obviously slipped a mickey.

Stavros' boys also swiped a polling place or two while Clark's back was turned, or something, a Clark precinct captain claims.

Jimmy's whing dings for workers have been bigger than Jack's, and for free. Jimmy has used darn near every gimmick in the Chicago-style book of politics, including liberal use of "Stick With Stavros" gum, bumper signs, boxes of candy and — an unprecedented sign of affluence — rental of a downtown Arlington Heights headquarters.

Clark is somewhat handicapped in his attempt to hold onto his seat. If he hits back too hard he might call down the wrath of Chieftain Daley and get bounced from his spoils-system job as a superintendent of a nearby county highway garage.

It's also pretty apparent that Clark doesn't have the same kind of green stuff so helpful in intelligently persuading the public of the worth of his cause.

Clark, instead, is rallying his somewhat-lethargic forces with a boast as to how "aggressively" and "impartially" he has represented them in "party councils" over the past years.

As a matter of fact, this campaign has featured about everything except an intelligent discussion of the issues important to suburbanites. The glad-hander approach may be appropriate to south Halsted st., but it's not appropriate to suburbs such as Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect or Wheeling.

The people in the suburbs are interested in something other than a piece of patronage or a free beer when it comes to partisan political activity on the township level.

The fact that there may be persons interested in the Democratic party for other than selfish motives is lost to the Morrison hotel crowd and their representatives in Wheeling township.

Dick Daley doesn't know this area, understand its problems or its needs. In no sense is he qualified to be the political leader of the Democrats in the northwest area.

For the suburban Democrat who wants to develop a party with a "home town" or suburban character — a party which will make its mark because of the forthrightness and intelligence of its appeal — there is no choice in the Tuesday primary.

Paddock Publications has long urged creation of the 2-party system in the suburbs. It would provide a healthy competition and compel county politicians to begin considering suburban interests.

From what Stavros has shown so far in the campaign, he's not the man to make a model political organization out of Clark's tired bunch of pluggers.

Maybe if enough Democrats let their party bosses know how they feel, the right sort of candidate might some day be persuaded to run.

In The Shadow Of The Steeple

Good News Is Proclaimed, Whole World Is Changed

by REV. WILLIAM McGILL

The followers of Jesus came to Jerusalem during that last week preparing for a great triumph. And something went wrong with the plans. Their Master was delivered into the hands of the enemy. A small-time criminal with Robin Hood overtones was released to the city mob and they joyously shouted for the crucifixion of Jesus. The "fat cats" of the city made political arrangements with the occupying powers and Jesus went to the gallows.

His disappointed followers went into hiding. Fearing for their own safety, they were preparing to sneak back to Galilee and pick up their old trades. Henceforth, they would vote the straight party ticket and keep out of trouble.

BUT SOME OF THE women from Galilee and Judea who sought to perform a last service of regard for the departed leader came back to the hiding place with a strange story. The tomb was empty. The Master had risen from the dead.

In a few short weeks, the defeated men, no longer defeated, were preaching on street corners and in the temple. In a few short years, they had been in every important city of the Roman civilization. There were even converts in Caesar's household.

JESUS CHRIST had risen from the dead, and his followers set out to tell the world. In the process they contributed mightily to changing the world. It has never been the same. There have been times when the world seems to have developed new forms of perversion of the good news. But it has been immeasurably altered because the good news was proclaimed.

When Albert Buckner Coe, then at the First Congregational Church of Oak Park, was in Paris, in 1946, he had a conversation with Nicholas Berdyaev. Berdyaev was a Russian theologian and philosopher. He had been exiled by the Tsar, in 1907, and by the Soviet, in 1921.

In that conversation, Dr. Coe later reported Berdyaev as saying, "The spirit of man grew up in a much less complicated age. The physical world has grown up since that time. The expansion set in motion by the industrial revolution and the expansion of our physical universe by virtue of improved knowledge, as well as the contraction of the world because of improved means of transportation and communication, have all created new external problems. We need a new spirituality to live in the modern world.

"LIKE AN ADOLESCENT boy with a suddenly expanding physique, and a voice that is now high and now low, so is the world. We are not yet able to cope with our own strength."

How shall we grow up to ourselves? Like those who followed Jesus in an earlier age, we need a new visit to the tomb. We need a new experience of self-examination. A new fact burst upon them on that first Easter morning. Simple ignorant workmen that they were, they set out to change the world. What is intensely surprising -- even after we have heard the story for years -- they did it!

Where Do Dogs Roam?

Where, oh where does your little dog roam? Well, if you live in the area surrounding Hatlen Heights, this is where you'll find him. We realize that many of these dogs roamed this area before we at Hatlen Heights were even thought of, but with progress comes problems and these canine friends create a problem for us. They threaten the safety and well being of our small children and frighten them. Also, they ruin our newly planted evergreens, shrubs and our lawns. We realize that a few of the dogs are from our own community, but everyone has been asked to cooperate in keeping them on their own property. This they try to do but occasionally a few do get away. However, the majority of them are from the surrounding area. There are several lawful, but drastic, measures open to us, but we would like to be able to solve this problem without being called "cruel" or inhumane." With a little cooperation from both sides, we feel sure this problem can be licked with no ill feelings for anyone.

We thank you in advance for your cooperation in keeping your dog in your own back yard.

Peak Unemployment?

Listeners and readers in all families learn about the millions of workers now unemployed. 'Tis said that next month's claims for unemployment benefits may show a peak in many years. These statistics come from welfare and unemployment claims for financial relief.

The news commentators and economic prophets make no mention of the annual seasonal lay-off in June of 1,329,551 teachers in our national life.

Why are they disregarded?

They are disregarded because teachers have never had Federal nor local compensation when their seasonal work ended!

As independent, professional workers teachers in the nation have learned to manage frugally enough on their nine months pay-checks so that they could meet their own expenses during the 12 months of living. Furthermore, teachers in general have an excellent credit-rating within the range granted their annual salaries.

Recent national statistics show that the average annual income for classroom teachers in 1956 was $4,207 which was approximately the average for all workers in that year.

However, the values quickly lower for the teachers when the workers other than teachers may apply for regular unemployment checks pending another job, while teachers have no such financial aid during three months unemployment.

Values are also changed when one compares the investment of four-to-five years of collegiate training at personal or family expense in order to qualify for the teaching job that averages the same statistical amount that the other workers get. To have union apprenticeship of four years in some trade means that while preparing for this skilled occupation the worker is earning a pay check regularly while learning.

The teachers' non-vocal example of independent planning and management of income for both employed and unemployed periods does not seem to have set an example sufficiently vital for the millions of other workers to imitate.

Teachers need not clamor for governmental aid since the money for these benefits come from the pockets of every taxpayer.

While analysts and statisticians are going over the national problems in our economy, it may well be asked whether or not the techniques of budgeting, and planning for personal independence and security might be more dynamically taught and practiced by all working groups within the nation.

More About the Dogs

The neighborhood is not going to the dogs (that is, the four-legged kind) contrary to the totally inaccurate statements concerning the Worleys as stated in last week's Fence Post.

We have been residents of Mount Prospect since 1923 and have always had wonderful neighbors and still have with the exception of one. Should anyone be interested in the neighbor relations of this party prior to moving to Mount Prospect, they may contact his former landlord, Mr. William Thomssen, 3102 W. Leland ave., Chicago, Ill., phone JU 8-6247.

Dogs Divide Neighborhoods

It would be real nice and I think might pay dividends to your subscribers if you would print an article on DOGS.

There seems to be a growing tendency for people to open the door and let their pets run loose all over their neighbors' property and it is just not fair to expect others to clean up after their animals.

Unnecessary barking at early morning hours plus fights and other unpleasantness could be avoided if people would take their dogs out on a leash.

Also, there are many people as well as children and delivery men who are afraid of loose dogs, even though their owners may feel and believe they don't bite.

An article in your paper would I am sure do a lot of good to correct their growing carelessness and avoid unnecessary unpleasantness between otherwise happy neighbors.

A Crumb for Migrant Workers

"Migrant workers" on their way to do the hard work of cultivating and harvesting which keeps the nation's supermarkets full of fruits and vegetables must hereafter be treated better than animals being trucked to the stockyards.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has at last set forth its rules for minimum safe and humane treatment of these workers, and is preparing to enforce the law this year with inspectors who will patrol the highways.

The migrants' plight, which had gone unnoticed for years, was brought forcibly to the nation's attention three years ago when an open, ton-and-a-half truck loaded with 55 human beings, packed together and standing up, skidded on a wet Colorado highway and dumped its human contents screaming into the borrow-pit. One baby was killed and more than 20 people hurt. Other such instances came to the eye of Sen. Paul H. Douglas of Illinois: regulation fell into a no-man's land between state and federal authorities—the ICC had been given no power to regulate, and the states could not because most of this movement is interstate commerce.

Congress finally passed a bill in 1956 giving the ICC power to enforce minimum standards, but enforcement was delayed last year because the contractors, or padrones, insisted on hearings. Now, however, the rules are in force.

Migrants must hereafter be covered against the weather, must be afforded seats, with 18 inches of space per person; must have a safety exit from the truck or bus, a way to communicate with the driver, and a safe way to get in and out, such as a firm ladder with handholds. They cannot be driven more than six hours straight without a 30-minute meal stop, and without at least one interim rest-stop. As for drivers and vehicles they must meet minimum standards too; and the drivers must rest at least eight hours, after a driving shift of not more than 10 hours.

It's nice to know we can afford such scanty bounty to the poorest among us.

Bouquet for Fenton High

In your paper recently, several Fenton high school graduates were cited for their college achievements.

I do not wish to take any credit from the students. I am the parent of one of them and very proud of him.

I do, however, think thanks should go to some of the very fine teachers and staff at Fenton and Bensenville grade school who helped to make such honors possible.

Cites Highway Hazards

I think the condition of the highways in our area is shameful. There is scarcely a single roadway in all northwest Cook county which is fit to drive on. Oftentimes a driver must either come to a complete stop in order to avoid huge, gaping holes or humps in the pavement—or else creep along at 10 m.p.h. in order to avoid blowouts or smashing springs.

It's wonderful to build toll roads and expressways to speed tourists into the Wisconsin lake region. But it's not wonderful when such convenience is at the expense of all our other highways. It's about time our county and state highway officials came "down to earth" and devoted some attention to our local road needs.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB PADDOCK

MANY FANS have wondered why the Marshall state champs were permitted to play that extra city-title game last week, contrary to rules of the IHSA . . . Milton Sprunger of the IHSA office explained it thusly: "Such things as spring football and the post-season game were a part of their conditions for entry, since the Catholic league teams do not belong and the game between the two groups had been established too long for those in charge to drop it" . . . Final on Larry Wyllie's basketball prowess for Northern Illinois: ranked fifth small college scorer with 570 points in 22 games, a 25.9 average for the Downers Grove star . . . He tallied .783 at the free throw line.

Final statistics for Chuck Sedgwick of LaGrange with Bradley cagers reveal he hit on 20 of 69 field goal attempts, and made 21 of 26 free throws for a .807 charity percentage.

Bradley averaged .408 from the field, team-wise . . . Sports writing cohort Bob Frisk, made the metropolitan press with his letter to a gripe column regarding Kentucky winning the 2 tournaments "on familiar courts before familiar crowds" . . . Bob is our summertime replacement in this column.

Heights Trackmen Set for 3 Meets

Good weather this week enabled the Arlington high school track team to move outdoors in preparation for an indoor meet, of all things. The Cards scheduled the varsity indoor affair at Evanston for this Thursday when the snow was still on the ground.

Coach Russ Attis and his staff have been able to assign boys to a regular spot in competition as the season progressed and the boys work out more, showing their best times in many events and bringing their muscles into shape. Many boys missed the workout this week, though, due to vacation.

THE CARDINALS have 3 meets coming up within 8 days including the indoor Thursday at Evanston, outdoor at Waukegan next Tuesday, followed by an outdoor meet at Niles April 11.

Here is the probable lineup of which boys who will compete in the events:

Bob Lockwood, Ed Whitelaw and Bob O'Neil are expected to run hurdles for Arlington. Sprinters for the Cardinals include Chuck Yager and Rich Bader. It will probably be Bob Mors in the 440, along with Tony Stavros and Mike Dundy.

LOCKWOOD will also be competing in the high jump and broad jump. Whitelaw will high jump for Heights, with Howard Berg and Mike Dundy in the broad jump. Ron Marks and Bob Taggart are expected to compete in the mile with Bob Barbour competing in the 880.

Competing in the pole vault will by D[illegible] H[illegible], Marty Green and Dean Hedberg. Varsity shot put entries for Arlington will probably include Jack Weber and Dean Schneck. With Lockwood competing in the other events, he will not be running in the relays. Expected to be named for varsity relays are Yager, Bader, Dundy and Alan Westergaard.

FROSH-SOPH sprinters include Dennis Dryjanski and Keith Grams. The hurdlers include Dutch Leonard, Mike Field and Rick Johnston, with Field also competing in the 880.

Milers for the Arlington frosh-soph track team include Kist and Wolvin, with Malloy and Dryjanski running in the 440.

In the high jump it will be Jim Clabaugh with Bruce Fichte in the broad jump. Pole vaulters for the yearlings will be Allen and Fahrner with Dan Streigel tossing the shot. (Sp

Edison Park Trims Tinsley For Title

In a special playoff game, the Edison Park Merchants grabbed the first place trophy in the YMCA league for the second successive year. The Tinsley Bus Ramblers were victims of a furious second half rally and went down to defeat 67-51.

The Busmen held a two point lead at the half and battled the Edison Parkers on even terms throughout most of the third quarter. Then Danny Monckton stuffed in 10 of the 11 points he scored in the fame and the Merchantmen owned an 11 point third quarter bulge. In effect, this was the ball game.

Tinsley enjoyed well balanced scoring while Projanski and Duchaj led Edison Park with 23 and 21 points respectively. Lineups:

Final Standings

Edison Park	12	1
Tinsley Bus	11	2
1st National	8	4
86th AAA Bn.	5	7
Des Plaines Comets	4	8
General Mills	3	9

Bergman, Wagner Of Brigade Cagers On All-Star Team

Brigade basketball team closed its season with a challenge game with the club leaders. The boys jumped off to an early lead which they never relinquished even though they were only 1 point ahead at the games end. Bergman and Wagner were high scorers for the boys while Fredin led the scoring for the leaders.

Bergman and Wagner were named to the Chicago area all star squad for their fine play during the regular season. The Chicago area all stars beat the Detroit All Stars at Wheaton college Saturday to win the coveted "Sword" trophy prize in this annual contest.

The boys will now be forming their track team for the coming season and working to retain the Chicago area championship trophy won at Wheaton last year. They also hope to form a baseball team.

The Brigade club will be camping out at Starve Rock during the spring vacation. All boys 12 to 18 are welcome to join the Brigade club which meets every Monday night 7 to 9 p.m. in the basement of the Northwest Subs. Bible Church on Wood st., Palatine.

Palatine Thinclads 4th in 'B' at Oak Park

Palatine high trackmen took fourth in the "B" section of the Oak Park Relays last Saturday for an unusually fine showing. Outstanding for the Pirates was the broad jumping of Jordan Danforth who took second place in open competition against the best in the state making a leap of 21.4", the best ever made by a Palatine athlete.

Dan Kusek won a fifth in the mile run with a time of 4:48 and the Pirates placed in 3 relays for a total meet score of 20 points. Centralia won "B" division with 32½, Urbana had 30 and Peoria Woodruff 21. Glenbrook was just behind Palatine with 19. Palatine won but was disqualified in the frosh relay due to passing outside the 20 yard zone on one exchange, which cost them 10 points and a second in the meet.

OREGON won class "C" by winning all 5 relays in their class and Bloom continued dominance of track in this area and the state by easily winning the "A" division with Evanston second, and Maine Township third.

Palatine's relay results were as follows: 8 lap relay: second with runners Jim Eldridge, Eugene Crandall, Evert Larson and Dave Knight; 4 lap relay: tie for fourth with runners Dave Knight, Ken Gordon, Jordan Danforth, and Lloyd Roberts; 16 lap relay: fourth with runners Dan Kusek, Wyn Muller, Dick Brodkorb and Fred Grzlsik. Defeat Palatine

Maine high track teams defeated Palatine in three meets last week. The varsity scored 89 points to 29½ for Palatine and 7½ for Glenbrook in a triangular indoor meet while the Maine sophs scored 91 to Palatine's 14½ and Glenbrook's 7½.

In a freshman meet Pirate track fans can be much encouraged in the fact that Palatine was beaten by Maine by only 56-43.

Maine took all the first places in the frosh-soph meet and won all of the varsity events except the 60 yard high hurdles taken by Kenneth Gordon of Palatine and the low hurdles in which Gordon and Bresen of Maine tied. Palatine took several varsity seconds. Jordan Danforth with 20'5½" in the broad jump was one and a half inches behind the winner. Dan Kusek took second in the mile run, Eugene Crandall was second in the 440, and Lloyd Roberts tied Tinker of Glenbrook in the 50 yard dash. Both Palatine relay teams were second. Glenbrook captured seconds in the pole vault and 50 yard dash. Palatine fourths were Dick Brodkorb in the 880, Evert Larson in the 440, and Mike Fremon in the high jump.

IN THE FROSH-SOPH meet Mangels in the high hurdles and Wodrich in the high jump took seconds and Campbell in the high hurdles and Carpenter in the mile took fourths, and Schneble got a tie for third in the high jump.

In the freshman meet Leighton Mangels and Wayland Campbell ran first and second in both the high and low hurdles. William Reisenbuchler won both the 50 yard dash and the high jump and took second in the broad jump. Campbell took a first in the broad jump with the fine mark of 18'5⅝" to add to his 2 seconds in the hurdles for 11 points. Mangels got second in the pole vault to give him[illegible] 13 points

TWIRLER DENNY THILL shows his grip to Arlington baseball coach Dick Kinneman as the pair discuss the season opener at Niles Thursday with shortstop George Bork. Bork is expected to relieve Thill in the late stages of the game.

Prospect Hts. 2nd, South 3rd At High School

Elk Grove won the grade school wrestling tournament at Arlington high school last week with 97 points. Prospect Heights was second with 77 followed by South junior high of Arlington with 73 and Miner junior high of Arlington with 56. Wheeling counted 23 and Wilson school 2.

Leading Elk Grove to the championship of the VFW grade school tournament, including grade schools within the Arlington high school district, were Tony Kusich of Elk Grove, assisted by 2 of the high school varsity wrestlers, Ernie Rodriquez and Joe Ortiz.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS won 5 individual championships with Elk Grove taking 4. South took 2, Miner 1 and Wheeling 1.

The tournament was a climax of a series of wrestling instruction sessions directed by Coach Hal Henson of the high school staff. It enabled the grade school boys to get just a touch of competitive wrestling before starting competition in the high school in the next 2 years.

SOUTH JUNIOR high of Arlington won the first annual VFW tournament a year ago with 121 points followed by Elk Grove with 72. Prospect Heights placed third that time with 69. Ray Strobel of South junior high has won a championship both years at 77 and 83, respectively, as has Dan Simonsen of Wheeling at 118 and 125, respectively.

It is interesting to note that 2 of last year's champions, Bob Trausch of Wheeling and Joe Ortiz of Elk Grove went on to wrestle on the Arlington high's varsity this year and won varsity letters. (Sp

Little League Tryouts at Arlington this Saturday

Tryouts for Arlington Heights Little League major league teams will be held at 10 a.m. April 5 and April 12. Boys 10, 11 and 12 years of age who have not previously been assigned to a major league team and who live north of the railroad tracks will try out at Recreation Park. Those living south of the tracks will report to the Junior high school field.

Andrew Graczyk will be in charge of the tryouts at the Junior high and Mr. Paul Wollerman will be in charge in Recreation park. Fathers and friends of Little League boys who would like to help with the tryouts are urged to report to either Mr. Graczyk or Mr. Wollerman at 9:45 a.m. on either date.

MOTHERS' CLUB representatives will be on hand to assign the boys numbers. Each boy should bring his own glove and report first to the Mothers' club representative.

Eight and nine year boys will not be eligible this year for major league teams. They will be assigned to a Junior League team and will be notified by the team manager when to report for practice.

Babe Ruth tryouts will be held on April 19 and April 26, the time and place will be announced later. (Sp

Sports Show At Wheaton

One of the largest sport and travel shows in history is being planned for DuPage county under sponsorship of Central Du Page Sports Inc., at the Du-Page county fairgrounds on Manchester rd., west of Wheaton, on Saturday and Sunday, April 19 and 20.

The show will include everything for the sportsman and traveler — from hunting and fishing to travels around the world by water and air, states President James Skinner.

The 1958 show will be similar to the one presented two years ago in the Wheaton Community high school gymnasium. The expanse of this year's show, however, necessitates its presentation in much larger facilities, the county fairgrounds. (Sp

Card Netmen to Open Play At Home Against New Trier

Thurston Brown, Keith Butterfield and Jim Erickson will compete in the 3 singles when the Arlington tennis team opens at home against New Trier Tuesday, April 8.

Coach Ken Schaller has been putting his hopefuls through their paces this week with the squad of 27 boys taking their places in the ladder system of rating. Each of the boys can challenge others who are 2 or 3 steps above them on Coach Schaller's clipboard with these constant challenges helping keep the Arlington netmen on their toes.

THE FIRST 3 singles position are pretty well set for Heights. The doubles spots are a different matter. Holding the margin at the present time on doubles are seniors Jim Graves and Tom Longwell, junior Tom Von Boeckmann, and sophomores Bob Inman, Bruce Law and Warren Myers.

Coach Schaller also announced addition of a home match with Glenbrook May 12. First conference affair for Arlington will be at Maine April 22.

FROSH-SOPH picture in tennis at Heights has about 10 sophomores fighting for positions. Top 6 after the 3 sophomores with them trying out for the varsity include Ron Barnes, Steve Scheffer, Ken Moudry, Wayne Meyer, Bill Spoomer and Jay Wheelock.

Coach Farris also has 30 freshmen trying out for a spot with all of the freshmen and sophomores using the ladder system of challenge matches to see who starts each match. The additional match with Glenbrook is a frosh-soph affair as well as varsity.

Arlington CC Friday Night Golf League to Meet

First organizational meeting of the Friday night twilight golf league at Arlington Country Club will be held next week Friday, April 11, starting at 7:30 p.m. Any new golfers in the area interested in competing are invited to attend the meeting.

League officers are looking forward to a successful season with a few stags planned after golf with interesting and educational golf films. Films of the Miller open tournament of last season are scheduled to be shown after the meeting April 11. The league is also planning a Sunday preleague tournament for team members to get acquainted April 27.

Officers of the league include Al Walter of Arlington, president, Lou Ruggio of Des Plaines, vice president, Chuck Currey of Palatine, treasurer, and James Cesario of Wheeling, secretary.

Spring Grid Call at NU

Spring football practice began at Northwestern April 2 when 75 candidates reported to Coach Ara Parseghian at Dyche stadium. The 20 workouts will conclude May 3 with an intrasquad game that will also climax the annual two-day spring coaching clinic.

Seventeen lettermen out of 19 who will return next fall will participate in the spring drills.

Over half of the players on the spring roster are freshmen who will make their sophomore debuts next fall.

RETURNING backfield lettermen are Chip Holcomb and John Talley, quarterbacks, and Ron Burton, Mark Johnston and Sam Johnson, halfbacks. Veteran linemen on hand include Doug Asad and Fred Williamson, ends; Andy Cvercko, Pete Arena, Gene Gossage and Dave Neely, tackles; Joe Abbatiello, Bill Graf, John Lake and Jack Siatta, guards, and Jim Andreotti and Frank Bennett, centers.

The freshman ranks are expected to provide some promising backfield candidates including Dick Thornton, Chicago, and Ray "Dutch" Purdin, Greenfield, O., quarterbacks; Elbert Kimbrough, Galesburg, and Fred Hecker, Sioux Falls, S. D., fullbacks; and Irv Cross, Hammond, and Al Kimbrough, Galesburg, halfbacks. (Sp

Card 9 Opener At Niles Thurs.

Denny Thill will be on the mound for Arlington in the baseball opener at Niles Thursday of this week, with Tom Grey behind the plate.

Coach Dick Kinneman selected his battery Tuesday as his squad went through its first workout at Recreation park where the grass is in surprisingly good shape.

The Cardinals will open the league season Monday, April 7, at Maine with John Oberg and Dave Soenksen on the mound, Jim Peery and Don Gerken are also being given a chance to show their wares, working the intrasquad game Wednesday of this week.

THE INTRASQUAD games are good method of letting the players show what they can do, with Coach Kinneman setting up such games every other practice since weather permitted the nine to move outside.

Here's the expected batting order for the Niles game:

Tom Grey, c.
Al Sander or Al Seyler, lf.
Lee Magnuson, cf.
Jim Peery, 1b.
Ralph Wille, rf.
Denny Thill, p.
Dick Nickelsen, 3b.
Alan Hutchinson, 2b.
George Bork, ss.

Two outfielders waiting for a chance to break into the starting lineup are Ed Schumacher, a good defensive man, and Don Gerken. Squad has been cut to 22 for the season. (Sp

Tom Touhy, 826 N. Vail, Arlington Heights, scored the first hole in one of the season in this area when he made the seventh at Rolling Green in one shot Saturday, March 29. The seventh is a 140 yard hole with a par 3.

Witnessing the event were Bruce Beardsley of Mt. Prospect and Tilford Webster of Evans-

To Decide 2nd Half Title In Paddock Classic Loop

The schedule makers couldn't have done better if they tried. That's the situation in the Paddock Classic Traveling league where the first half winner, Hi-Way Recreation of Palatine, will be host to the second half leader, Victor Electric, this Saturday night with the second half championship at stake. Victor holds a 2-game margin over Hi-Way and needs 1 victory this Saturday night to cinch the second half title.

Victor Electric faltered all 3 times against Des Plaines at Gunnell's Lanes Saturday night, March 29, and saw its lead cut from 4 to 2 games. Des Plaines opened with 939 to take an 8-pin victory, followed with 947, then 979 for a 2865 series. Tony Sasso led the winners with 612 while Harry Clinton garnered 601. Hap Procunier bowled 612 to lead the losers.

HI-WAY OF PALATINE took 2 games from host Beverly, though the home team won the first game with 942. Hi-Way came back Joe Cordulack was high for Beverly with 646. George Kusch led Hi-Way with 596, with his teammates all shooting from 550 to 570. Jeffery Lanes of Wheeling won 2 games at Barrington Ten Pin to break the tie for last place.

Final night of second half competition is scheduled for this Saturday, April 5, with Jeffery at Des Plaines, Barrington Blatz at Beverly at Arlington, and Victor Electric at Hi-Way in Palatine. The 6 teams will hold a sweeper the following Saturday night at Gunnell's Lanes with grand championship play-off between first and second half winners scheduled for the same time.

MAC SAYS

by G. A. McELROY

COACH GUY CURTRIGHT has fielded some terrific baseball teams at North Chicago, including a second place team in the state meet, and everyone regards him as one of the top coaches in the Chicago area. He will launch the season in the new Tri-County League this season with only 2 starters from a year ago but they are the boys a coach needs most, an outstanding battery.

Jimmy Gerzel handled all the tough mound assignments for the Warhawks last season and had a 1.03 earned run average with a 7-3 record.

He hurled 2 no hit games. Receiving his right hand slants will be Al Herman who will be starting his third season as regular catcher. Last year he posted a .384 batting average. Four reserves who won letters are available from a squad which batted .307 for the season a year ago and won 17 while losing 6.

PALATINE, WITH A TEAM intact from 1957 when they tied for the Northwest crown, will be the club to beat this year in the new Tri-County loop, according to all observers. Added to the 9 regular lettermen will be Paul Incaprero, a good hitting pitcher who won a letter as a sophomore in 1956 but was ineligible last season.

Palatine is really loaded with talent. Dick Wisner is in his fourth year as regular shortstop and Orrin Helms, who pitched 9 conference victories in 1957, is back. Gerry Segebrecht was on the all league team at first base last year with Wisner and Helms.

PALATINE has one of the best broad jumpers in the area in Jordan Danforth. The Pirate senior put in some concentrated practice last year after the track season closed and improved his form so that he could make 20 feet. This spring he has won the Naperville Relays broad jump at 21' 3" and last Saturday took second at the Oak Park Relays with a leap of 21 4" for a new Palatine record.

The old record of 21' 3½" was made by Dick Stinson in 1943 at the Palatine Relays.

Danforth is an unusually consistent jumper. In his last 14 jumps in competition his poorest has been 20' 2".

HAYES JONES, who recently set a new worlds indoor 60 yard low hurdle record, is the same lanky colored lad who, as a freshman last spring at Eastern Michigan State college, won 4 firsts in the track meet of the Interstate Intercollegiate athletic conference. That day at Charleston, Illinois, Hayes ran a :09.4 hundred and broad jumped 24' 5/8" along with marks in both hurdle events good for 4 new league records. Along with this he high jumped 6 feet. That league should have some truly great marks before Jones graduates.

Wauconda had a 14-3 wrestling record this past winter and North Chicago 13-4, but both were beaten by the Palatine Pirates.

Bill Friberg who coached Wauconda's good team is looking for a new coaching position. He resigned recently as varsity football and wrestling coach at Wauconda where he has served successfully since 1954. Prior to that time he taught in the Barrington Elementary school system.

PALATINE HIGH seems destined to have better basketball teams in the future. This year's frosh team, the best in many seasons, is made up of boys who had good grade school training at the 7th and 8th grade levels. This past season the Paddock School 8th grade team in Palatine went through the season undefeated.

St. Theresa Catholic school, with only one practice a week in a rented gym, took second place in both divisions of the Northwest Catholic athletic conference.

From the high school standpoint it all adds up to the boys being one full year ahead in playing development when they reach the senior year and high school varsity ball as compared with a few years ago. Palatine High is not likely to have a conference contender until the present frosh reach the varsity level.

GEORGE IRELAND, basketball coach at Loyola university, will be the featured speaker at the Barrington high athletic banquet to be held April 7 in the high school gym under the sponsorship of the Barrington Lions Club. All Barrington teams will be honored. Last spring Barrington won North Suburban golf and tennis, and this year have taken the varsity football and basketball championships.

In spite of his record shattering total of 411 points this year in the Northwest Conference basketball season, Denny Freund of Wauconda still is short of the total for the full high school career posted by Bob Boyd of Glenbrook several years ago.

Boyd leads in lifetime Northwest scoring with 848. Freund is second with 782, Gene Jaskot of Wauconda third with 716, Alden Rudin of Warren is fourth with 703, and Denny Hodge of Grant fifth with 618. Bob Nolan of Wauconda and Ben Floyd of Antioch dropped from the top five due to the totals collected by Freund and Rudin this past season.

LIBERTYVILLE, who tied Zion for the North Suburban baseball title last year and deadlocked Barrington and Warren in 1956, is again regarded as a top contender. The North Suburban with a 7 team league will play only one round of 6 games and that means just anything can happen. Baseball is a percentage game and a schedule of only 6 league contests is hardly representative.

The athletic directors asked for a home and home 12 game schedule. The principals pared it to 9 which meant some schools would play a second game with tough schools and others with weak ones.

To avoid this kind of a schedule the athletic directors cut the card to 6 games to be fair with everyone. In the same league Crystal Lake and Barrington, who finished 1-2 in '57, are regarded as the strongest track squads at the outset of the 1958 season.

DEFENDING CHAMPS in all spring sports in the Northwest Conference will not be contenders this season because all of them are in the Tri-County conference. Palatine won the Northwest track 10 seasons in a row in the varsity division and all 7 years that a frosh-soph meet has been held. Glenbrook was usually second in recent years.

Last year Glenbrook and Palatine tied for the Northwest baseball championship. Glenbrook won the golf with Palatine second and these two have either won or finished second in the links tournament for the past 10 years.

The departure of these two spring sports giants from the Northwest conference scene leaves the championship race wide open. By the way, this is one of the reasons the Northwest league was not unhappy with the shift out of the conference of the large Cook county schools.

10 YEARS AGO: Bucky Harris won a major letter in basketball as a sophomore at the University of Iowa. Only former Palatine greats to win big time college cage awards were Francis Reuse at DePaul and Bob Hollinger at the University of Wisconsin . . . Jack Brumm of Arlington is pitching on the Northern Illinois State Teachers baseball team . . . Doug Mills, director of athletics at the University of Illinois has been secured by Wally Grace to speak at the Arlington Heights athletic banquet.

25 schools plan to attend the Palatine Relays where Antioch in "B" class and Niles in the "A" division are defending champions . . . Don Walker of Grant High school lost in the finals of the heavyweight division of the National Interscholastic Boxing Tournament in Charlottesville, Virginia . . . Palatine is to have a golf team. Principal G. A. McElroy has appointed Dick Pepper, a low 80 shooter, as coach and captain of the team and himself as general manager. Pepper was 5th in the conference tourney in 1947.

MODERN TROPHIES, 30-in-all, are displayed by Walt Wessman of Wessman-Cunningham sports store in Arlington Heights in preparation for the coming national basketball tournament of the deaf and dumb. Wassman shows 1 of the awards to Ruth Carlson of Maison de Romayne shop next door, explaining the tourney April 10-11 in DePaul university gymnasium will include teams from all over the country. Deaf and dumb organization carries on a full athletic program for "the silents," including an international Olympics every 4 years, the last 1 held in Rome.

Des Plaines Ball Team to Practice

First official practice of the Des Plaines semi-pro baseball club will be held at West Park field, Wolf and Walter sts., Des Plaines, this Saturday, April 5 at 2 p.m.

The club is looking for as many prospects as possible with the only qualification necessary to participate in the practice session is that the players be 18 years old or older. First practice game is scheduled for April 27.

Further information, particularly with reference to a knowledge of college players living in the area who might be interested in playing with the team, is being sought by Wes Kentzel, manager of the team, at CLearbrook 3-6242, evenings. Wes lives in Elk Grove village and will be the team's player-manager.

International Show

What turned out to be one of the largest International K.C. shows in many a year took place this past Saturday and Sunday at the International amphitheatre in Chicago. When the final figures came through it showed that 2,366 dogs were entered into 2,507 classes and that is no small amount of dogs under one roof. Ask anyone who was there.

The English Setter that went Best in Show, "Ch. Ben-Dar's Winning Stride" owned by Mrs. Ray O'Connell of Lavonia, Mich., was a popular choice judging from the ovation that went up from the crowd when the dog was given the top spot by the judge, Alva Rosenberg of New York City.

There were 89 dogs entered from this area and among the winners were: Edward and Geraldine Wolfe of Arlington Heights with their Pugs; William and Patricia Irwin of Palatine, Afghan Hounds; Mrs. Frank Cory, Arlington Heights, English Setter; William and Lucille Gallagher, Arlington Heights, Poodle; Leo Eigner, Arlington Heights, Great Dane.

From Prospect Heights were: Mr. and Mrs. James J. Nail, Airedale Terriers; Charles Leclerc, Labrador Retriever; Leonie J. Boehmer, Brussels Griffons.

Palatine winners also included Patricia Biringer, German Shepherd, who also took second place in the children's obedience demonstration; Tressa E. Thurmer, Chihuahuas; Tarawil kennels, Irish setter, which was best Irish Setter; Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Obrien, Fred J. and Rickey Ortman, Boxers.

Erma E. Muster, Bensenville, owns the best Weimaraner entered; Ernest and Verna Holliman of Roselle took wins with a Pointer.

Entries from Rolling Meadows taking wins were: Barbara S. Kellett, Welsh Terriers; and Marina and Wayne Yelland with a Doberman Pinscher.

Barks & Bays

With all this talk about dogs winning at shows, a custom in ancient Ethiopia was perhaps to go even a little better. There the people used to elect dogs as "kings." That is really going to the dogs. (Sp

8 'Hundred-Granders' Head Arlington-Washington Card

Enthusiastic endorsement of the new 97-day Arlington-Washington-Balmoral coordinated meeting by horsemen from all points on the racing map has resulted in a near-record total of 1,796 nominations to Arlington-Washington's eight early-closing stakes, all of which will be run at Arlington Park in 1958.

Arlington and Washington's 8 "hundred granders" highlight the coordinated meeting's rich stakes program of 32 events worth a total of $1,500,000 in added money, most ambitious presentation in Illinois history.

The 32 features punctuate the 16 weeks of major racing which begin May 12 at Washington Park for an 8-week stand through July 5. Arlington Park opens July 7 for 49 more days of top-level racing until Labor Day, Sept. 1.

TWO-YEAR-OLD competition, always one of the most attractive aspects of the Arlington Park-Washington Park label, is expected to exceed all expectations this summer in view of hefty nominations rosters to the four major stakes limited to two-year-olds.

They are the $75,000 added Arlington Park and Washington Park Futurities, and the $50,000 added Arlington Lassie and Princess Pat Stakes for 2-year-old fillies. The Arlington Futurity is scheduled for August 2, the Washington Park Futurity, August 30. The running dates for the Lassie and Pat are July 23 and August 13, respectively.

A total of 337 2-year-olds, including the best of the nation's home-bred crop and virtually every top-priced yearling offered at last year's sales, have been nominated for both Futurities. There were 297 fillies nominated for each the Arlington Lassie and the Princess Pat stakes.

AT THE TOP of the list of high-priced youngsters named for both Futurities is the Nasrullah-In Bloom colt owned by King Ranch which brought $65,000 at last year's Keeneland summer sales, tops for the year.

On the roster for both Lassie and Pat is last year's highest priced filly, a $49,000 Saratoga Sales purchase. She's named Perimeter, a daughter of Discovery-Tatula, and owned by Paul Mellon's Rokeby stable. Rokeby also named last year's second-highest priced filly for the Lassie and Pat — Spicewood, by Royal Charger-Pashmina, $47,000 purchase. (sp

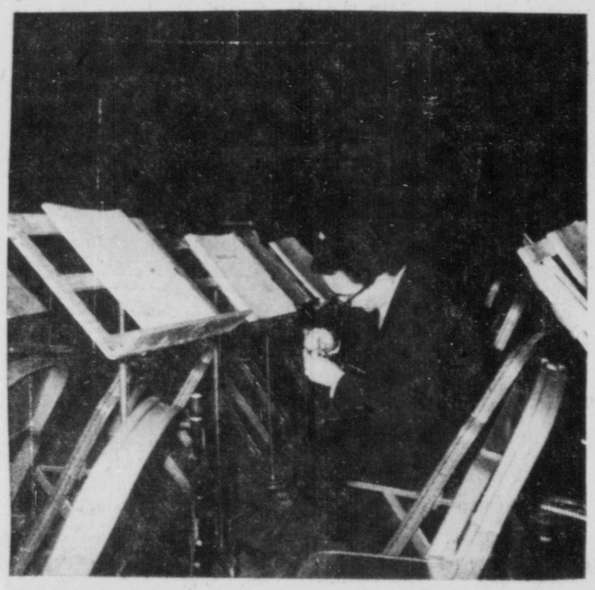
Camera, Critic View Symphony

CELLOIST LESLIE PARNAS finds a corner in which to tune his instrument before crowd arrives.



CHANGING REEDS as curtain time approaches is Michael Burgio, second clarinetist.

WARMING UP for the concert in a classroom at Arlington high school was concertmaster Harry Farbman.

By JOHN W. SCHAFF

The final event in the current series of Community Concerts was the program of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra on Sunday, March 23 in the Arlington high school auditorium. A full and too appreciative audience (they applauded even between movements of the Brahms symphony) greeted conductor Vladimir Golschmann and his orchestra of 87 players. The program was most mature in stature and on the whole exceptionally well executed.

Brahms 4th Symphony in E minor is the most complex and technically involved of all his greater symphonies. To a mature musician even the fifth hearing only begins to reveal the intricacy and complexity of the work. The composer himself feared that acceptance would be slow on the part of the public. The symphony is a mass of intricate detail put together with the greatest of talent; it is replete with ingenious themes and superb combinations of tonal structure. Brahms dearly loved the sonata form, and his first movement follows this pattern as it does in all of his symphonies. Neither is it often that a slow movement is announced by the forceful tones of the horns supported by the woodwind section in full chorus, but it is not long until the pizzicato strings take up the first subject of this theme, which is also in sonata form. A second subject is given to the cello section, and this orchestra had a good one. The third movement is scherzo-like in character, although marked "allegro giocoso"; the fourth and last movement is a monumental writing of 32 variations, representing the great master in some of his best writing.

The more one hears this symphony the greater admiration will be had for it, and with its repetition the multitudinous detail will fall into place and the whole take on a deep and significant meaning as is true of all great classics.

Due probably to a new stage and unfamiliar acoustics the Egmont overture got off to a rather shaky start in matters of precision of attack and certainty of pitch in the first violins, but then proceeded to a rather sonorous playing of what sounded like a passive Beethoven instead of the towering giant of chord structure we hear in the well loved fifth and ninth symphonies. It is a never ending wonder why so many amateur and professional performers treat the early German master so gently.

The harp could have been movel to a more advantageous stage position for its prominent part in the Ravel, as the heavily draped stage has its own peculiar acoustical problems.

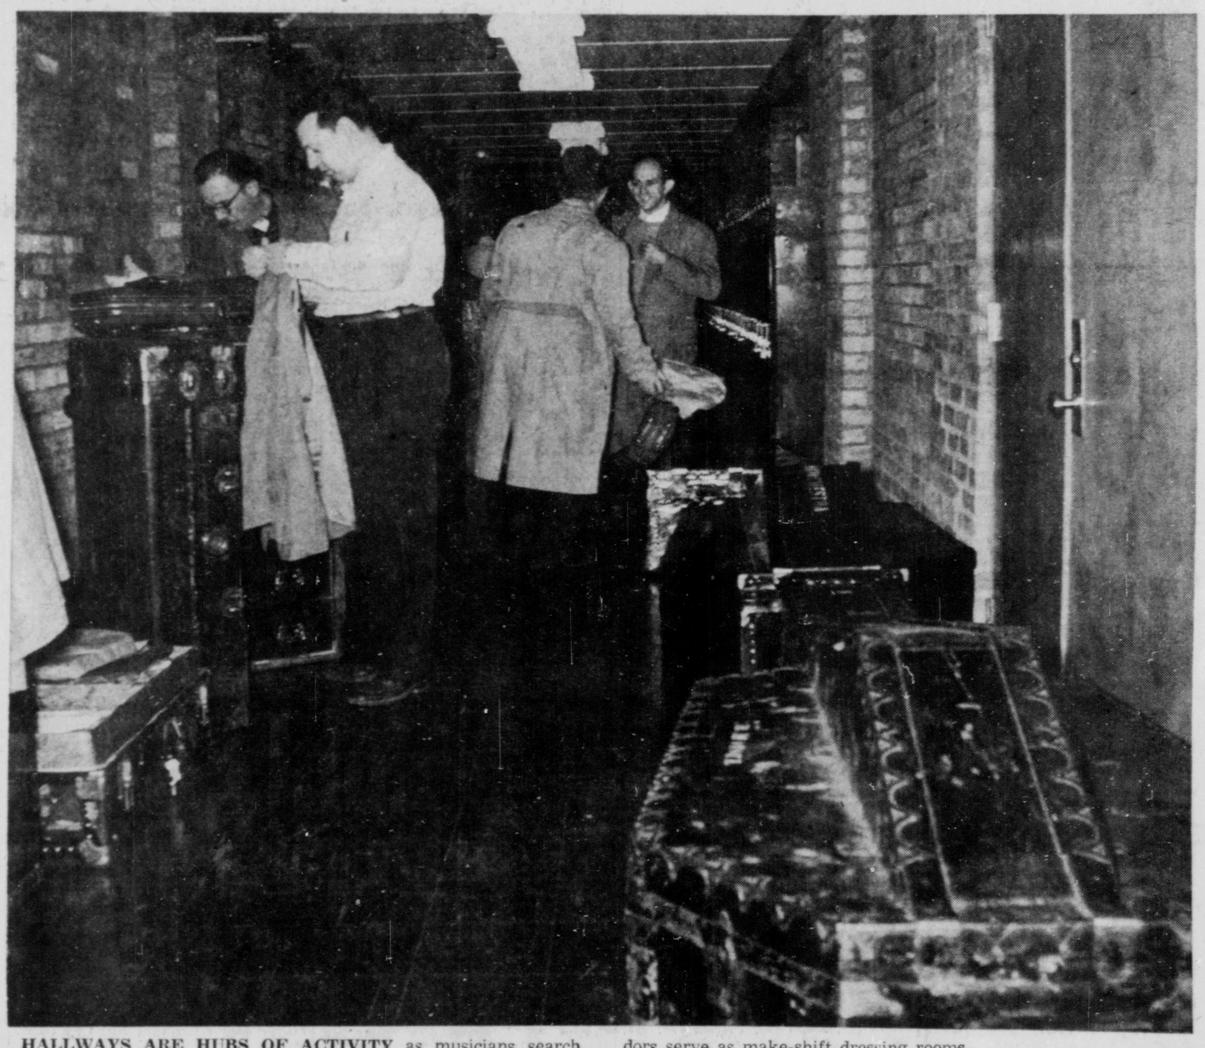
Dr. Golschmann belongs to the more conservative school of musical expression and physical conducting, which is all to the good. He has achieved a nicety of balance and a musical understanding of nuance with his players. If one could wish, it would have been nice to substitute the "Parsifal music and Good Friday spell" for the Tristan; I know they would have done it well.

And a reminder to the un-initiated to save them acute embarrassment—do not applaud between the movements of a symphony at Orchestra Hall or at the Gewandhaus.

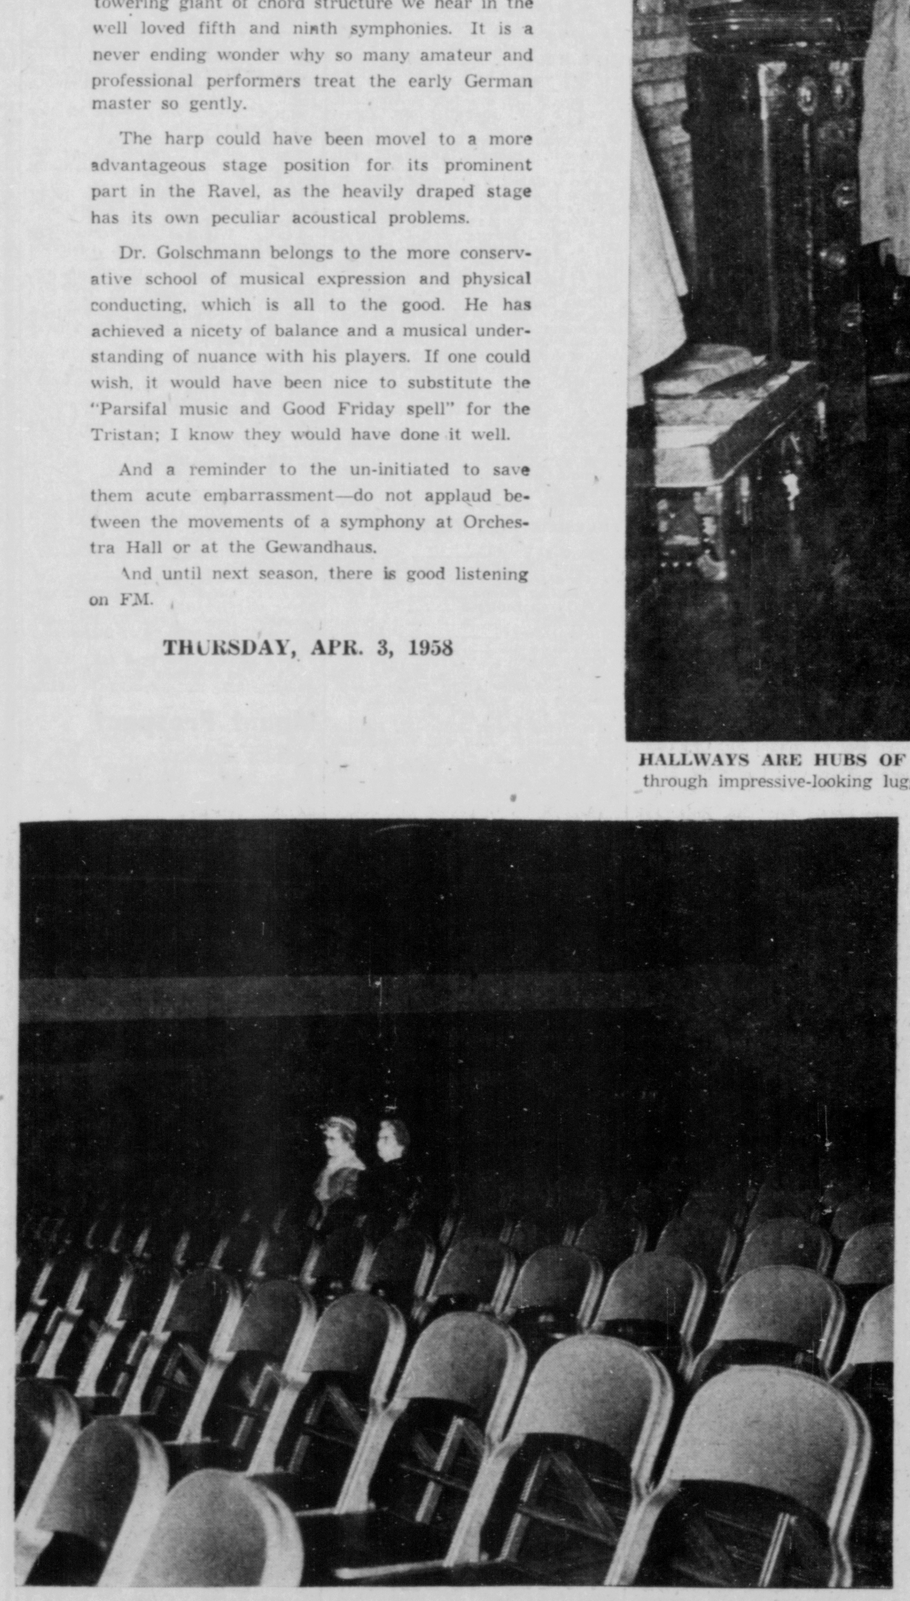
And until next season, there is good listening on FM.

THURSDAY, APR. 3, 1958

DELICATELY HANDLING her instrument, orchestra's Madame Pampari unwraps harp as musicians set up for the evening's performance.



HALLWAYS ARE HUBS OF ACTIVITY as musicians search through impressive-looking luggage and pause for chats. Corridors serve as make-shift dressing rooms.



EARLY ARRIVALS witness mass activity which precedes dignified concert by the Community Concert artists. These 2 music-lovers were soon joined by a full gym of Series enthusiasts.

PART 4

She's Prepared for Parole

If I ever get out of stir (this is what us ex-cons call four walls that have held us captive over a prescribed period of time), I am all prepared. When anyone comes up to me and says the usual "How are you?," I am not going to buckle under and tell them that I am just fine. No sir. I am going to tell them how I am.

I not only will tell them how I am but, if I can get them to stick around for a while without having to resort to grabbing them by the arm, I will relate all my symptoms and sufferings. If the hearer seems even vaguely interested, I will do the symptom part with gestures.

I don't get sick very often but when I do, I seem bent on being sicker than anyone else ever gets. Others tell me that I really am not any sicker than others but they just say that to cheer me up. I know I am sicker. Others get either Asian or American flu. I get Asian, American, European and Antarctic flu.

You can pooh-pooh this all you want and call me neurotic but I don't know anyone else who gets so sick they break out in a white hot rash all over. And, swell up. Go on, just name me someone who can do this.

There I lay on my bed of pain complete with aspirin, Kleenex, popping the thermometer in and out of my mouth at great pace when all of a sudden it was borne upon me that all was far from well. In fact, all was about as far from well as I had ever seen, or felt.

I was swelling. This sounds pretty funny put so baldly and all, but let me tell you, I wasn't laughing. And, when I got a gander at myself in the mirror, I bawled. I howled like a banshee. After all, one minute I looked like a slightly moth-eaten rednosed redeyed American housewife. The next minute I would have given th ebiggest lipped Ubangi femal a run for her money.

But, it wasn't just a swelling of the lips. It was as though I had gained about 200 pounds and had a whooping good case of the measles on top of it. Believe me, when the family laughed, I threw things. Like Kleenex, aspirin and thermometer.

I'm feeling better now, thank you, and am afraid I will live. But, don't go away, let me tell you. It was terrible.

Tickets Still Available for Spring Dance

A few tickets are still available for the April 12 spring dance sponsored by Mt. Prospect Junior Womans club. Charles Carlson Takes Chicago Girl as Bride

(Community Camera

Mayfair Presbyterian church in Chicago was the scene March 15 of a candlelight service in which Miss Marcia Magill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Magill of Chicago, became the bride of Charles R. Carlson, son of the Arvid G. Carlsons, 213 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights.

The double ring ceremony took place at 7 p.m. with Rev. Robert C. Hubbard officiating. Mrs. Donald Ohlsen, organist, accompanied Miss Carolyn Smick as she sang "I Love Thee," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Bouquets of assorted white and yellow flowers decorated the altar while white satin ribbons and candelabra marked the pews.

The bride was escorted by her father and wore a floor-length gown of white hand-embroidered nylon tulle fashioned with sabrina neckline, short sleeves and chapel train. She wore elbow gauntlets of the same material and a fingertip veil attached to a scalloped bandeau of tulle.

THE BRIDAL BOUQUET of white roses, lily of the valley and ivy sprays was colonial with leaves of seed pearls and lace.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Lois Youngstrom of Chicago while bridesmaids were Mrs. Jill Person of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Lorraine Schuster of Miami, Fla. They wore identical ballerina gowns of frosted nylon in pale orchid with white lace bodices and flowered headpieces. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of pale pink roses and parma violets.

Mrs. Magill received in a beige lace silk shantung with pink accessories while Mrs. Carlson was in a toast lace sheath with matching accessories. Both wore pink rose corsages.

Arvid W. Carlson, twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man and ushers were Richard B. Carlson, another brother of the bridegroom, and George Morse of Chicago.

A DINNER reception for 400 guests was held in the Gold room at the Chateau Royale in Chicago after which the couple left on a 2-week wedding trip to Aspen, Colo. Among the guests at the wedding were the couples' maternal grandmothers, Mrs. Julia Lower of Pierpont, Ohio and Mrs. Clara Brice of Quincy, Ill. Other out-of-town guests came from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Florida, Minnesota, Michigan, Indiana and southern Illinois.

The bride was graduated from Chicago Teachers college and is now employed in the Chicago public school system. The bridegroom is employed by the International Business Machine Corp.

The couple is residing in Chicago. (Community Camera

Pi Phi's to Gather April 9 To Mark 91st Anniversary

Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi, national women's fraternity, from Park Ridge to Palatine, will gather April 9 to celebrate the 91st anniversary of the founding of their fraternity.

National and province officers will honor the Arlington Heights alumnae club, sponsor of the celebration, with their presence.

Pi Beta Phi was founded at Monmouth college April 1867 and was the first organization of college women founded upon the principles and organized with the aims and policies of a national fraternity.

MRS. BENJAMIN C. Lewis of Dearborn, Mich., grand council member, will highlight the banquet with her message on fraternity trends, convention news, and "Pi Beta Phi Today."

The banquet, which will be held at the Pantry, Park Ridge, will also be the seventh birthday of the Arlington Heights alumnae club. The Arlington club, will have as its special guests, members from the newly-organized Park Ridge-Des Plaines alumnae club.

Mrs. Willis M. Hubbard and Mrs. L. P. Swanson are co-chairmen for the banquet. Mrs. John O. Miller, assisted by Mrs. Francis H. Donahue and Mrs. Samuel H. Clark Jr., are in charge of table arrangements. Mrs. John G. Maun are Mrs. Robert F. Horwath are in charge of programs.

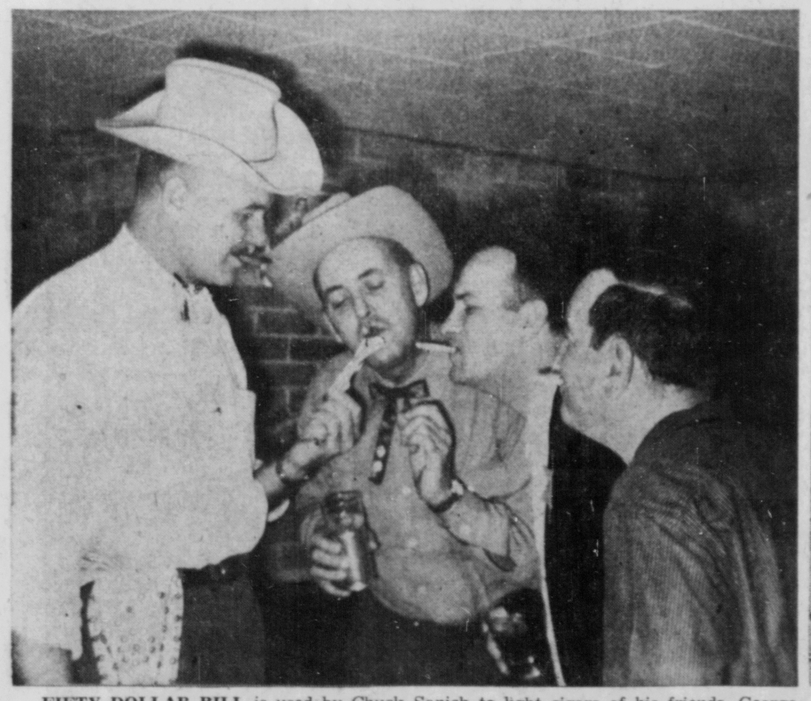
MUSIC WILL BE provided by the Pi Phi sextette, consisting of Mrs. Robert Cowan, Mrs. Leslie H. Dix, Mrs. Gerald L. Hall, Mrs. Robert Horwath, Mrs. Charles Oestmann and Mrs. William Mills. Mrs. Mills is director of the group.

Farewell Party Goes Western for Couple Going South



FIFTY DOLLAR BILL is used by Chuck Sanich to light cigars of his friends, George Johnson, Bill Carroll and Lorie Swiatek at western party given March 22 by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gillespie in their home at 100 W. Sunset rd., Mt. Prospect. Incidentally, $50 bill was play money, distributed to guests for use in the variety of games planned by the host couple.

"COLT 45" might be the answer to this charade in which TV westerns were acted out. Charade game was part of the entertainment planned by the Gillespies for their guests at western party March 22. Adrienne Sanich, Dick Locke, Adele Freiburger and Evelyn Carroll participate in the charade game. Other games included a cowboy and Indian dart game and a "guess the baby picture" contest.

"HOW!" IS THE GREETING given by Monte Bond, left, to the Indian couple, the Henry Gillespies. Mrs. Bond wore typical western neckerchief and 10-gallon hat. Party was given in honor of the Bonds who are moving to Dallas after living in Mt. Prospect for 1½ years. Twenty-two neighbors attended the courtesy and presented the honoress with an electric ice crusher and a hamburger press with the names of the guests burned permanently into the wood.

Junior Women to Help Easter Bunny

Several committees of the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's club are helping the Easter bunny distribute joy of the Easter season to many people who might otherwise be forgotten.

Women at the Chicago State hospital in Dunning will have a selection of Easter bonnets gathered by the American home and garden committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Howard H. Buchholz, 909 N. Forest, Arlington Heights. Jewelry, clothing and soap will also be sent along with the hats. These gifts will take care of all the women in one ward.

LAWRENCE HALL School for boys will receive 9 dozen decorated Easter eggs from Mrs. Robert A. Pfeiffer, 2 Lancaster, Mt. Prospect and her Lawrence Hall committee.

Children of 4 migrant families living on nearby farms received Easter baskets through the efforts of the American citizenship and international relations committee. Mrs. Donald E. Keiffer, 1232 N. Chicago, Arlington Heights, is chairman of the committee.

MARSHMALLOW bunnies and candy fill Easter baskets made by the orphanages committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. E. W. Gebhardt, 1416 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights. They will be given to children of the nursery school at Christopher House in Chicago.

Mrs. Thomas E. Smith, 1610 Olive, Arlington Heights, and her Park Ridge School for Girls committee will bake cakes to be delivered at the school Saturday, April 5, in time for Easter Sunday.

Gracious Living Is Womans Club Lecture Title

A program on "Gracious Living" employing paint chips, wallpaper backgrounds, swatches of fabric and accessories will be presented by Mildred Roscher to members of the Womans Club of Palatine at the group's next departmental meeting April 8. The meeting will be held at 1 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Frank Wiley, Spring Creek farm, Old Plum Grove rd.

The meeting will be conducted jointly by the American home and the art and music departments of the club.

Mrs. Roscher is a member of several art, fashion and study groups and keeps current with the newest trends. According to the club's program committee, Mrs. Roscher's program goes beyond just decorating a home, as she gives her audience not only a desire to express themselves artistically, but to put color into their everyday living.

Something for Everyone at Antique Show

RIGHT OUT OF GRANDMOTHER'S living room comes this antique chair on which Mrs. G. T. Orr is seated at Mount Prospect Presbyterian church antique show and sale. Mrs. Orr served as dealer contact for the show March 24 and 25 at which 16 leaders, mostly from the Chicago area, displayed samples of their wares. Luncheons, under the supervision of Mrs. Charles Beesley, were available at the show as well as morning and afternoon coffee. Show chairman was Mrs. Russell Brown.

Just Around The Corner From Patty McArdle

How to Make an Egg Tree

Dear Peg:

Just about the same amount of thought is given to the trimming of our Easter egg tree as to our Christmas tree—and the same number of problems: who is to prepare the ornaments for hanging and who is to hang them, where should they hang and where should the tree be displayed (it just occured to me, I hope you don't have the same mental picture of an Easter egg tree as Megan had when for the first time, three years ago, I suggested making one. It does not have the proportions of a Christmas tree, but rather is the size of a small branch, which when broken off is about two feet high and stretches out to about two and a half feet across).

Originally, the egg tree was designed for our dining room table, however, it turned out to be a little too large so, as I was about to decide on a spot in the living room for it, Megan begged to have it in her room and that's where each one has stood for the last three years.

"No, Bridget, that limb doesn't have enough little branches on it to hang things on," I said, as she walked across the yard to me, waving a forked stick. It was a beautiful sunny afternoon, and while Daddy raked leaves, we looked for a suitable egg tree branch. Megan, who had been carefully examining each tree, shouted from the side of the house, "Mama, I've found a good one!" She was right. Hanging, just within reach, was a perfectly shaped branch. I easily snapped it off and gave it to Megan to take into the house.

The first step in the transformation of a bare brown limb into a gleaming Easter decoration is to cover it with white shoe polish (easier and faster than paint). I have a thick piece of styro-foam into which I stick the branch to keep it upright (this can later be covered with Easter "grass"). Fortunately I thought of the "tree" several days ago so I'd been keeping egg shells. By gluing ric-rac or ribbon around an egg shell half, you can make a miniature basket which can be filled with tiny artificial flowers or a few colorful jelly beans. I like to use the narrowest ric-rac and in colors for the white egg baskets and with the colored egg shells I use white, gold or silver ric-rac or ribbon. In the florist shop I found tiny birds and bees that could be wired to the limbs along with a few of the artificial flowers to make them a little less bare.

Our finished product is lovely and so far has remained in the living room to be admired by all. I think your kiddies would have fun making this. Have a bright and happy Easter Day and a blessed season throughout.

My love,

Patty.

AAUW to Hear Panel Discuss 'Effects of O'Hare Field'

Thursday, April 17, northwest suburban branch of the American Association of University Women will hear a panel discussion on the "Effects of O'Hare Field on the Surrounding Communities." Scheduled for 8:45 p.m., the meeting will take place in the South Park field house, Des Plaines.

The panel will include Austin Wyman, chairman of the Illinois toll road commission; James Galloway, Park Ridge city manager, who will represent all the communities around the area; Mrs. Patricia Ogg, a school teacher; and James Strunck, assistant corporation counsel, Chicago bureau of aviation.

Mrs. J. S. Stroud, 1700 Good ave., Park Ridge, a member of the AAUW, will act as moderator. After the 10-minute talks by the four panelists, Mrs. Stroud will open the panel for questions from the floor and discussion.

MR. WYMAN WILL answer questions relating to the network of super highways and toll roads now under construction around O'Hare. Mr. Galloway will tell of the effects of O'Hare on population trends and business in general in the several communities of the northwest area around O'Hare, with special emphasis on zoning that has taken place recently or is planned, from Park Ridge out as far as Barrington.

Mrs. Ogg will talk about teaching in this aero-atomic age with emphasis on classroom experiences. Mr. Strunck will tell about expansion plans for O'Hare; how the placing of new run-ways will affect the northwest suburban communities; what developments there are for control of noise, especially that of commercial jets; and how the CAB regulations apply to O'Hare regarding the altitude for take-offs and landings.

Tri Sigmas Mark 60th Birthday

Mrs. Howard Rudin of Arlington Heights, president of the west suburban alumnae chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, will preside as toastmistress when the Tri Sigmas celebrate the sorority's 60th birthday Saturday, April 19. The celebration will be in the form of a luncheon at the Spinning Wheel in Hinsdale.

To carry out the tradition begun in Farmville, Va. by the founders in 1897, a penny for each year will be contributed by each guest. Funds thus collected support the national convention to be held in St. Louis in 1959.

Tables will be appointed with violets, the sorority flower and among the national officers in attendance will be Mrs. Chester Kyle of Deerfield.

Name Committee For Benefit Ice Carnival

Chicago chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis society has named Mrs. John B. Sickel, 537 S. Pine, Arlington Heights, Mrs. Frank M. Farleigh, 407 S. See-Gwun, Mt. Prospect, Mrs. John R. Layer, 302 Ridge, Prospect Heights, and Mrs. Richard L. Acrey, 103 S. George, Mt. Prospect, as members of the benefit ticket committee for the ice carnival of Chicagoland.

The Ice Carnival is being presented by the 2000 students of the Michael Kirby ice skating schools, and will be held Sunday, April 20, at 2 p.m. in the Chicago Stadium.

Proceeds will be used for research into the causes and cure of multiple sclerosis, a crippling and, thus far, incurable disease which selects young adults as its victims.

Tickets may be secured through any member of the ticket committee.

BELOW — Friendship Frolic dance tickets are now being sold for the April 12 affair which will benefit the Palatine Youth organization. Carol Lee Sand, center, chairman of the ticket committee, is being assisted by Mrs. G. R. Hughes and Mrs. F. C. Roberts, members of Palatine Junior Womans club, sponsor of the dance. The dance will be held at 9 p. m. in Palatine Fireman's hall with Jack's of Rhythm orchestra providing music for dancing. During the intermission, students from Palatine high school will entertain the dancers.

SOUTH OF THE BORDER HOLIDAY is enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Rueckert of Inverness. After touring Mexico City, Taxco and Cuernavaca, they went on to tropical Acapulco and are pictured here with their pink and white jeep, rented during their stay at the Club Las Brisas. The Rueckerts also had a private "cocktail sized" swimming pool.

Hostess of the month at Dirigo

Mrs. Carl H. Skoog, 208 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights, has been chosen hostess-of-the-month at Dirigo Fine Table Appointments. The popular Arlington Heights hostess has been a resident since 1925, and her husband served as police chief from 1927 until the first of this year, when he retired.

Mrs. Skoog's hobby of china collecting took her to Dirigo soon after its opening last summer. Her selection of china shown here is a full pattern in rich autumn colorings, enhanced by Kings Crown glassware in cranberry. This combination is especially charming with Mrs. Skoog's pine table and hutch in her kitchen-dining area, and blends with the Early American decor.

DIRIGO FINE TABLE APPOINTMENTS, located one block north of Dundee Road on Milwaukee Avenue in Wheeling, welcomes visitors during its hours from 9:30 to 6 daily, Sundays from 1 to 6. Telephone, Wheeling 1978.

A BACKDROP of the Champs-Elysees and colorful travel posters will provide the setting for "April in Paris" the style show to be presented April 9 by the Catholic Womans club of St. Joseph the Worker parish. The affair will begin at 8:30 and will be held in Chevy Chase country club. The show will feature fashions for men, women and children and all proceeds from the show will go to the parish church and school building fund. Among the models are Mrs. John Hinz, left, Mrs. Norman Lynott, Kathy Schultz, Larry Kean, Mrs. John O'Donnell and Mrs. Marvin Horcher.

EASTER BUNNY, in keeping with the season, is admired by Mrs. Ted Basak, Mrs. E. W. King, Mrs. Ray Harrison and Mrs. Elbert Kamp, who are actively planning the annual Easter Monday card party to be held at 8 p.m. April 7 in St. James hall, Arlington Heights. Mrs. Basak is in charge of prizes while Mrs. King is chairman of the party. Homemade cakes and coffee will be served by Mrs. Harrison and her committee. Mrs. Kamp is president of the women's guild, sponsors of the affair.

Lessons In English

OFTEN MISUSED

Observe the meanings of "emphatically" (forcefully), "undoubtedly" (unquestionably), and "decidedly" (clearly). Thus: "He emphatically denied the charge, although he was undoubtedly guilty. The trial was a decidedly fair one."

Do not say, "Everyone of them know it is true." Say, "Everyone of them knows it is true."

Dice, the small cubes used in gaming, is the plural form of die.

Do not say "I see her every once in awhile." Omit "every," or better still, say, "I see her occasionally."

Do not say, "The house was surrounded on all sides by water."

"On all sides" is redundant. Merely say, "The house was surrounded by water."

OFTEN MISSPELLED

Damageable; observe that the "e" is retained after the "g." Welfare, one "l;" well-being, 2 "l's," and hyphenated. Acquit, one "t;" acquittal and acquitting, 2 "t's." Cord (twine); chord (in music). Accidentally; and not "accidently." Hoard (to lay up); horde (tribe).

WORD STUDY

"Use a word 3 times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day. Words for this lesson:

Banal; trite; ordinary. (Pronounce bay-nahl). "He comes from a staid environment of banal conventionality."

Choleric; quick to anger; irascible. (Pronounce kahl-er-ick, accent first syllable). "A choleric disposition impairs reasoning."

Pristine; belonging to the earliest time; primitive; uncorrupted. (Pronounce priss-teen). "The foliage had a dustless, pristine freshness."

Emolument; profit; earnings. "Some prefer to work for a stipendiary emolument, rather than for a commission."

Oligarchy: a form of government in which the power is vested in a few or a state so governed. (Pronounce oll-i-gahr-ki, accent first syllable). "Hitler's Germany was an oligarchy."

Fallacious; deceptive; misleading. (Pronounce fah-lay-shuss, accent second syllable). "The doctrine was fallacious."

Driver Education Slated For Session

Arlington high school will offer 2 3-week courses in driver education, June 15 through July 3 and July 7 through July 21.

Anyone residing in District 214, 16 years of age by June 16 and under 21 years of age is eligible to enroll in this course.

The course will consist of 30 hours of classroom instruction and 6 hours in the car. The classroom phase will meet from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. Mondays through Fridays and each student will receive 2 hours of instruction in the car each week.

THE CLASSROOM phase consists of discussions of current problems in driving, brief understanding of the automobile, methods of controlling the car in different situations. Tests in depth perception, reaction time, peripheral vision and night driving are given so that the student is aware of any physical handicap and can then compensate for it in his driving habits.

Class limit will be held to 30 students. For further information call Arington high school at CLearbrook 3-0200. (B8

Firemen's Dance — Ladies, this is Leap Year. Now is the time to make a date with your choice gentleman friend and invite him to attend the Grand Dance to be given in Meyer's Pavilion. Easter Monday, April 20.

Palatine —Louis Keyes graduated from the Chicago Veterinary College Monday evening.

Miss Martha Hinrichs has finished her term in dressmaking with Mrs. Hastings, and will be at her home to her friends in the future.

Home made ice cream at the fruit store. Twenty-five cents a quart, 90 cents a gallon.

Gentlemen, attention — I am desirous to become acquainted with the young men of Palatine and vicinity and offer to make up suits for $20, $22.50 and $25, all the latest cut and good materials. This special reduction made only to customers outside of Chicago. W. M. Cook, 410 Security bldg., Cor. Fifth ave. and Madison st., Chicago.

CAROLINE KEHE was born in Schaumburg, Germany in 1829; came over to America in 1848 in the same ship with Christian and Louis Busse and John Fasse, who was her school mate and lover in the old Country. She worked 3 years as a domestic in Chicago, while her future husband worked for farmers in Schaumburg. She and the Hon. John Fasse were married in 1852; to them were born 9 children. She died March 26.

Hanover — Two Prohibition individuals were driving around in Hanover township trying to tell people how to vote April 7. The only word they always said vote yes on the ticket, do us just this favor. The way it sounded they was scared to death that the town would stay wet. Well its just this way, a person might say there is 2 persons driving around trying to ruin this township. Boys don't listen to them but vote No.

Wheaton has not had a saloon in over 20 years and is equipped with all modern improvements necessary for a well regulated city. It has been our custom to pay our taxes in cash and not boys. Naperville, West Chicago, Elmhurst, Lombard and the northern towns have had the saloon license money to make public improvements with for the last decade, and are, today far back in the procession as compared with Wheaton, Hinsdale and Downers Grove, towns which have been helping their own children instead of the saloon keepers. Wheaton is not guilty of exchanging manhood and womanhood for water works, paved streets, electric light plants and other city improvements. Ours has been a cash transaction.

ITASCA — Aug. Broeker has bought a fine house and lot on Maple ave. for $3400. The Broeker family expect to move to town soon. F. L. Broeker Jr. will take charge of the farm.

Wheeling — the largest and oldest tree in the village of Wheeling, belonging to Robert Periolet has been cut down. It took a week to cut the tree and an expense of $6.

Miss Amanda Landmeier, second oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Landmeier of Elk Grove, and Mr. William Stock, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Stock, of Wood Dale, were united in marriage by Rev. Wolf, March 29. The happy couple will start housekeeping on the groom's parents' farm north of Wood Dale.

Sixty enthusiastic business men from Des Plaines, Mt. Prospect, Arlington Heights, Lake Zurich and Wauconda responded to the invitation of the Palatine Business Men's Association and held a rousing get-to-gether meeting at the Palatine village hall Tuesday evening. The ready response that resulted from talks by the business men themselves will mean a permanent suburban business men's association for the mutual welfare of not only the business men, but their customers as well.

Saturday, April 6 will be a great patriotic day in Arlington Heights, when all loyal citizens of this city and country for miles around are asked to join in the proper observance commemorating the anniversary of the U. S. entry in the world war.

PALATINE — Fifty Palatine people heard Billy Sunday preach at the Tabernacle in Chicago Saturday evening. Rev. Foster acted as chaperon.

Wm. Geibel died Tuesday afternoon. He was born in 1886. His father was pastor of the St. Paul's church at Palatine many years. Following his marriage to Miss Rose Tottenhouse 8 years ago, he came to Palatine to live.

Unless the boys stop swearing and using obscene language while playing on the playground around the school house, the school board will be asked to close the recreation grounds. The young girls are entitled to protection from hearing unfit words and this paper is going to see to it that they get it.

Receiver R. L. Peck of the Palatine, Lake Zurich and Wauconda R.R. has obtained an order from the court authorizing him to advertise the road for sale. Said sale will take place at the Palatine depot May 15. The minimum price at which the road can be sold is $100,000.

Monday evening, April 1, the Arlington Heights Band "went over the top" in a manner that won approval and applause of every one who was present at their second annual concert given in Arlington Hall. The patient work of Prof. H. C. Landeck has born fruit and there was no happier man that evening than he over the showing that "his boys" were making. Mr. Lyman Nichols with a violin solo and Miss Loraine Boeger with vocal solos lent variety to the evening's program.

POSTMASTER Wm. Meyer has Smileage books for sale, and letters from Arlington Heights to the boys in camp are beginning to carry these much prized coupon books to the boys in uniform. They are in 2 sizes, costing either $1 or $5, and are used by the soldier for admission into the Liberty Theatres, one of which is being erected in each camp. The entertainment given at these theatres are the biggest Broadway successes. By the cooperation of the government the price of admission is small. As many of these soldiers send nearly their entire pay home, smileage books are greatly welcome.

Tuesday was election day, but the judge and clerks were about the only ones who knew it. They found it a long tedious day even at $5 per, except the officials of Precinct One stationed at the Village Hall, Arlington Heights. For want of a checker board or something else to take up the time, they got up some excitement in the organization of a pool based on the number of votes. According to the articles and regulations duly drawn up, the judges bet the clerks that there would not be over 47 votes cast. The terms provided that the loser should sweep Campbell street from Vail east to the fountain. The judges would have won, but somebody gave the secret away at the town meeting. As a result the business men on Campbell street got busy and sent down enough votes to insure the cleaning of their street. Now will they get it?

Arlington Heights is growing so fast that one teamster can no longer handle all the freight and express. There is plenty of work here for another drayman who can easy make $10 a day.

THE WHEELING township town meeting was called to order in Arlington Heights village hall Tuesday. Peter Beyer acting as moderator. A town tax of $2,000 was voted in order to care for the increasing expenses of the town and to eliminate the deficiency that has existed in the township for several years. Mr. Lorenzen's report as treasurer of the highway commissioners showed receipts of $21,308.93 and expenditures of $19,065.92.

Wheeling — The Blackford family moved Tuesday to Otto Utpadel's house and Stephen Hinz moved from his farm to the vacated house which he bought recently.

Rev. Vehrs of Glenview will conduct services at St. John's Lutheran church, West Northfield until Pentecost, after which their new pastor from Canada will serve the congregation. Rev. Maede preached his farewell sermon Easter. He has retired to his farm for a few months. His boys will enjoy making money farming.

Bloomington — Tuesday morning the place was so dry you could hardly see the large buildings of the town account of the large amount of dry cars stirring up the dust in the roads. Towards evening it started to cloud up and looked very much like rain. Then there were some wonderful changes. Some of the people took to the back roads, the shortest way home. I bet they were nearly drowned before reaching home as it was so wet where there was anything dry you could hear it squeak. We, the saloonkeepers, wish to thank the many friends and voters who voted No Tuesday. Also the reporter for the fine advertisement we had in last week. It is pretty wet when it rains in the middle of the night besides, the wets won out 4 to one and a little better.

SCHAUMBURG — The concrete road at the bottom of the creamery hill was the scene of a bad smash-up Monday when Earle Schuler and Wm. Bicknase, in a Ford crashed into a buggy occupied by the Wenthe sisters. The buggy was demolished and its occupants escaped with a few minor bruises. The impact was so sudden that Wm. Bicknase was thrown out on the pavement sustaining serious injuries.

How many people in Palatine remember back when Palatine's fire fighting equipment consisted of the Deluge Fire Pump? It was in those days that Wm. G. Ost first joined the department. That was 38 years ago! Monday night he was presented with 2 courtesy stars bearing the inscription "Palatine Fire Chief."

It is not often that the publishers of this paper throw any bouquets their way but the size of the classified section in last week's issue calls for something more than mere bouquets.

It is a compliment to the pulling power of the Paddock publication that over a 100 individuals used the classifieds in one week. All advertisements were bonafide classifieds for which the advertisers paid the full price and does not include the so-called standing tf ads.

NEEDLE in the GROOVE

by PAUL LITTLE

his inteerpretation of the Beethoven Violin Concerto in D Major. For this towering masterpiece, with its Olympian integrity and noble beauty, demands not so much virtuosity as sincerity, conviction and understanding from an artist. The gifted young Belgian Arthur Grumiaux, whose excellent performances of the Lalo Symphonie Espagnole and Saint-Saens B Minor Concerto we've admired on recent Epics lps, proves his right to be ranked with the finest violinists of our age in the newly released 12-inch Epic discing of the Beethoven score. Eduard van Beinum's sensitive conducting makes the performance a memorable one, and sound is hi-fi.

Alexander Uninsky, the excellent Polish pianist whose Epic albums of the Liszt Sonata and Moussorgsky's "Pictures at Exhibition" received accolades from the nation's critics, performs the four Chopin Scherzos on a new 12-inch Epic lp. We personally must mention that though his technique is admirable and every detail of these dramatic and probing scores is revealed in the recording, he does not quite succeed in communicating the eloquence and power which for example, Artur Rubinstein infallibly does in the Scherzos. The Rubinstein recording is on a much older Victor lp, whose sound does not equal Epic's. Nonetheless, it remains the finest available discing.

FOR FIERY Russian music, we recommend the Epic 12-inch waxing by the Orchestre des Concerts Lamoureux under Jean Fournet in exhilirating readings of Rimski-Korsakov's colorful "Capriccio Espagnol," Borodin's lovely "On the Steppes of Central Asia," Moussorgsky's exciting "Night on Bald Mountain," and Glinka's rousing "Kamarinskaya" (once forbidden performance in Russian because its tune was the favorite of a group of rebels against the Czar). Here's a real hi-fi treat!

Mozart's genius constantly reveals new facets on lp. Epic contributes a 12-inch album which programs his "Missa Brevis in B Flat Major, K. 272" and the great "Coronation Mass," with Rudolf Moralt conducting the Vienna Symphony and the Vienna Choir Boys; soloists include tenor Erich Majkut and basso Walter Berry. These inspiring and beautiful religious works were written when Mozart was still virtually a boy, but their maturity and beauty is remarkable. Beautiful reproduction.

Guessing Beans Is Illegal

The old game of "Guess The Beans In The "Jar" can be a lottery, but a fishing contest for prizes usually can not be.

This and other interesting and useful information about loftery laws has been prepared in a new free brochure by the Post Office Department's General Counsel's Office.

THE FOLLOWING are some generalized conclusions extracted from this brochure:

Lotteries always have all 3 elements - "chance, consideration and prize." But it is sometimes difficult to determine when all of these elements are present.

Often it is hard to tell whether "consideration" (the money, time, services, required to enter) is present.

There have been some interesting court decisions on this.

For example, where one must visit several stores to see if a prize has been won, this alone is not enough "consideration" to make the scheme a lottery.

Neither does registration at a store for a free drawing or required attendance at the drawing make the promotion a lottery.

WITNESSING AN appliance demonstration or taking a demonstration auto ride also is not "consideration" for lottery purposes.

However, promoters of such schemes must make certain participants are not required to make more "substantial" contributions of time and effort, or it may be a lottery.

A question about "consideration" also enters into plans in which a merchant will give a chance in a raffle to every purchaser. Such promotions are regarded as lotteries, even though the customer gets full merchandise value for his money.

Technically, "consideration" also is present in the familiar American "box top" contests where a drawing is used to pick the winners.

Usually, however, contestants are allowed substitute "reasonable facsimiles" of the box tops, labels, and so forth, and this eliminates "consideration" because no purchase is required.

THE QUESTION OF whether another major element of the lottery - "chance" - is present is also difficult to determine in many cases.

For example, there has been in years past a legal question whether chance was involved when the prize amount was not definitely determined in advance. A Supreme Court decision now holds such schemes do involve "chance."

This decision also takes in plans where the prize depends on how many participate, or where the prize is determined by a sales total on a given day in a store conducting the plan.

There is one type of lottery - "Bingo" - where there is no question that chance is involved. Usually, consideration and prize are present, and it becomes a lottery.

ON THE OTHER hand, "skill," rather than chance, is present legally in the familiar "best letter contest" where the entrant writes 50 words or less on why he likes a specific product.

In 1909, new law brought in under lottery laws schemes which are part chance. For example, guessing the beans in a jar had been held to be partly skill because a skilled mathematician could approximate the number of beans.

But, the change in the law put bean guessing into the possible lottery category. (Of course, the scheme still is not a lottery if there is no "consideration" charged to enter.)

This "part" chance definition also may affect amateur political pollsters and sports prognosticators, if they are involved into any contest where an entry fee is charged and a prize offered. These are lotteries and the mails may not be used in connection with them.

ON THE OTHER hand, fishing contest - which, as most fishermen will concede, involve some chance - are exempted by law from lottery classification if not conducted for profit, even where there are fishing license fees and prizes or trophies.

Besides the questions about chance, consideration and prizes, lotteries raise interesting questions about what may be published concerning them.

For example, the term "advertisement" applies to any newspaper notice relative to a lottery, whether it is a paid ad or a news item.

The law also says newspapers which contain any list of lottery prizes can't be carried in the mails.

This makes newspapers unmailable when they contain names of Irish Sweepstake winners. This applies also, of course, to announcements of winners in other lotteries.

BINGO, WHICH - as already explained - is a lottery can not be advertised in any matter carried through the mails.

Even if there is no mention of the name of the game, and the advertisement merely carries the words "party," or "games," or the familiar "$" sign, the matter is still unmailable.

However, an exception from the general rule about lottery information has been made for newspaper articles which have a news value in their own right, where the lottery element is only incidental.

The law is not designed to suppress news, even though such information might be connected, incidentally, with a lottery.

THE ORIGINAL ruling of the Post Office Department on this point came about when the winner of a lottery was denied the prize because of his race.

A publisher or organization in doubt as to the mailability of any contest announcements proposed to be carried through the U. S. mails may seek advice from his local postmaster. If the postmaster is in doubt, he may seek advice from the Office of the General Counsel of the Post Office Department in Washington, D. C. Or the interested person may contact the General Counsel's Office directly. Preferably such contacts should be in writing.

Fertilizer Talk Given At Farm Machinery Day

One unanswered question about starter fertilizer is whether or not it can supply most of the nutrients for corn on soils that are medium to low in fertility.

More than 150 Illinois farm machinery dealers and agricultural engineers heard S. R. Aldrich, agronomist at the University of Illinois, Urbana, explain this and three other similar questions. The occasion was the fifth annual Farm Machinery Day program at the Stock Pavilion on the College of Agriculture campus.

THE OTHER unanswered questions about starter fertilizer are whether or not starter can supply these nutrients on a competitive cost basis with bulk fertilizers, whether starter fertilizers will give a profitable response on highly fertile soils and how much starter can be put on at planting time without causing fertilizer injury to the plants.

Experimental work so far shows that the best place for band fertilizer at planting time is below and to the side of the seed, Aldrich told the audience. High concentrations of nitrogen and phosphorus salts placed too close to the seeds and sprouts cause most fertilizer damage. Recommended rates are 60 pounds of starter banded per acre on corn and 40 pounds for wheat, the agronomist said.

E. C. SPURRIER, extension agronomist at the University of Illinois, told Machinery Day visitors that grasses, especially giant foxtail, are becoming an increasing problem to corn and soybean growers in Illinois. Cultivation is not the sole answer, because grass in the rows that cultivation does not kill provides most competition for the growing grains.

Pre-emergence sprays have proved most effective in research work to date, Spurrier said. Corn yields on plots at the Urbana Experiment Station last year varied from 74.3 bushels an acre where giant foxtail was allowed to grow unrestrained up to 100 bushels an acre where the foxtail was handweeded completely from the rows.

Results on soybeans were even more spectacular, the agronomist pointed out. Soybean yields varied from 26 bushels an acre with a field stand of foxtail to 43.1 bushels an acre on the handweeded check plots with no foxtail.

KEY TO pre-emergence spraying is selectivity of the chemicals used for different plants. New chemicals in use and being developed show much promise, Spurrier said. Recommendations now are to spray a 12 to 13-inch band ober the row behind the planter to get the best and most economical results.

Another feature of the day's program was a panel discussion of factors relating to capital available for buying farm machinery. The visitors also heard the pros and cons of corn drying.

Milk Herd Production Bears Look

Many advantages of large-scale dairying are lost unless a relatively high level of production per cow is maintained, a University of Illinois dairyman said today.

J. G. Cash points out that the number of cows milked and the total volume of milk produced can be misleading as measures of efficiency of the dairy herd. He cites annual DHIA records of two herds of the same breed as an example.

One herd of 22 cows averaged 13,520 pounds of milk and 500 pounds of butterfat last year and returned $9,391 above feed costs The other herd of 44 cows averaged 9,580 pounds of milk and 345 pounds of butterfat and returned $9,087 above feed cost.

The smaller herd returned $304 more above feed cost than the larger herd. (Fm

Ponderosa Pine Not for Illinois

University of Illinois forestry researchers recently completed a study which showed that ponderosa pine is not adaptable to Illinois.

Purpose of this study was to find new timber species that can be grown in Illinois. New species are needed because Illinois has three million acres that are better suited to growing timber than agricultural crops.

Ponderosa pine was selected for the study because it is adaptable to a wide variety of growing conditions. It is also the most widely grown conifer in western North America. In total annual timber production, it ranks second only to Douglas fir.

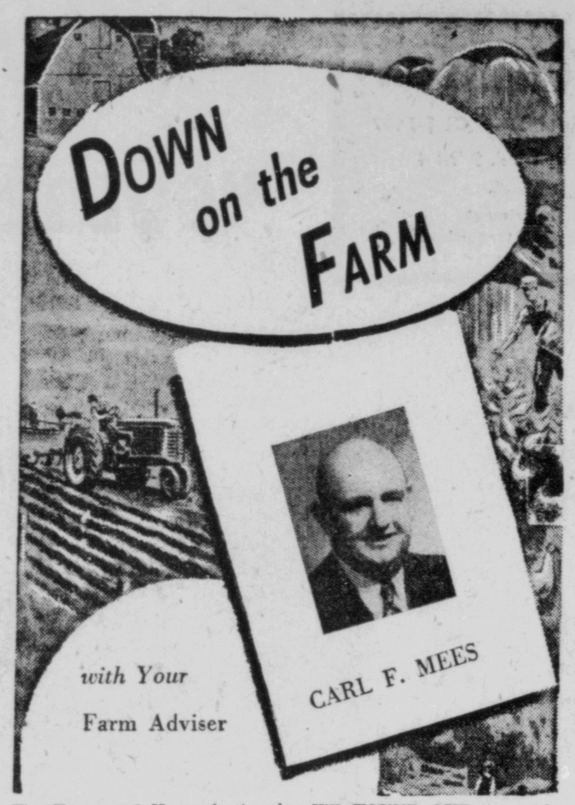
Ralph Lorenz, UI forester, explains that seed for these studies was obtained from six western states at altitudes ranging from 2,000 to 7,000 feet.

At first no problems were encountered in planting the species. Germination was good and the seedlings were vigorous. When the seedlings were two years old, they were planted in several Illinois counties. Field survival was excellent. Researchers noted that seed sources from high altitudes grew slowly, while those from low altitudes grew faster.

Lorenz reports that the ponderosa pine looked good only for the first 10 years. The biggest problem was needle cast. This relatively unknown disease has already killed most of these experimental plantings of ponderosa pine in Illinois.

Because of this disease, the researchers conclude that ponderosa pine cannot be successfully grown in Illinois at the present time. (Fm

ALVIN HAHN of Bartlett was recently proclaimed DuPage county corn growing champion at a DeKalb banquet in honor of the Northern Illinois corn growing champions. His yield of 110.91 busels per acre was tops in DuPage county.



The Farm and Home festival turned out to be a great affair. All the people I talked to were quite pleased with what they saw and heard.

It would be impossible to tell you in this column of all the things that could be seen. However, in a few statements I will try to relate to you some of the facts.

S. R. ALDRICH, soil specialist, pointed out that if farmers wanted to manage their soils soundly, they must understand them. Illinois farmers are fortunate that their farms lie near the center of the world's largest area of excellent soils, with a favorable climate for high yields.

W. B. Linn told festival visitors that in the future we may have a number of systemic chemicals that will need to be sprayed on young plants only once or twice to protect them against diseases throughout the season.

E. E. Broadbent, agricultural economist, stated that integration offers a new frontier for farm leaders to organize their resources on a business basis for the well-being of American farmers.

IN AGRICULTURAL engineering, the staff members stated that corn drying is both practical and profitable for Illinois farmers.

In home economics the woman who tops off a club meeting with a calorie-ladened morsel or who treats herself to a piece of pie after an afternoon's ironing is just tormenting her waist line. (How true this sounded even for men).

Nearly all families who have built new houses during the last few years or remodeled their old one, doubled their closet storage area, and they said they would add 50 per cent more if they were to remodel or build another house.

WE FOUND OUT, too, that American families got 70 per cent of the protein they ate in 1956 from animal foods.

Farm and Home visitors also picked up tips on arranging flowers for the home.

There were numerous other comments made, and many more things to see, but space does not permit describing each. (Fm

Livestock Protects Its Young

It's just natural for farm animals to fight to protect their youung. Yet many people forget this fact, and too many children are therefore needlessly injured each year.

Spring is a particularly good time to resolve to keep children out of the barnyard or livestock pens, says O. L. Hogsett, extension safety specialist at the University of Illinois. It's a good idea all year long; but with new farm offspring appearing regularly at this season, the danger is increased.

Usually the youngster means no harm. He just wants to see or pet the new lamb, pig or calf. But the mother animal doesn't know this and is likely to injure the child in protecting her own young.

So don't blame the livestock. It's up to you to help satisfy your child's natural curiosity about young animals. Let him pet one of them outside the pen. Tell him that's the only safe way to get acquainted. And see that the rule is enforced. (Fm

Grass Seed Must be Sown Now to Obtain Good Lawn

by DR. ROBERT W. SCHERY

Although it's too early to begin working in flower beds, the blustery, chilly March and early April days when there's just a hint of spring around the corner are ideal for starting to improve the lawn. Seed sown now will "wait for weather" and take advantage of the first warm days and the early spring moisture when it comes.

The first step is the selection of a good seed. Experts recommend Kentucky bluegrass seed, or a mixture containing at least 40 per cent Kentucky bluegrass. Gardeners can be sure of a quality grass seed by carefully reading the analysis which most states require to be printed on the label or tag of the container.

BEWARE OF THE mixtures that contain high percentages of "hay" grasses such as rye, timothy, orchard grass and the Alta fescue grasses. Don't be fooled by low prices. Remember that Kentucky bluegrass contains more than two million seeds to the pound. Rye grass, on the other hand, has only a quarter of a million. In grass seed, as in everything else, you get what you pay for.

Plan to use one pound of Kentucky bluegrass seed for each 1,000 square feet of lawn surface. Spread the seed on your lawn surface. Spread the seed on your lawn while there is still frost action. The seeds will lodge in the frost cracks in the ground and nature will do the cultivating.

UNDER IDEAL weather conditions, Kentucky bluegrass will sprout in about 2 weeks, but don't be disturbed if early seeding fails to produce these results. The seed that is sown now will remain in the ground until weather conditions are right for growth. Then it will get off to the early start that is necessary to get the jump on weeds. By the time really warm weather arrives, homes will have a tight, stong turf that resists infiltration from weeds.

Many successful lawn builders mix seeds with fertilizer for spring seeding. If this is done, use one pound of kentucky bluegrass and ten pounds of a complete fertilizer—a 10-5-5 formula is recommended for each 1,000 square feet. Be sure that the fertilizer is high in nitrogen content to give grass seedlings plenty of food for early growth. If the soil has a sufficient supply of other nutrients, nitrogen can be used alone. (Fm

Rising Living Costs Not Due To Food Alone

A University of Illinois agricultural economist pointed out today that rising living costs are not due to food prices alone.

R. J. Mutti explains that the consumer price index prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics classifies 300 different goods and services used by city families into 8 broad groups. Average prices of 4 of these groups — transportation, medical care, reading and recreation, and personal care—advanced between 4.3 and 4.8 per cent during 1957.

IN CONTRAST, food prices rose 3.7 per cent. Housing, which includes shelter and home furnishings, and "other" goods and services, mainly tobacco and liquor, moved up 2.8 per cent. Clothing and apparel prices rose only .6 per cent. The increase for all items during 1957 averaged 3.0 per cent.

The 4 groups with the greatest price rises make up about ¼ of the spending of city families with incomes under $10,000. Food accounts for about 30 per cent and shelter and home furnishings for about 32 per cent in the city consumer's budget.

However, Mutti warns that comparing price changes within a single year or measuring from one single date to another may be misleading. Prices may have changed only in one group and not in other groups. Also, the supply of certain items may be abnormal at any certain time.

RAILROADS RAISED their freight rates and are now seeking further increases from the Interstate Commerce commission. Food-marketing firms made about the same profits in 1957 as in the year before. Profits of food-manufacturing firms were smaller, while profits of retail food chains were higher.

Mutti emphasizes that Illinois farmers who sell hogs, cattle and eggs are benefiting from prices higher than those of a year ago. But Illinois dairymen averaged about the same price for milk as a year ago in February. And farmers who sold corn, wheat, soybeans or oats all received lower prices. (Fm

Farm Price Supports Troublesome

Attempts to support prices have brought both the government and farmers increasing trouble, H. G. Halcrow, head of the department of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois, told Farm and Home festival visitors.

The farm problem of the United States is one of adequately using our great abundance of food and other farm products, Halcrow stated. He said farm production increases come easily and farm prices are often too low. Farm incomes generally average below those outside of agriculture.

Halcrow admitted the answer to providing favorable farm incomes while maintaining and increasing our blessings of abundance is not simple. However, he listed these proposed methods:

1. Adjust farm units to a size that will match our latest modern farming practices.
2. Conserve the soil for future needs.
3. Expand foreign trade.
4. Expand domestic markets for agricultural products.
5. Broaden educational opportunities for farm youth so that they can find their best place in present-day society. (Fm

Home Garden Dwart Fruit Trees Possess Advantages

Dwarf fruit trees in the home garden have many advantages over standard-sized trees. Yet they have only one or two disadvantages.

Most important advantage is that they take up less space, permitting more trees of different varieties to be grown. The result is a continuous supply of fresh fruit during the growing season.

FRUIT ON DWARF trees is also easier to pick. And the fruit is higher in quality and larger in size than fruit from standard trees. Dwarf fruit trees bear fruit within three or four years. Standard-sized trees take five to ten years.

Dwarf fruit trees are easier to spray and prune than standard trees, since they do not require expensive orchard machinery. And dwarfs can be pruned and trained as ornamentals in landscaping.

One disadvantage of dwarfs is that some rootstocks used for dwarfing are susceptible to diseases. Some rootstock dwarfs are less firmly anchored in the soil than standard trees. In fact, they may need permanent support with stakes or wires.

FRUIT TREES CAN be dwarfed in two ways. One is to graft the tree to the root of a small-growing variety. The second is to graft a piece of stem of a small-growing fruit tree between the root and the top of the tree to be dwarfed.

Rootstocks vary in their dwarfing effects. To completely dwarf apple trees, Malling IX stock should be used. Clark Dwarf is also recommended, but it can be obtained only from Stark Brothers nursery, Louisiana, Mo. Malling IX rootstocks are carried by most nurseries.

THE RECOMMENDED rootstock for dwarfing peaches and plums is Prunus tomentosa. The Mandarin type of peach is naturally dwarf, but it isn't often grown in Illinois.

Dwarfrich and North Star are varieties of cherry trees (sour) that are naturally dwarf. And the Winkler Hazel is recommended as a natural dwarf among hazelnut trees.

HOME GARDENERS can usually obtain dwarf trees at local nurseries. Dwarfs are identified by their variety and the rootstock on which they are growing.

In Illinois, dwarf fruit trees should be planted in early spring or late fall. They prefer soil that is moderately open and well-drained—not fine-textured clay or soil so coarse that it does not retain moisture. (Fm

Itasca Farm Sells Hogs At Top Price

James B. Cook of Itasca, owner of 18 Berkshire butchers averaging 205 pounds each, topped the Chicago Hog Market March 13 by selling at $22.50.

The butchers were purchased by the Eckert Pack Co., Defiance, Ohio, because of their excellent meat-type and well-muscled quality and finish.

Cook also had 11 heavier Berkshire butchers, averaging 259 pounds, that sold high for their weight at $22.50. (Fm

Band Spraying May be Answer

Band-spraying a 12-14 inch strip over the row as corn or soybeans are planted, followed by a later cultivation, offers complete, low-cost weed control. That is what Earl C. Spurrier, University of Illinois agronomist, told farmers attending the Farm and Home festival.

Giant foxtail, one of the most troublesome weeds, has been successfully controlled with Randox band-sprayed on the soil before the crop comes up. Getting rid of this weed in heavily infested fields may increase corn yields by 30 per cent and soybeans by 60 per cent, according to research conducted at the University.

Wendell Bowers, extension agricultural engineer, urged farmers who used the band-spraying method to make the band about 12 to 13 inches wide. He also suggested keeping pressures low—under 40 pounds per square inch to keep spray drift to a minimum.

Nozzle tips for sprayers should be selected for use with this lower pressure. Farmers should not hesitate to change nozzles if they can't get the correct discharge at pressures under 40 pounds.

Bowers emphasized the need for accurate calibration of equipment in order to do successful band-spraying. He suggested using a ground-speed indicator in the field. But if that is not available, he pointed out that farmers could figure speed by determining time and distance. A speed of one mile per hour is about equal to 88 feet per minute.

Up and Coming on the Farm

Future Farmers of America — FFA — 4H CLUB

Don Gerken Heads Wheeling Doers

Donald Gerken was elected president of the Wheeling Doers 4-H club at the group's first meeting of the season, March 21. The meeting was held at Wilson school.

Other officers elected are Albert Templin, vice president; David Farrara, secretary; Roger Drewes, treasurer; Wayne Deeke reporter; Jimmy Gerken, recreation chairman; Russel Runger, program chairman.

New members accepted into the club are Mike Brazeau, Ronald Bleckes and Mary Bengson. (4-H

Palatine Bureau Tours Housing Development

Twenty-six members of Palatine Home Bureau and their guests toured a Wauconda housing project as well as the Avon Products plant March 27.

The organization will hold a combined business meeting and craft day Tuesday, April 8, in the Quentin rd. home of Mrs. Elmer Wente. This meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and each member is asked to bring her own sandwich. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the hostesses. Questionnaires should also be turned in at this meeting.

The craft lesson will be given on woolly toys. Further information may be secured from Mrs. H. Berenz, Flanders 9-0730. (Farm

Merry Maids Hear Talks on Sewing

The 10th meeting of the Medinah Merry Maids 4-H club was held March 23 at the home of Susan Landrum.

Mary Quan and Sharon Haney talked on sewing. Demonstrations were: Susan Landrum, first aid, and Norma Jean Herman, on making a tuna casserole.

The girls began their fourth handcraft project. The next meeting will be held Monday, April 14, at the home of Cynthia Mares. 4-H

Initiations Head Future Farmers Meeting March 18

Initiation of the green hands, boys who are taking their first year of agriculture, and the initiation of the chapter farmers, those who have taken one year of agriculture, featured the March 18 meeting of the Future Farmers of America. The evening also marked the group's 12th annual parents' night.

Green hands initiated were Bob Bruen, Melvin Von Bergen, Harold Wagner and Fred Wetendorf. Chapter farmers initiated were Dale Johnson, Roy Klehm, Erni Grim, Jim Stade, Clarence Traush and George Stiel.

After the closing ceremonies, parents toured the facilities, the class room and the shop and demonstrations were enjoyed. The group is planning its annual banquet to be held in April. 4-H
